Country Faces Fuel Famine If Walkout Continues; Industries Hit

Parley Doesn't Materialize; Macdonald May be Forced to Act

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The conference scheduled for today between railway managers and representatives of striking union men did not materialize and the strike continues. Disagreement on points of discussion, it is said, was the cause of the meeting falling through.

Many industries are facing complete stoppage owing to the lack of freight cars. Several industries in the coal mining regions already have abandoned work. Should the strike last another week London will face a serious fuel famine.

Passenger service throughout the United Kingdom is seriously curtailed, but in this respect the strike has failed to prove effective owing to the remarkable development of motor routes over main highways.

JEALOUSY BLAMED

Statements issued from the headquarters of both groups of the railway men prove to the public mind that this strike is predominated by jealousy between rival organizations. LENIN RITES AT MOSCOW POSTPONED

Funeral is Delayed Until Sunday; Petrograd Renamed Leninegrad

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

MOSCOW, Jan. 24.—Late tonight announcement was made that the funeral of Nicolai Lenin had been postponed from Saturday until Sunday.

It was also announced that Petrograd had been renamed Leninegrad.

The great procession before the bier of Lenin in the House of Unions continued today. From 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the doors of the columned hall were opened, until after midnight the wide square on which the building fronts saw a constantly swelling mass of humanity outlined against the snow with which all Moscow is blanketed.

No church bells have tolled as yet in Lenin's memory but they will probably ring out on the day of the funeral, as the Holy Synod has formerly adopted Archbishop Evdokem's suggestion that Lenin be declared a Christian.

Leon Trotzky, War Minister, has telegraphed from Tiflis, paying tribute to Lenin and expressing hope that the Communist party will unite to carry on its dead leader's work.

"Let us go forward with the lamp of Leninism in our hands," he wrote. "Let us unite for new fights."

TWO KILLED BY MANIAC ON VESSEL

Seaman Slashes Self When Shot Down by Officers; Four Others Hurt

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Jan. 24.—Two men are dead and four wounded, three seriously, as a result of Lyman Ben Babba—Maltese seaman—becoming violently insane aboard the ship Pilar de Larrinaga, in the harbor here today. Ben Babba ended the reign of terror aboard the vessel by slashing his own throat after he had been shot down by Detective Sergeant McLaughlin of the city police force.

Armo died from a knife wound in the groin.

Sam Ballas, seaman, was stabbed in the back, Antonio Flores, seaman, was also stabbed, and Leonard Matthews, the third of the four wounded men, was discharged from the local hospital after treatment for a slight wound in his back. Hospital attendants declared that the condition of Ben Babba was serious.

When Ben Babba became a raving maniac, Chief Officer James rushed unarmed to the assistance of several seamen whom the insane man had cornered. He was fatally wounded before he could subdue the man. Help was obtained from the local police department.

MELLON TAX BILL FLAYED

First Partisan Debate in House on Revenue Brings Attack of Democrats and Insurgents

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The first partisan debate on taxes on the floor of the House today provoked a move by Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee to write their own income tax rates, which some predicted would place a bill before the House on substantially the lines suggested by Secretary Mellon.

Representative Treadway of Massachusetts, a Republican member of the committee, made the proposal after Representative Garner of Texas, ranking Democrat on the committee, had declared in the course of the debate that the Mellon bill would not pass in the House "even if left to a vote of the Republicans alone" and that President Coolidge would not veto a tax bill carrying the higher surtax rates of the Democratic plan.

The committee continued discussions of the new excise rates and tentatively agreed to repeal the taxes on telegraph and telephone messages, leased wires and candy. This would result in a loss of $44,000,000 in revenue, it was estimated.

Senator Jones, Democrat, New Mexico, brought the Democratic plan for tax revision before the Senate and criticised Secretary Mellon's description of it "as insincere and political."

Senator Johnson of California, a candidate for the Presidential Republican nomination, also assailed the Mellon bill in a statement.

Wilshire Men Organize New National Bank

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The comptroller of the currency has received an application to organize the Wilshire National Bank of Los Angeles, with a capital of $300,000. R. L. Heustis, 114 South Norton avenue, Los Angeles, sent in the application.

Until favorable action is taken on the application to organize the Wilshire National Bank, the personnel of the board of directors and officers will not be announced, R. L. Heustis stated last night. He did say, however, that some of the best-known business men in the Wilshire district were interested in the proposed institution and that full announcement would be made in a few days.

CALL COOLIDGE CONVENTION

BY KYLE D. PALMER
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—A campaign to send California's full quota of twenty-nine Republican delegates to the national convention at Cleveland pledged to the nomination of President Coolidge was formally launched here today when the California Coolidge Committee of Five recently appointed by National Campaign Manager William M. Butler, held its first meeting and organized for a State-wide contest.

Marshall Hale of San Francisco, one of the founders of the Progressive party in this State, called the meeting to order and was immediately elected permanent chairman. His first official act was to fix Monday, February 25, as the date and the Hotel St. Francis in San Francisco as the place for the State convention of Coolidge supporters called for the purpose of selecting and indorsing a ticket to be placed on the ballot in the May Presidential primary.

All members of the Coolidge State committee were in attendance, and, in addition to Mr. Hale, included Frank F. Merriam of Long Beach, Ralph Arnold of Los Angeles, Percy V. Long of San Francisco and Mark L. Requa of Oakland.

Due to confusion as to the method of choosing delegates to the State convention next month, Mr. Hale and his associates adopted resolutions directing that each of the eleven Congressional districts of California immediately hold district conferences and elect ten delegates and ten alternates authorized to vote both for the twenty-two district candidates for delegates to the national convention and for the seven delegates at large.

It is specified in the committee's resolution that the district delegations to the State conference "be composed of Republican men and women."

The call for the State convention issued by Mr. Hale is as follows:

"By virtue of the authority vested in the president of the League of Coolidge Republican Clubs, I hereby call a State-wide meeting of the league for the purpose of selecting the seven candidates for delegates at large and to pass on the two delegates from each Congressional district to the national convention, said State conference to be held at San Francisco Monday, February 2 at 10 a.m., at the St. Francis hotel. This meeting takes the place of the meeting previously called for February 23."

For more than three hours today the Coolidge leaguers listened to the reading of the reports from all sections of California indicating the exceptional interest of California Republicans in the President's candidacy.

SUPPORT PLEDGED

Pledges of support and urgent requests for campaign literature, particularly statements relating to the Mellon tax reduction program, have been received from thousands of men and women.

Plans have been completed for organizing local divisions of the league of Coolidge Republican clubs and for the election of members of the league's executive committee, membership on this committee to be composed of one man and woman from eleven Congressional districts.

RECOGNITION FOR RUSSIA

British Premier Plans Move

Establishment of Relations to be First Act of New Laborite Regime

Ambassador to Red Capital Already Has Been Picked by Prime Minister

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The first act of the new Socialist government will be the recognition of Russia and Prime Minister Macdonald is already hard at work at the Foreign Office acquainting himself with the British claims against Russia and outlining the terms which may be demanded if it is decided to make recognition conditional.

There is a report, however, that Mr. Macdonald proposes to recognize Russia unconditionally and that he will take the claims up afterward through regular diplomatic channels.

James O'Grady, a member of Parliament, already has been selected as the first Ambassador to soviet Russia. He has had considerable experience in that country, having visited it several times since the revolution. He negotiated the exchange of Russia and British war prisoners with Maxim Hitvinoff in Copenhagen in 1920.

Mr. O'Grady spent several hours at the Foreign Office today in conference with Sir Eyre Crowe.

PREMIER BEGINS EARLY

Mr. Macdonald surprised everyone by walking into the Foreign Office before 10 o'clock today and plunging into work. The afternoon he spent at Downing street, receiving calls from his colleagues, but no further Cabinet meeting will be held.

Former Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin evacuated 10 Downing street today, going to the country and the Macdonald family will move in on Tuesday.

A committee is already working at a survey of the unemployment question with instructions to report at the earliest possible moment on further measures for providing work. Other committees are taking up the agricultural reform and housing problems.

Diplomatic circles await impatiently Labor's first overtures to France on the delicate questions involved in the Ruhr occupation and Rhineland control. Here is a field in which the older parties failed signally either through a lack of foresight or of tact in addressing the French government.

LOOK FOR TROUBLE

Will the new Prime Minister show the requisite powers of discretion and can he hope to overcome the existing differences?

Labor's lack of experience in forcefully presenting the British point of view and at the same time using diplomatic language may create a bad atmosphere. Diplomats declare that the Labor leaders will be unable to state their case without making enemies, but in this instance it may help Great Britain's case to have an unusually frank and outspoken declaration of policy.

Hitherto France has realized the weakness of the British foreign policy and has taken full advantage of it. Now when Labor threatens, there will be something behind the threat besides a divided Cabinet and an obstructionist press.

DOHENY EXPLAINS WHY HE LENT $100,000 TO FALL

Los Angeles Magnate Tells Senate Committee Advance Had No Bearing on Oil Leases

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Albert B. Fall, while Secretary of the Interior, received a loan of $100,000 in cash on his personal note from E. L. Doheny, California oil magnate, Mr. Doheny testified today before the Senate Teapot Dome investigating committee. The date of the loan was given as November 30, 1921, or more than a year before Secretary Fall signed the contract leasing, to Doheny interests, the California naval oil reserves out of which, commiteeemen reminded Mr. Doheny he had testified, he expects to make a profit of $100,000,000.

Mr. Doheny declared to the committee, however, that the loan had "no relation to any of the subsequent transactions" that it was made by him "personally" and that "in connection with this loan there was no discussion between Mr. Fall and myself as to any contracts whatever."

"The transactions themselves in the order in which they occurred," Mr. Doheny said, "dispose of any contention that they were influenced by my making a personal loan to a lifelong friend."

The oil magnate testified that he had advanced the money to enable Mr. Fall to enlarge his New Mexico ranch holdings and that he had fully intended to collect the loan if Mr. Fall's health remained good and that he had planned, if necessary to employ the former Secretary to look after his Mexico holdings so as to enable him to repay the debt.

BEARS NO INTEREST

Responding to questions on cross-examination, Mr. Doheny said the note sent him by Mr. Fall was unpaid; that it bore no interest rate, and that no interest had been paid on it. He said he had drawn a check for the $100,000 on a New York bank, and that his son had taken the cash from New York to Washington, receiving in return the note which he thought was in Mr. Fall's handwriting.

The witness was unable to produce, either the note or the check, although he said he had conducted a search for them before leaving Los Angeles. He declared they were not lost and possibly were in New York. He was excused after three hours on the witness stand with the understanding that he would endeavor to find the note and check for the committee.

Mr. Doheny's testimony threw a bombshell into what already has developed into one of the most sensational investigations conducted by a Congressional committee in recent years.

FALL TO BE QUIZZED

In view of the testimony, Mr. Fall will be questioned when he appears before the committee next Monday regarding his statement of December 27, to the committee, in which he said:

"It should be needless for me to say that in the purchase of the Harris ranch, or in any other purchase or expenditure, I have never approached E. L. Doheny or anyone connected with him, or any of his corporations or H. F. Sinclair, or anyone connected with him or any of his corporations, nor have I ever received from either of said parties one cent on account of any oil lease or upon any other account whatsoever."

At the same time, Mr. Fall declared in his statement to the committee that he had obtained the $100,000 used in enlarging his ranch from Edward B. McLean, Washington newspaper publisher.

Mr. McLean telegraphed the committe from Florida to the same effect, but when examined at Palm Beach later by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, he testified that he had given Mr. Fall checks for $100,000 but that they had been returned to him uncashed.

FALL IN WASHINGTON

Mr. Fall arrived in Washington late tonight from New Orleans. He was to have been examined tomorrow, but he telegraphed the committee in advance of his arrival that his physical condition would not permit of his appearance at the time set, and the committee agreed

GAS TANKS EXPLODE

Firemen Injured by Flames

Fire is Shot High Into Air Periling Other Buildings; Loss $200,000

An explosion at 8:30 o'clock last night in the distillation plant of the Pacific-American Petroleum Products Corporation, followed by a dozen or more explosions when near-by storage tanks filled with gasoline caught fire, resulted in serious burns to one employee of the company and many narrow escapes from death or serious injuries to at least five firemen overcome by heat and smoke.

Located at Twenty-eighth street and Santa Fe avenue, in the center of the oil refinery district, the fire-swept plant became the center of attention of half a dozen or more fire companies in an effort to prevent the spread of flames.

Fire Chief Scott reported the fire under control at 11 o'clock, and that no further outbreak was feared, unless a heavy wind interfered.

FLAMES SENT UPWARD

The series of explosions sent cascades of flaming gasoline high into the air and imperiled the lives of fire-fighters and spectators. So intense was the heat that all windows in the new two-story buildings of the Gilmore Refining Company, facing the fire, were broken.

A grocery store owned by James Twarforis at 2861 Santa Fe avenue, caught fire, as did several near-by homes, when the flaming gasoline fell on the buildings.

Ora Haley, an employee of the company, was in the distillation plant at the time of the first explosion. While attempting to put out the flames with a small stream of water, the second explosion occurred, setting fire to his clothing. He was rushed to the Medical Service Corporation Hospital, where it was said he was suffering from severe burns about the arms, neck and face. He resides at 771 Vine street, Vernon.

All fifteen gasoline storage tanks located on the property of the Pacific-American company properties were razed by the flames and in most instances exploded. In addition, a railway tank car filled with gasoline ignited and exploded.

FIREMEN ARE HEROES

In the fifteen tanks were stored 93,000 gallons of gasoline and 15,000 gallons of distillate, according to officials of the company.

Heroic work by firemen featured the fight of the spectacular flames. J. Bartram, fireman for Engine Company No. 17, was overcome

BANK PLAN STIRS BERLIN

Germans Await Return of Dr. Schacht to Obtain Full Details of Gold Protection Project

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

BERLIN, Jan. 24.—The prospective gold currency bank, suggested by the experts' committee in Paris, already is provoking lively discussion in Bourse and banking circles here, although the advance comments are wholly based on cursory dispatches from Paris which pretend to reflect the approving opinions of the British and American experts of the program outlined to them by Dr. Schacht, president of the Reichsbank.

Pending the return of Dr. Schacht and the outcome of the present conversations, Berlin official quarters decline to anticipate further progress in these deliberations, or to forecast the government's success in furthering the organization of the proposed new bank without aid. The latter aspect of Dr. Schacht's program moves several of the editorial writers to observe that the proposed foreign participation in the bank is a hopeful sign of returning confidence in Germany's credit, notwithstanding the danger that the presence of foreign capital and administrative authority suggest the surrender of German sovereignty and unrestricted freedom in connection with the control of the nation's finances.

Critics of the plans for the new bank, as now revealed, point out the desirability of having the institution located within Germany, and also that its directorate shall command a German majority in order to protect the nation's economic organization from foreign control or influence.

SEES GAIN FOR NAVY IN LEASES

Doheny Defends His Deals in Prepared Statement

Denies Loan to Fall Had Influence in Awards

Proposes Expert Board to Review Contract Terms

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The text of the prepared statement of Edward L. Doheny of Los Angeles presented today before the Senate Teapot Dome investigating committee with reference to his $100,000 loan to A. B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, follows:

I have been following the reports of the proceedings before your committee and have concluded that notwithstanding my authorization to Secretary Fall in December to state the full and complete facts in connection with a personal transaction had in 1921 between Mr. Fall and myself, Mr. Fall has been making an effort to keep my name out of the discussion for the reason that a full statement might be misunderstood.

Whether there is a possibility of such misunderstanding or not, I wish to state to the committee and to the public the full facts, and I may say here that I regret that when I was before your committee I did not tell you what I am now telling you.

FACT NOT PERTINENT

I did not do so for the reason that such a statement was not pertinent in answer to any of the questions asked me by members of the committee and to have done so would have been volunteering something in no way connected with the contracts made with the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company.

When asked by your chairman whether Mr. Fall has profited by the contract, directly or indirectly, I answered in the negative. That answer I now reiterate.

I wish first to inform the committee that on the 30th day of November, 1921, I loaned Albert B. Fall $100,000 on his promissory note to enable him to purchase a ranch in New Mexico. This sum was loaned to Mr. Fall by me personally. It was my own money and did not belong in whole or in part to any oil company with which I am now or have been connected. In connection with this loan there was no discussion between Mr. Fall and myself as to any contract whatever.

NO RELATION TO LEASES

This loan had no relation to any of the subsequent transactions. The transactions themselves, in the order in which they occurred, dispose of any contention that they were influenced by my making a personal loan to a life-long friend.

The reason for my making and Mr. Fall's accepting the loan was that we had been friends for more than thirty years. He had invested his savings for those years in his home ranch is New Mexico, which I understood was all that remained to him after the failure of mining investments in Mexico and nine years of public service in Washington, during which he could not properly attend to the management of his ranch.

His troubles had been increased in 1918 by the death of his daughter and his son, who, up to then, had taken his place in the management of his ranch.

In our frequent talks it was clear that the acquisition of a neighboring property controlling the water that flows through his home ranch was a hope of his amounting to an obsession. His failure to raise the necessary funds by realizing on his extensive and once valuable Mexican mine holdings had made him feel he was a victim of an unforward fate.

RELIEVED BY OFFERS

In one of these talks I indicated to him that I would be willing to make him the loan and this seemed to relieve his mind greatly. In the autumn of 1921 he told me that the purchase had become possible by reason of the willingness of the then owners of the Harris ranch to sell, and that the time had arrived when he was ready to take advantage of my offer to make the loan.

The lease on naval reserve No. 1, was the direct outgrowth of the contract which the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company made with the Navy as a result of competitive bids in which that company was the lowest bidder, for the construction of certain storage facilities and the furnishing of fuel oil at Pearl Harbor, T. H., and in the absence of that contract the lease would never have been executed.

The Navy Department, through its representative, took up the question of constructing the improvements, and facilities at Pearl Harbor and of paying for them with the royalty oil which the Navy was then obtaining from the various leases in Naval Reserves Nos. 1 and 2, and of filling the tankage constructed with a large quantity of fuel oil.

PURPOSE OF NAVY

I was entirely in sympathy with the purpose of the Navy, the reasons for which I could have perhaps been better explained to your committee by the Navy representative, Admiral Robison, than I could hope to do. I promised Admiral Robison that our company would at least submit a bid to perform the work under those conditions; that is, furnish the money to pay for the work of construction at the harbor and of filling their tanks with oil and receive in return royalty oil at the posted field to the value of the money so expended. The incidents up to the date of the contract, and the fact that the contract was let on competitive bidding, eliminate any possibility of favor to the company by either the Navy Department or the Interior Department.

The negotiations for this contract between the Navy Department and the company were conducted by our local Washington attorney, who was assisted in determining the necessary calculations by our California general manager, who is president of the California company. As a result of their exchange of ideas, our California general manager decided that the terms of the proposed contract were not such as to be of advantage to the company and that the company could not afford to take the risks attached to the performance of the contract for the conjectural profit that might result therefrom and he so stated in a letter which he wrote to our Washington attorney.

NO KNOWLEDGE OF LOAN

Neither our Washington attorney nor our California general manager nor any officer or attorney of the company had any knowledge of the loan which I made to Mr. Fall, that being an entirely private matter, involving in no way the company's funds.

When the bids were opened it was found that the bid of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company was the lowest. The Washington attorney of the company had conceived the idea of making, in accordance with the provisions of the call for bids, in addition to an unqualified bid, an alternative bid showing a considerable saving to the government in the actual cost of the construction under the contract and a recompense to the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company for such waiver of profits by giving it an opportunity later on to extend its petroleum business in California through the acquisition of additional oil territory whenever the Navy might be disposed to make additional contracts for the development of itsreserve.

The alternative bid was considered the most favorable by the representatives of the government, as is shown by a letter addressed to the Washington attorney of the company under date of April 25, 1922, and signed in the absence of Mr. Fall from Washington by the acting Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of the Navy. (Mr. Doheny read the letter into the record.)

BURDEN ASSUMED

In addition a burden, the advantage of which to the Navy can scarcely be measured, was assumed by the company; that of providing for the Navy in Southern California 1,000,000 barrels of free oil storage and of devoting 3,000,000 barrels of the company's Atlantic seaboard storage for the holding of that quantity of fuel oil to the Navy's call at any time for a period of fifteen year.

The contract also gave the option to the Navy purchasing at the company's terminal station at San Pedro such petroleum supplies as the Navy might require at 10 per cent below the market price.

McNAB'S STATEMENT

When Mr. Doheny had concluded, Gavin McNab, his attorney, made the following statement:

"On behalf of Mr. E. L. Doheny, I am authorized and instructed to make to you the following statement and offer:

"While all the things stated in Mr. Doheny's testimony were innocent in all intentions, Mr. Doheny does not wish to have his company appear as dealing unfairly with or taking advantage in any way of the government.

"He has always contended and now insists that his company's leases in naval oil reserve No. 1 are not only in strict agreement and accord with the plans of the Department of the Navy for the use of said reserve, but are in his opinion most advantageous to the government.

"Nevertheless in order to remove any basis for criticism of the transactions, Mr. Doheny suggests that your honorable committee request the President of the United States to appoint a board of experts to examine all the facts regarding these contracts. Should such a board of experts report that at the time of the making of the contracts they were not wise, desirable and advantageous for the government to make and the very best that the government could have expected, Mr. Doheny will cause the board of directors of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company to re-convey to the government all interest in such contracts, receiving in return only just compensation to his company for the actual expenditures which have been made by the company under the contracts, without profit."

DENIES ADVANCE SWUNG OIL DEAL

to defer his examination until Monday.

Tomorrow, however, the committee will hear J. W. Zevely, personal friend and attorney of Harry F. Sinclair, whose interests acquired the lease of the naval oil reserve on Teapot Dome, Wyo., which, until today, have been an outstanding point in the long investigation of naval oil reserve leases signed by the former Interior Secretary.

Senate discussion of the leases will be deferred until Monday at which time Senator Caraway, Democrat, Arkansas, plans to call up his resolution proposing cancellation of the Teapot Dome lease. By unanimous consent, the Senate today discharged the investigating committee from further consideration of the resolution.

VOLUNTARY WITNESS

Mr. Doheny appeared before the committee as a voluntary witness, and, as he put it, "to state to the committee and the public, the full facts" regarding the loan. He said he had come from Los Angeles for this purpose and had traveled via New Orleans to apprise Mr. Fall of his intention and "had found him already in entire accord with my purpose."

Sensational testimony given recently by Archie Roosevelt, son of the former President, about the reasons which actuated him in severing his connections with the Sinclair interests and even more sensational charges made in the Senate about the Teapot Dome lease had set the stage for Mr. Doheny's appearance.

The Senate chamber practically was deserted during the hearings, almost a quorum of Senators dwelling a crowd that jammed the big committee room despite the best efforts of the police to keep open passageways. When Mr. Doheny was called, room had to be made at the committee table for him, and his attorney, Gavin McNab, was crowded behind his chair by the crush of spectators.

READS STATEMENT

Mr. Doheny began his testimony by reading a long and carefully prepared statement explaining the loan and the circumstances and the conditions of the contracts subsequently entered into by his companies with the Navy Department.

When he had concluded, Mr. McNab read a statement on behalf of his client, in which he stated that in order to remove any basis of criticism of the transactions, Mr. Doheny offered to cause his company to surrender all interests in such contracts if a board of experts to be appointed by the President should find that at the time of the making of the contracts "they were not wise, desirable and advantageous for the government to make."

Cross-examination of Mr. Doheny then began and lasted for more than two hours. Senator Walsh, who has been foremost in pressing the inquiry, led in the questioning in which all members of the committee save two, participated.

FALL GAVE NOTE

After Doheny and McNab had read their statements to the committee, Senator Walsh began the questioning. In reply to his questions, Doheny said he had a note which Fall gave him for the money.

"I looked for it at Los Angeles before I started East," he continued. "It was impossible for me to locate it. It may be in New York or Los Angeles. I will send it to the committee as soon as I get it.

"I was in New York when the loan was made to Senator Fall in Washington. He telephoned me he was ready to receive the loan if I was ready to make it, as I had told him previously I would do.

"I have known Senator Fall for about thirty years or more. We are old-time friends. We both worked in the same mining district in New Mexico and were bound together by the ties formed while we were living in camps under trying circumstances. I started in law at the same time Senator Fall did and practiced in the same district as he did."

SYMPATHIES AROUSED

The witness then related to the committee in homely terms how he had followed Fall's career, explaining his deep sympathy with him in his many business adventures and family tribulations. He said that his sympathies had been deeply aroused, and that he had taken a keen personal interest in Fall's troubles. The former Secretary had several times discussed his business affairs with him, Doheny said, and had told him of his hope to acquire the Harris ranch.

"Fall's heart seemed set on that business enterprise," continued the witness, "and I told him that if he wanted it, I would loan the money to purchase it."

"He told me of the possibility of borrowing it from Ned McLean," he went on. "When I told him I would loan him the money, he said it would relieve him greatly. I sent him the money in cash. I do not know whether I did it at his suggestion or not. was in response to a conversation we had three or four weeks previous.

"The money was obtained upon check drawn upon Blair & Co., New York City, and it is my recollection that the check was cashed by them."

MILLION LENT THAT WAY

When members of the committee expressed surprise over what they suggested seemed loose business methods, Doheny replied that he had loaned friends more than $1,000,000 that way during the last five years. A loan of $100,000 by him was not more than a loan of $20 or $50 to most men, he said.

The witness insisted that the loan was not made with any expectation of influencing Fall in his official acts. He asserted that Fall was not in any position to favor him, and declared the negotiations leading up to the leases were carried on by men in his department who were not under the Secretary's direct control.

"It was a loan," Doheny said in reply to further questions, "which I will insist upon him repaying."

"Did your company at that time have any leases on the public reserves?" asked Senator Walsh.

"Only on Section 6, adjoining the naval reserve which we obtained from the Interior Department," the witness replied. "We got that lease from Secretary Payne." (John Barton Payne, Interior Secretary in the Cabinet of President Wilson.)

EXPLAINS TRANSACTIONS

Senator Walsh had the witness explain the transactions which eventually led up to his company being awarded the contract for construction of storage tanks for Navy oil and for improvements at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, Doheny going into considerable detail concerning his frequent conferences on the subject with Admiral Robison, who, he said, was apprehensive that the Navy would not be able to find anyone who could do the work and pay for it in the form of government royalty oil.

Much against the judgment of some of the officers of his company, he said, he assured Admiral Robison that he could rely upon receiving at least one bid, which would be made by the Doheny company. He insisted that the contract was awarded to his company after the Navy Department had received two bids in addition to his own.

"How long were you in New Orleans on your trip here?" Senator Walsh then asked.

"I arrived on Sunday evening last, about 8 o'clock and remained in New Orleans until about 6 o'clock the next morning when I went to one of our refineries about twenty miles from New Orleans and remained there throughout the day. I had a conference with Secretary Fall on the evening I arrived, that was, last Sunday night."

ONLY THREE PRESENT

"Who was present at the conference?" asked Senator Walsh.

"Senator Fall, Mr. McNab, my counsel, and myself."

"Who accompanied you in the train from Los Angeles to New Orleans?"

"Mr. W. A. Hawkins, an old law partner of Secretary Fall, joined Mr. McNab and myself on the train at El Paso. I invited him to come along. I expected to have a talk with Senator Fall and wanted him along, he being an old friend of the Senator. I wanted to present to Senator Fall the statement I intended to make today. I did not want him to be surprised about it.

"When I spoke to Mr. Fall about the statement, he thought it was the proper thing to do. Mr. Hawkins also was of the same opinion."

"Did you have any talk with Senator Fall with regard to the statement you intended to make which might be in conflict with statements previously made to the committee?" asked Senator Walsh.

"That may seem incredible, but we did not have any general discussion of the matter. I simply stated to him that I was going to tell all the facts and the only question was whether he should come on and tell them or whether I should. It was agreed that I would come on and tell them."

NO OTHER CONFERENCE

"Did you have any conference with anyone else?"

"No, sir."

"Did you see Col. Zevely?"

CORRESPONDENTS DODGED BY FALL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Albert B. Fall arrived here tonight from New Orleans in response to a subpoena from the Senate committee investigating naval oil reserves. Elaborate precautions were made to avoid newspaper correspondents, and the former Secretary of the Interior was whisked away from the station in an automobile. He refused to make any statement.

"No, I did not. I was asked to see him, but I did not have any business with him, and I did not want to see him. Somebody said he was in town and said I might like to see him. I had no desire to mix my matters up with those with which Col. Zevely is connected."

"Who was it that suggested that you meet Mr. Zevely?"

McNab interrupted the witness to say that it was Mr. Hawkins.

"I said no," continued McNab. "I explained to him that it was Mr. Doheny's intention to see Mr. Fall and ask him if he would be willing to see Mr. Doheny and myself alone. I sent for Mr. Doheny to come to my room in the St. Charles. When Mr. Doheny arrived he said he would not see Mr. Zevely, but that he would like to see Mr. Fall before coming here to the committee. I called up Mr. Fall and Mr. Doheny and I went to his room, Mrs. Fall letting us in. The conversation was very brief, concerning Mr. Doheny coming here. A discussion arose following Mr. Doheny's question to Mr. Fall, asking him why he had not told all these things when he told him to."

DENIES SEEING OTHERS

Senator Walsh then asked Doheny whether he had any conversation on this subject with any one since arriving in Washington.

"No one except with Mr. McNab and the men who are with me," replied the witness.

"Have you communicated with any of the committee?"

"No, sir."

"I was told Senator Smoot handed you a note when you were coming in," pursued Senator Walsh.

"Yes, sir."

"Let us see it."

Doheny drew from his pocket a collection of tiny scraps of paper and deposited them on the table.

"I think you will have some trouble in reading it," said the witness, "but I'll tell you what was in it."

"It said, 'After you appear before the committee, I would like to see you in my room.'"

Senator Walsh asked how the promissory note given by Fall was transmitted to Doheny.

CARRIED BY SON

"I placed the $100,000 in cash in a grip, which I sent from New York to Secretary Fall by my son, and when he delivered it to Secretary Fall, he was given a note by Mr. Fall which he brought back to me."

Replying to questions by Senator Lenroot, the witness declared that Fall himself had nothing to do with the framing of the original contract of April 25, 1922, by which the Doheny interests acquired preferential rights to lease certain naval reserve land. The negotiations, he said, were all conducted by Fall's subordinates.

Senator Lenroot asked the witness to explain why in the statement submitted today he had only made reference to this contract, in which he had insisted there would return to him no profit, and had no reference to the December, 1923, contract, out of which he had stated he expected to make a profit of $100,000,000. It was this contract by which the Doheny interests leased the California reserves.

INFLUENCE POSSIBLE

After the question had been repeated in various forms several times, the witness replied that it could be contended that Fall's part in the awarding of the December contract might have been influenced by the loan which had been made.

"If there is a suspicion that Senator Fall was influenced by the loan," Doheny added, "I am willing to recommend to my directors to agree to the cancellation of the lease provided that suspicion is based upon something stronger than public opinion."

"I am asking you, in view of the possibility that you secured an advantage because of the loan," pursued Senator Lenroot, "are you not willing to turn back the lease?"

"If that will clear Mr. Fall, I will recommend that to my company. If it will clear Senator Fall of any suspicion of having been influenced by the loan, I am willing to do it."

The attention of the witness then was directed to parts of the previous testimony given before the committee by Fall with regard to the raising of money for the ranch purchase in New Mexico.

URGED FALL TO TELL ALL

"I told Mr. Fall," said Doheny, "to go before the committee. I also told another man, one of my attorneys, Mr. Harold Walker, I wanted him to urge upon Mr. Fall to make a clean breast of the entire affair. That was either December 6 or 7. I think Walker did. I told Fall not to do anything else, but make a clean breast of it."

"At the time you made this loan," asked Senator Lenroot, "had you any applications for leases pending with the Interior Department, or did you expect to have other relations with that department?"

"I had nothing else in sight at that time. We expected always to be in the field to bid on any contracts the government had to make."

"Did it occur to you that to get a contract from the department under these circumstances other than by competitive bidding would be a matter of embarrassment?"

"I never got anything that way."

"This contract was not by competitive bidding?"

There was no reply.

CONTRACT MODIFIED

Doheny insisted that the December contract was a mere modification of the April contract, made on the suggestion of the Navy Department.

"Secretary Denby was the one that suggested the modification of our contract be made in order to enable the department to improve port facilities at Pearl Harbor," said the witness. "A letter to that effect is in evidence here somewhere."

"But Secretary Denby told us that he did not know anything about it," interjected Senator Walsh.

Senator Lenroot suggested that the April contract "did not grant the lease of a single foot of land" while the December contract gave a lease to all the land in Naval Reserve No. 1 "without any bid."

"I do not want to assent to that," said Doheny.

"You got the lease of Naval Reserve No. 1 without any competitive bidding," replied Senator Lenroot.

"The lease was supplemental to that of April 25, which we got after bidding," insisted the witness.

SMOOT EXPLAINS CALL

At this time, as an explanation of why he wanted Doheny to call at his office today, Senator Smoot recalled that he had asked the oil magnate some time ago to look over a piece of oil land in California in which "a friend of mine" was interested, "and give an opinion on it."

"I have never heard from you," continued Senator Smoot. "I wanted to hear from you today and that is why I wanted you to go into my office."

"We looked at the properties of that concern," replied Doheny, "and Anderson of our company made arrangements with them to buy their oil, which means he expects to get oil."

"I want it understood," Senator Smoot then said to his colleagues on the committee, "that I have never handled an inch of public ground in my life."

After asking several questions about the board of experts proposed by the witness in his statement, Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, wanted to know whether Doheny would be willing to turn the lease back to the government if he were reimbursed for expenditures made under it.

"To turn back the lease as proposed," replied Doheny, "would be an evidence of wrong. I do not want this question to be decided by public opinion on testimony before this committee, but by a board of experts."

Asked whether he had made a profit out of the lease so far, the witness replied in the negative.

"Have you loaned anybody else in the Interior Department or the Navy Department any money?" asked Senator Dill, "or have you offered to make loans to anyone in either department in addition to Mr. Fall?"

"No, sir."

"When is the Fall note due?"

"It is payable on demand."

"What is the rate of interest?"

"No rate of interest was agreed upon. It was left blank for me to fill in."

"Has any payment been made on the note?"

"No."

"Where is the note to be paid?"

"New York or Los Angeles."

"You gave him the money before he sent you the note?"

TERMS NOT DICTATED

Senator Lenroot interrupted to ask whether Doheny had given any instructions about the terms of the note.

"No," replied the witness.

"I think it was in Mr. Fall's handwriting."

"Is this note listed among your securities in your income tax return?" asked Senator Walsh.

"It is not. It does not bear any interest. I have received no income from it."

"Do you not mention in your income report any property except that which brings in income?" pursued Senator Walsh.

"I do not know. I have a personal attorney who takes care of my money matters and makes out my income tax report. He knows all money I receive and all the checks I draw. When he says 'I want your check for $78,000, or $83,000 to pay the first installment on your income tax,' I send the check. I do not know exactly what items are covered in the report."

QUIZZED ON EMPLOYEES

Senator Walsh then inquired about J. J. Cotter, asking whether a man by that name had gone into Doheny's employ from the Interior Department.

The witness replied that Cotter had left the department along with the late Secretary Lane and with Mr. Lane had gone to work for the Doheny interests.

"Have you in your employ any men who served in the Interior Department under Secretary Fall?"

"I don't believe we have. I think we have something like 15,000 employees and I do not know them all."

"Have you a Mr. Clunn in your employ?"

"He is an assistant in our office in Los Angeles."

"How long has he been in your employ?"

"Five or six months."

"Was he not employed in the Interior Department under Secretary Fall?"

"He was a clerk in the outer office of Secretary Fall."

RECALLS TESTIMONY

Senator Walsh recalled previous testimony by Doheny and his statements with reference to the April lease having been made by subordinates of Fall, and asked the witness whether he thought Assistant Secretary Finney had signed the lease without the knowledge of Fall.

"I do not know," replied Doheny.

Senator Lenroot then took up the questioning again.

"If Mr. Fall does not employ, will you press him for payment of the note?"

"I think I will."

"Did you think this loan would reflect upon Mr. Fall?"

"I did not think it would reflect upon him as much as it will, had a statement of it made in his previous testimony."

"What do you mean by that?"

"I think it would have been much better had the loan been told rather than the fact that the loan had been secured from Mr. McLean."

"Do you think it created a reflection upon Mr. Fall?"

"I do not."

"Then why did you not tell the committee about it when you were here in December?"

FALL'S BUSINESS

"I thought it was no business. It was not pertinent to any question which had been asked of me when I was before the committee."

GUADALAJARA IN FEDERAL HANDS

Estrada's Forces Evacuate City Without Fight

Many Insurgent Deserters Taken Prisoners

rebels decided that evacuation of Guadalajara and a "running fight" would be necessary about two weeks ago, when Obregon ordered the advance. The scattering of Estrada's forces will compel a new plan of campaign by the Federal leaders, and Amara's troops probably will be divided into groups, each to operate in distinct zones in pursuit of the rebel divisions. This will mean a virtual return to guerrilla warfare, an outcome long forecast by military experts as the final stage of the revolution.

While the War Office was silent today concerning developments in the eastern theater of war, it was rumored that news as sudden and unexpected as that of the evacuation of Guadalajara might soon come from Vera Cruz, through action on the part of government forces toward the Sanchez rebels.

OBREGON COMMUNIQUE

A dispatch from President Obregon at Esperanza today quotes him as follows: "The campaign against the Estrada rebels has entered its most interesting phase. The insurgents made a move to menace Morelia, hoping thus to distract some of our forces for the defense of that city, and thus detain our main advance. But their plan was discovered, and an order issued by the Federal commander at Morelia to evacuate without resistance, allowing the rebels to enter and thus placing them at a greater distance from their base.

"Once they were in the trap Amaro, who enjoyed a three-days' lead, received orders for a quick advance, which now means that the Morelia rebels are unable to find a means of escape, unless they break up into small bands. If they attempt to slip through Amaro's column to regain their base, they will find odds entirely too strong for them.

PREDICTS DEVELOPMENTS

"Celaya is defended by a second strong Federal column under Gen. Escobar, which prohibits the rebels from cutting off our communications. Undoubtedly during the present week the most important developments will result. There has been apparent inactivity on this front, but we will now take immediate advantage of the rebels' first great mistake, which will be a basis for our victory."

Obregon's only reference to the eastern front is that within a month Sanchez will meet the same fate as Estrada, unless he retires from Esperanza, his present base, without fighting, and that this will only mean a further delay until he is forced to make a last stand at Vera Cruz.

DESERTERS TAKEN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Large numbers of rebel deserters were taken after the collapse of Guadalajara, the Mexican Embassy said in a statement tonight.

"Military operations against Vera Cruz," it was added, "are being continued and it is expected that a battle will occur very shortly at Esperanza, the objective of the Federal forces. Rebel forces attacking Santa Lucrecia, Vera Cruz, have been driven back on every occasion by Federal troops.

"Federal forces en route to Tampico have arrived at San Luis Potosi. A portion of this contingent will reinforce the patrols now engaged in keeping open the Tampico-Monterey railroad lines.

"The news that petroleum exportation would be stopped and that the oil refineries would continue their work has been officially denied."

TENSION RELAXED

Tension over the Mexican situation appeared to have been completely relaxed today when the State Department announced that the American war vessels ordered to Vera Cruz and Tampico were already in process of being withdrawn from Mexican waters since the rebel leaders had abandoned their attempted blockade of Tampico and had ordered mines removed from the harbors under their control.

With this compliance with the demands of the Washington government the De la Huerta leaders have withdrawn all threats against the continued movement of peaceful American commerce and the occasion for sending the ships has passed.

Unless American lives and property should again be jeopardized it is unlikely that the Washington government will take any further action than to continue to make sales of war munitions to Obregon. Secretary Weeks aproved today the sale of an odd lot of spare parts for airplanes and a number of bombs.

REBELS CLAIM CELAYA

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

EL PASO, Jan. 24.—Gene Rafael Buelna, is in command of 2000 rebel cavalry and controls not only the city of Celaya, but almost all the surrounding territory for more than fifty miles, De la Huerta sympathizers were advised by wireless today.

Buelna advanced rapidly from Valle de Santiago after Obregon had gone to Aguas Calientes, according to the advices and now the only road open for the President is for him to effect a junction with Gen. P. Elias Calles at San Luis Potosi. A branch line of the National Railway leads to San Luis Potosi from Aguas Calientes.

Due to the action of Buelna with his cavalry the Presidential special is completely cut off from the capital unless Obregon cuts his way through to Celaya, it is claimed by the De La Huerta junta in El Paso.

CELAYA CAPTURE DENIED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NOGALES (Son.) Jan. 24.—Reports that Celaya, an important railroad center, was captured today by the rebel army under Estrada, were denied tonight in a message from President Obregon to Governor Alejo Bey of Sonora. The President sent the message from Celaya, according to Governor Bey.

Indian Medicine Man Has Promised Court to Quit His Job

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Jan. 24.—Indian "medicine men" no longer are to be tolerated in this county, Juan Paloma, Pima resident of the Salt River reservation east of Phoenix, has been, it is charged, interfering with the reservation administration and offering incantations to sick tribesmen. So Juan finally was taken into the Superior Court and his case explained to Judge Phelps. The defendant was released after a promise that the practice of "medicine" would be abandoned.

Frantiso Casamova, former Mayor of Nogales, was arrested by Mexican Federal officials last night, and is being held pending investigation of charges of aiding the enemy, it was announced today. Casamova was given a hearing this morning by Mexican immigration officials who stated they found papers in his possession incriminating him with De la Huerta and pertaining to future rebel activities."

Printer Saves Huge Sum for State in Year

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 24.—State Printer Frank J. Smith declares that he has instituted economies which have brought about substantial reductions in the cost of State printing for 1923. He says he has achieved a saving of $12,697.27 for the State Board of Education on text-books, and a further reduction of $27,377 on general work for other State departments. The printing of text-books comprises one-third of the State printing office output.

The State printer is a Los Angeles man, and when Gov. Richardson drafted him for the position the executive declared:

"He is the best qualified of any man in the State, and I believe time will prove that I have chosen wisely in selecting Mr. Smith for the big job of reorganizing this department of the State."

Iodine in Water Ruins Efforts of Home-Brewers

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—When Rochester's city fathers adopted the method of treating the city water with iodine at the source of supply in an attempt to eliminate goiter, they spelled the doom of the local home brew industry.

The statement of a retired commercial brewer that the iodine in the water makes it next to impossible to obtain a satisfactory "head" on beer or near-beer is indorsed by many other citizens. The effect of the iodine on the yeast in the fermentation process, it is said, prevents the brew from "rising."

Numerous complaints received by the Rochester health bureau have failed to move the authorities from the stand that the iodine treatment of the city's water will greatly reduce goiter here and and possibly eventually eliminate it entirely.

Troops Battle With Fanatics in Philippines

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MANILA, Jan. 24.—Aided by a machine-gun barrage from the United States gunboat Sacramento, 100 members of the constabulary under Col. C. H. Bowers, landed at Bucas Island at 8 a.m. yesterday and charged the trenches of the Colorums, religious fanatics who have been running amuck.

One member of the constabulary was killed while the Colorum loss is unknown. Two dead and two wounded were found. Col. Bowers immediately boarded the Sacramento after burning a Colorum town, fearing that bad weather would force the gunboat from the coast.

LIFE UNKIND AND DEATH IS BITTER

New York Doctor is Killed as Truck Overturns

Was Helping Gather Papers for Salvation Army

Once Prominent, He Had Gone to Abject Poverty

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Life was unkind to Dr. Augustine T. Kingston, formerly a surgeon in Fordham Hospital, and death brought the unkindest cut of all. For death brought with it the one thing Kingston dreaded above all else—revelation of the fact that the once prosperous surgeon had been reduced to asking food and shelter from the Salvation Army.

The tragic story was unfolded to Magistrate House in Homicide Court, by George Ferguson, of the Salvation Army, whose truck overturned last night in front of 432 West One Hundred and Fifty-fourth street, crushing the life out of Kingston. The physician, about fifty, helped collect old books and papers in return for his keep by the Salvation Army.

Magistrate House held Ferguson in $2000 bail for examination Tuesday on the charge of homicide.

HOPE OF CITY POST

The overturning of the truck killed Kingston at a time when his constant hopes for rehabilitation seem to have had promise of fulfilment. He had told Ferguson of an expectation of an appointment in the city's service. In an application for the position of ticket agent, Department of Plant and Structures, he gave the address, No. 184 East One Hundred and Twenty-third street. He had been at one time employed by an insurance company in the Bronx.

Eight months ago he entered the headquarters of the Salvation Army at 229 East One Hundred and Twenty-eighth street, saying he had no place to sleep or eat.

Two months later, he left, advising his new friends that he had a job in Staten Island for $150 a month.

FATHER WILL BURY HIM

A month later Kingston was back. The officials suggested promoting him from helper on the paper truck to driver, but Kingston demurred, saying:

"If I sat on the seat I might be recognized. I couldn't stand that."

Ferguson said that Kingston, while riding on the truck, often would duck behind a pile of papers to avoid recognition.

After the accident last night the police learned that John H. Kingston, of 1173 Fulton avenue, Bronx, was a relative of the dead man. Inquiry at the address divulged the fact that "Doc," as he was known at the Salvation Army, was the son of John Kingston, 80, a retired contractor, of 574 East One Hundred and Sixty-eighth street. At the elder Kingston's home word was sent out that the father had nothing to say. It was learned, however, that he would bury his son.

MOROS RUN AMUCK AND SLAY NINE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MANILA, Jan. 24. — The constabulary report that two Moros from Siasai Island, Mindanao, ran amuck and killed nine Dutch sailors and wounded nineteen others on board a Dutch vessel which carried passengers. The two Moros then jumped overboard, but Dutch sailors killed them while they were swimming.

Both Moros were followers of Panglima Sapulin, a Moro chieftain, heading a fishing party off the Colebas. While there Sapudin's men had an altercation with natives, who wounded two Moros. The latter were taken by Dutch sailors to their ship. Recovering from their wounds the men ran amuck.

Sapudin and his band were arrested by the Dutch as accomplices in the crime, but Gov.-Gen. Wood secured their release and return to Mindanao.

Tried to Pick Pocket, but He Had Wrong Man

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Attempting to pick the pocket of Asst. Dist.-Atty. Abraham Harris with three detectives of the police headquarters squad as spectators cost Joseph Martin of 14 West One Hundred and First street five months in the workhouse today, when he was found guilty by Magistrate Silberman in the West Side Court.

Martin, the police say, is known as McGinnis, McCabe and Powers. His record dates back to 1897 and includes scores of arrests and convictions.

Martin said he did not realize he was "picking the poke of the guy who was the key to my cell."

Forecaster Warns Another Cold Wave is Racing From Frozen Northwest

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Another "section" of the Alaska cold wave is rushing over the northwestern States right-of-way toward Chicago, Forecaster C. A. Donnell announced today, and is scheduled to arrive tomorrow night. By Saturday morning the temperature "may be 10 above zero or lower."

"Rain or snow may be expected today and tomorrow," Mr. Donnell said. "The lowest temperature tonight will be near freezing."

The temperature has risen generally over the Middle West and Southeast, the Weather Bureau's official report reads, while that of the Eastern Lake region eastward to the Atlantic is considerably lower. In North Dakota today it was from 6 to 14 degrees below zero.

RAIL STRIKERS LOSING GROUND

resorting to villanous methods in causing defections among members of his union. The national union makes the same charge against the rival organization and threatens retaliation.

Owing to these bickerings, public sentiment is hardening against the strikers.

Unionists as well as nonunionists consider that the striking engineers were ill-advised in their fight against the award of the National Wages Board. In a clear cut struggle between trade unions and the railway managers, the strikers could rely on the wholehearted support of affiliated unions, but with the issue clouded by internal strife it is doubtful if the other unions will be able to maintain even a neutral attitude.

MACDONALD MAY ACT

Should the National Union of Railwaymen determine to break the strike the engineers and firemen could not carry on more than a few days.

Interference on the part of the new Labor government is expected in case the strike lasts over the week-end. Prime Minister Macdonald desires to keep out of the dispute, if possible, but he must step in if the situation assumes the proportions of a national calamity.

Meanwhile the railway managers declare that conditions are becoming better every day, that more trains are being added and that those already running on schedule are becoming more reliable. London's working masses are being carried to and from work with considerable crowding, but with far less discomfort than during previous strikes.

by the heat. He was found lying near a blazing stream of gasoline and was carried out of reach of the flames by Firemen Valencia Casvilla and Zelinsky and Patrolman Woodward.

Surrounding the plant of the Pacific-American Company are the plants of the Wilshire, White Star, Gilmore and General Petroleum companies. The General Petroleum Corporation, soon after the first explosion, sent two trucks of fire foam to the scene to help fight the flames.

Tank after tank of gasoline exploded at intervals of fifteen minutes or more, and so immense were the crowds that were attracted by the noise that extra police had to be called out to keep interference from the fire-fighters.

In the small home of a company employee located opposite the Pacific American Company, the flames revealed the storage of 200 gallons or more of wine. When the building first caught fire, police entered the home, found the liquor and confiscated it.

No estimate of the loss could be given last night, although fire officials believe that the damage to storage tanks, machinery and nearby buildings will amount in excess of $200,000. Loss to the buildings of the Pacific-American Company was negligible, as the structures were chiefly one-story affairs.

LEGION DRIVE PLANNED

SUGGESTS PLAN FOR NORTHWEST

Governor of North Dakota Would Rent Land

Diversification of Crops Part of Program

Business Men and Farmers to Co-operate

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FARGO (N. D.) Jan. 24.—Gov. Nestos tonight proposed a plan for the permanent solution of the Northwest agricultural ills, in addressing the North Dakota Implement Dealers' Association. He urged organization in every community of development associations composed of business men and farmers for the purpose of purchasing the abandoned and unworked farm lands and the rental of these lands on low terms to responsible farmers educated along the lines of crop diversification, a definite program of crop diversification with the addition of dairying, and encouragement of voluntary co-operation in selling of farm products with a closer association between bankers and other leaders of the community with the farmers.

"The slogan 'forty acres plus' is excellent," Gov. Nestos said. "Let it mean not only forty acres of grain plus corn and other cultivated crops, but plus tame grass and the garden, as well as the production of dairy, beef, pork and poultry products to a far larger degree than now. In diversification lies the one permanent solution of the Northwest agricultural ills."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. — Administration plans for relief of the northwestern agricultural situation as outlined yesterday by President Coolidge in a message to Congress will be developed at a general conference to be held before the end of next week in which representatives of banks, business and transportation services will participate. Secretaries Hoover and Wallace have been called upon to suggest those to whom invitations should be sent, in the attempt, it was said today, to "insure a gathering which will be able to do something besides debate."

NEW YORK PUBLISHER BUYS MAIL

Munsey Purchase Will be Consolidated With Evening Telegram

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—An announcement was made tonight that Frank A. Munsey, proprietor of the New York Herald, the Sun and Globe and the Evening Telegram, had purchased the Evening Mail and would consolidate it with the Evening Telegram.

The purchase was made yesterday, Mr. Munsey said. The consolidated newspapers, which will be called the Telegram and Evening Mail, will appear Monday.

The Evening Mail was founded in 1849.

Mr. Munsey entered the New York newspaper field more than two decades ago with the purchase of the Daily News which later abandoned publication. In 1912 he bought the New York Press which he consolidated with the Sun which he bought with the Evening Sun in 1916.

His next purchase brought him to the New York Herald, and the Telegram. He consolidated the Sun with the New York Herald using the latter name and changing the Evening Sun to the Sun. Several months ago he acquired the Globe and consolidated it with the Sun.

Purchase of the Mail leaves but three other English evening newspapers outside Mr. Munsey's group—the Journal, the Evening World and the Post, purchased less than a month ago by Cyrus H. K. Curtis of Philadelphia.

ESPEE NET INCREASED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—the net railway operating income of the Southern Pacific Company for 1923 was $54,228,023, an increase of $8,006,177 over 1922, it was announced today by the company. The net revenue from railway operations for the year was $80,035,046, an increase of $11,183,332.

DENIES ADVANCE SWUNG OIL DEAL

about obtaining the loan from Mr. McLean was made to the committee?"

"I was in California."

"Why did you not advise the committee?"

"I thought it best to await developments."

"You appreciate that a greater degree of suspicion would attach to a transaction of this kind by reason of that fact?"

"Sure."

"What developments were you awaiting? Why did you not come forward at that time?"

"I think I came forward promptly. It is January, and the holidays have intervened. I think I have acted promptly."

A committee member suggested that Doheny had visited the White House "two or three weeks ago."

TELLS OF VISIT

"It was two months ago," rejoined the witness. "I had luncheon with President and Mrs. Coolidge, and may have remained for half an hour in the lounging room. There were three other gentlemen present at the time. One of them was Mr. Quinn of California, lately elected head of the American Legion, and another was a gentleman from Kentucky. We were invited in to take lunch."

Senator Stanfield, Republican, Oregon, asked whether Doheny had any anxiety "about the use Fall would make of the money you loaned him?"

"None whatever," was the reply. "He was an old friend."

"Did he tell you," asked Senator Adams, Democrat, Colorado, "he got money from bankers in Colorado?"

"No, sir."

"Did he say he was hard-pressed?" continued Senator Adams.

"He told me about his hopes and expectations. His statements made such an impression upon me that, as an old friend, I advanced him out of my plenty. I had to relieve his mind."

NO TIME FOR PAYMENT

"Was there any discussion about repaying you the money?" put in Senator Pittman, Democrat, Nevada.

"No, sir. He never said when he thought he could repay it."

"Any question of security?" went on Senator Pittman.

"He offered me the ranch he was going to buy as security."

"Did he ever buy the ranch?"

"I understand he did. I would not have taken it as security if he had offered it. We have talked about the ranch after he bought it."

"Did you expect him to go into your employ while he was Secretary of the Interior?"

"No; after that. He often said he was not going to remain in the Cabinet very long."

"When he borrowed the $100,000 he had in mind that he was going to perform only a few more official acts?"

"I do not know. I did not know how soon he would retire; whether he would stay throughout his term or only a small part of it."

HOLDS NOTE VALUABLE

"Then you attach some value to the note?"

"I attach $100,000 value to it."

"Where do you usually keep your notes?"

"I keep most of them in Los Angeles. I keep some in New York."

"Did you make a search for this note?"

"I made a hurried search," said the witness, and then, taking from his pocket a gold-bound Morocco bill case, he added: "When the note was brought to me by my son, I placed it in this book and kept it there for some time. It may be that the note is in my security vault in New York. I know I have not lost it. I will have my son and my wife assist in looking for it. As soon as I can find it, I will produce it before you. I know the note is not lost."

Asked by Senator Stanfield why the money was paid over to Fall in cash, Doheny said he saw "nothing unusual" in that. He recalled his experiences in Mexico, where he said cash sometimes was hard to get, and declared he was accustomed to handle large sums in that form. He said in reply to another question that he considered the cash feature of the deal "no reflection on Mr. Fall."

HAD AMBITIONS

Senator Smoot asked whether Fall, in discussing the loan, had told of the improvements he would have to make on the ranch property.

"He told me that he would have to have $100,000 to get the ranch," returned the witness. "I wanted to satisfy his ambition to own the ranch."

"He did not tell you he had sold his newspaper for $45,000?" asked Senator Smoot.

"No, he did not tell me about that."

The committee inquired at some length into the organization and relationship of the various Doheny oil properties. The witness said he owned 8 or 9 per cent, and his family 27 per cent of the stock of the holding company having control over the California naval oil lease. He added that he was able to control the company through a majority of the board of directors.

"Did it occur to you that there was any impropriety in loaning money to an officer of the government with whom you had business transactions?" Senator Lenroot asked.

LOANS TO FRIENDS

"I did not," was the reply. "If I was limited to loaning my money to persons with whom I had not associated and who are not my friends, I would not loan any. It is common for me to loan money to my old friends. My office is filled with them. I do not do it because they are entitled to it, but simply through friendship. I loan them money in sums that may surprise you as to the amount. A loan of $100,000 to Mr. Fall was not an unusual thing with me at that time. I want to insist that I did no business with him directly and for that reason it would not put him under obligations to me."

"You told us that it was a matter where Mr. Fall did have discretion," said Senator Lenroot. "If he could exercise this discretion, do you not think the loan may have caused him to exercise it in your favor?"

"That did not occur to me at that time."

EXPLAINS PROPOSAL

At the suggestion of the witness, McNab further explained the plan for an expert commission to inquire into the lease, and Doheny supplemented him by again reading his prepared statement on the subject.

Senator Walsh replied that the question was not one for experts, but involved a question of public policy which should be determined by Congress.

"Then I do not see," returned Doheny, "how a proposition fair to the government can be passed upon."

"You would like to have experts pass upon the policy of leasing the naval reserves?" asked Walsh.

"If action by Congress is necessary for the leasing of the reserves," returned the witness, "then the leases which have been made, are, of course, null and void."

REFER TO LETTER

Senators Walsh and Adams called attention to portions of a letter written by Fall to Doheny on July 9, 1921, in which the secretary said he would handle the oil leases "exactly as I think best, and will not consult with any officials of any bureaus in this department, but only with myself, and such consultation will be confined strictly and entirely to matters of general policy."

They insisted that in view of this, Doheny must abandon his contention that he was not aware of Secretary Fall's control of the oil lease situation at the time he made the loan and that he could not sustain his argument that the leases were made by Mr. Fall's subordinates.

Just before he was excused from the witness stand, closing the hearing for the day, Doheny agreed to search again for the canceled $100,000 check and the Fall note, and to present them to the committee at a later date.

Women Urged to Put Dairy Products Inside in Order to be Beautiful Outside

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OMAHA (Neb.) Jan. 24.—American women would grow beautiful faster if they would buy dairy products instead of spending their money on cosmetics, delegates attending the annual convention of the Farmers' Equity Union were told today by Ole Hanson of Orloans, Neb.

Declaring that the "ladies use rouge costing them $750,000 a year," Mr. Hanson, manager of the Co-operative Creamery, added that the dairy cow is nature's own beauty parlor and that if the women would use the money to "buy dairy products and put them inside, they would soon become beautiful on the outside."

Mr. Hanson urged dairymen to advertise extensively as cosmetic manufacturers.

COURT GETS LAST WILL OF JENNINGS

Source of Document is Unknown; Self-Asserted Son to Seek Estate

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—A mysterious will disposing of the $6,000,000 estate of Edwin B. Jennings, eccentric millionaire, was filed in Probate Court today by the Northern Trust Company, executors of the estate. The bank announced that it had received the document through the mail yesterday, in a plain envelope which bore neither a return address nor the name of the sender.

Under the new will, which was ordered impounded by the court, one-ninth of the estate is given to John A. Jennings, a second cousin, and one-ninth to Frederick W. Hill, a stock and bond broker. Another one-ninth would be given to two benefactors to be divided among persons whom they believe to have been real friends of Jennings. The remainder is to be held in a trust fund and the income used to aid young persons in getting an education.

With the filing of the will came word from Louisville, Ky., that Charles E. Miner, who contends he is Jenning's son by a common-law marriage, is on his way to Chicago to fight for the entire estate.

Before the appearance of the purported will and the presentation of Miner's claim, it was proposed to divide the estate between a number of known living cousins.

LIGHTNING FAILS BUT AGE KILLS

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MADRID, Jan. 24.—Caesar Beltran, known as the "man stronger than lightning," died at the age of 80 yesterday. When he was a shepherd at the age of 25 Senor Beltran was struck by lightning, which burned off all his clothes but he was not injured. A few weeks later he was struck by lightning again, losing the sight of his right eye.

He became a bellringer in a church and was struck by lightning again when in the belfry. A friend accompanying him was killed, but he was not injured.

Years later while seeking shelter under a tree in a storm, lightning struck him, killing his son and burning the tree, but he was unhurt. Last year Senor Beltran's house was destroyed by lightning, but he escaped.

BROKER ARRESTED IN SECURITIES ACT CASE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OAKLAND, Jan. 24.—Ray J. Whelan, wealthy Oakland broker, was arrested here today charged with the sale of upward of $200,000 worth of securities of concerns alleged not to have been certified by the State corporation commission. Police here and in San Francisco, assert Whelan's financial activities involved more than $300,000.

LAWYER WINS FIGHT AGAINST COURT EDICT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—A lawyer is not in contempt of court in California when he petitions the judge of a Superior Court for a change of venue on the allegation of bias against his client, the Second District Court of Appeal held here today in dismissing on a writ of habeas corpus a sentence of fifty days in the Alameda County Jail imposed on Fred Lake, Oakland attorney, by T. W. Harris, a Superior Judge.

OBSERVATIONS by the INNOCENT BYSTANDER W.N.H.

Well if Willie Hoppe didn't do it again after all these years of turning back determined assaults on his throne of billiardom. Bowling over Welker Cochran and Young Jake Schaefer, both of Los Angeles incidentally, in successive 1500-point challenge matches, is an achievement of the very first rank and indicates that Willie is still the boy wonder that he was fifteen years ago even if he is a trifle less boyish.

Hoppe's accomplishment is even more remarkable in view of the fact that he defended his crown successfully in the face of a number of events tending to interefer with his concentration. He has had some variety of a family row, has split with his old-time manager, Benjamin, and had the cares and worries of a string of billiard parlors which he owns to think about in addition to facing the diermined onslaughts to two young and ambitious challengers. Apparently Willie isn't all through yet.

This is a big day in the northern part of the State with Gene Sarazen and Arthur Havers battling in the first thirty-six holes of their seventy-two hole match for the world's golf championship on the course of the Lake Merced Country Club. The final half of the match is to be played here on the Hillcrest links Sunday which naturally centers the attention of Southern California golfdom on the northern match today.

From all recent reports Havers has improved his game immeasurably during the past few days, getting better and better as he goes along. In all probability the rash individuals who made Sarazen an absolutely overwhelming favorite about ten days ago when Havers was dubbing around the local links are beginning to think that perhaps they were just a trifle hasty. The experts tell us that Havers is something of a real match player. If that is so, the affair ought to be more than worth seeing.

Incidentally there will be a lot of interest attracted to the northern part of the State tonight by the appearance of the U.S.C. basketball team against Stanford, in the first game of a two-game series on the courts at Palo Alto. The championship of the California

PLAY ON LAKE MERCED COURSE

Winner Will be Possessor of World's Title

Famous Pros Play 36 Holes of Big Event

Complete Battle at Hillcrest Next Sunday

BY CHARLES WEST

Following the lead of practically every other sport, parcheesi to prize fighting, golf has decided that it must have a world's champion. The two most likely contenders of the honor, Gene Sarazen, American professional champion, and Arthur Havers, British open title holder, have been brought together and the big doings open today in San Francisco when Sarazen and Havers play 36-holes on the links of Lake Merced Golf and Country Club, balance of the 72-hole match being scheduled for the Hillcrest Country Club on Sunday.

Followers of golf throughout the world have been stirred up to a high pitch of excitement by the match, and the resulting victor will be hailed as the international champion, although no official title goes with the match.

LONG COURSE

The Lake Merced course, where the principals appear today, is one of the longest in the States, having a total yardage of 6570. The longest hole on the links is only 500 yards, there being only three over 450 yards, and only two one-shot holes, all of which means that the average hole is long, and pars are not easy to make. Havers, being a terrific driver, will have a slight advantage on the Lake Merced course, although Sarazen's tee shots are not expected to be far behind. Par for the course is 71.

In contrast to the Lake Merced links is the Hillcrest lay-out, on which will be played the second section of the big match. Over 300 yards shorter, the par is only one stroke less. A greater variety of holes is offered at Hillcrest than on the northern course. The fourth hole is the longest on either links, being 558 yards long. Four holes reach beyond the 450-yard marker, while there are three one-shot holes.

Practically every variety of hole will be offered on the two courses for the champions to shoot at, a severe test of golf being in store for Sarazen and Havers on their 72-hole trip. Figures on the two courses follow:

LAKE MERCED Hole	Distance	Par	HILLCREST Distance	Par
1	380	4	313	4
2	475	5	518	5
3	185	3	158	3
4	345	4	358	4
5	373	4	388	4
6	205	3	154	3
7	395	4	454	4
8	450	4	504	4
	3260	35	3131	35
10	460	5	504	5
11	425	4	440	4
12	420	4	384	4
13	473	5	514	5
14	220	3	174	3
15	390	4	384	4
16	385	4	421	4
17	150	3	148	3
18	397	4	406	4
	3310	36	3131	35
	3260	35	3131	35
	6570	71	6262	70

The popular American professional champion rules a slight favorite over Havers for no very sound reasons. Havers is an excellent player, although it must be admitted that he was playing below championship form most of the time here. But any golfer who can defeat the field as he did last summer at Troon must be respected.

Tags for the match are selling at $2. Bus service will be maintained between the Biltmore and Hillcrest all day Sunday for the use of spectators.

Changes of considerable interest will be noticed on the Southern California Golf Association's handicap lists for 1924 among both men and women players. The handicap committee of the S.C.G.A., under the eagle eye of President Ed Tufts, has been working diligently for the past month with the hundreds of names sent in, and the list has just been sent to the printers and will be distributed February 1.

Only four men and four women have been honored by scratch rating, the handicap committee confirming the opinion of the multitude by naming Willie Hunter and George Von Elm of the Rancho Golf Club, Dr. Paul Hunter of Annandale, and Fred Wright of Flintridge as the scratch players for the season. O.A.C. FOOTBALL COACH RESIGNS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 24. R. B. Rutherford, football coach and director of athletics at Oregon Agricultural College since 1920, announced tonight that he had resigned, effective at the end of the present school year. Lack of co-operation by alumni of the college, and the active opposition of some of them, had much to do with his resignation, he said.

Capt. Bill Goertz

Although he is playing only his second year on the local University of California five, Capt. Goertz is regarded as one of the best hoopsters in the south. In the two conference games to date the doughty Cub leader has scored thirty-four points. What he will do to Occidental tomorrow night remains to be seen, but it is apt to be something violent. Goertz works especially well with Horace Breese, Southern Branch forward, who plays the floor with plenty of speed.

Poly	0	0	.000
Jefferson	0	1	.000
Franklin	0	1	.000

GAMES TODAY

L. A. High at Hollywood.
Manual at Jefferson.
Lincoln at Poly.

Coach Bill Paige and his Hollywood High School basketball players are staging a coming out party for the Los Angeles High tossers at the Movie City gymnasium this afternoon, the only stipulation to the invitation being that the Pioneers shall do the coming out on the short end of the score. Feeling the social urge of a bid from exclusive Hollywood, even though they themselves live in equally exclusive Wilshire, the Romans will be on hand, inspite of having set ideas of their own in regard to the score end of the afternoon's entertainment.

The two teams are leading the City League, not only by virtue of their wins over Jefferson and Franklin, but also because Manual, Poly and Lincoln didn't play last week. It seems to be rather generally believed now that Manual, Hollywood or Los Angeles are the potential 1924 champions. More light will be thrown on the subject today.

HOLLYWOOD FAVORED

Playing on their home floor the Foothillers are slight favorites to trim the Pioneers, especially since the latter squad dropped a close game to Inglewood the first of the week. Coach Bill Paige has a habit of turning out strong teams and although this year's aggregation is shy experience they have plenty of fight and are rapidly developing into a regular basketball five.

Ketchum and Wills are notorious as the mainstays of the Foothillers, the former having won the Jefferson game last week with a thrilling, last-minute shot from near the center of the floor, the basket giving his team a one-point victory over the Democrats. George Herman, Bill Sanders and Art Park looked best for Los Angeles High last Friday. Herman is large and gets the ball off the basket in nice style, while Park's shooting is timely. Middleton is perhaps the fastest of the Roman quintet, but he had an off day against Franklin, passing poorly and shooting wildly. Beck, the other forward, is a veteran from last year.

ARTISANS DETERMINED

Manual has never been defeated by Jefferson in basketball and the Toilers say today is the wrong day for the Democrats to start changing things. However, chances of a Jefferson victory are bright, not only because the game is to be played at home, but also on account of the presence of eight veterans on George Costello's team. Manual has some good men in Redfern, Lewis, Stever and Stewart.

The game between Lincoln and Poly is practically a toss-up. Although there is little reason for such an assertion it is expected that Poly will win by a slight margin. The Mechanics beat Hollywood about two weeks ago and have shown good form to date.

Lightweight teams play preliminary games to the big battles. First games are slated for 3:30 o'clock, but when they will start nobody knows.

DEL MONTE POLOISTS READY FOR MIDWICK

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DEL MONTE, Jan. 24.—The Del Monte polo squad was this evening awaiting the time tomorrow afternoon which would send them against the crack Midwick Country Club four from Los Angeles. With the arrival in the morning of Capt. Carleton Burke, Teddy Miller, J. A. Wigmore and Harry Hunt everything will be in readiness for the match. The two teams will also play Sunday.

U. S. SKATERS MAY BE OUT OF GAMES

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

CHAMONIX (France) Jan. 24.—Serious differences have arisen in the Olympic skating competitions, involving the Americans, who, as the situation appeared tonight, may not take part in the speed events on Saturday. There is a dispute over the granting of an extra trainer's badge for use by Clarence Carmen, American professional bicycle rider, who William Taylor, the American manager, insists shall be permitted to act as a trainer during the games. The French Olympic committee has refused such permission and the question remained unsettled this evening.

McTIGUE WILL BE BUSY PUG

World's Light-Heavy Champion Gets Flattering Offer for Two Bouts

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—An offer of $100,000 for matches with Young Stribling, Georgia schoolboy boxer, and Georges Carpentier of France, was made today to Mike McTigue, world's light - heavyweight champion, by the National Sportsmen's Club of Newark, N. J.

McTigue countered with a demand for $150,000 for the bouts, at a conference with Harry Biafuss, representing the Newark club, and it was indicated an attempt to reach an agreement would be made within a few days.

The Newark promoters propose to stage a McTigue-Stribling match in March and book the light-heavyweight champion, if he conquers the Georgian, for a fight with Carpentier in June.

Stribling, who fought McTigue to a draw in a bout at Columbus, Ga., last October, already has agreed to the match, according to Biafuss, while terms have been cabled Carpentier.

The boom in bidding for McTigue's services followed the formal severance of relations between the boxer and his manager, Joe Jacobs. Differences between the pair have widened since the Stribling bout in Georgia, when they split over financial matters and resulted in blocking several matches. Today, however, McTigue settled obligations to Jacobs by payment of $6500 to the latter, who in turn tore up a managerial contract which did not expire until next August.

BOXING MAY BE PUT TO VOTERS

Petition to be Sprung Soon for Signatures

Plan Placing Amendment on the Ballot

Campaign for Names Will Begin March 15

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24. California voters will be asked shortly to sign a petition that will place on the ballot for the November election a proposed constitutional amendment to permit of ten-round boxing contests in this State.

Assemblyman Harry F. Morrison of San Francisco announced today that he has secured from Atty.-Gen. U. S. Webb, the wording to be used at the head of the circulatory petitions. This, having been approved, will go to the printer at once so that forms may be in readiness for distribution.

The campaign to secure the necessary 77,000 signatures to the suggested amendment will not open until March 15. Inasmuch as a complete new registration of voters is required this year—a registration that does not close until April 1—the promoters of the proposed boxing bill think it advisable to wait until the voters have had an opportunity to register.

Morrison has associated himself with Joe Pedrotti, an assemblyman from Southern California, while George Higgins of this city is taking an active part in the preliminary work.

Crack Trotter's Stake Earnings Called Into Question

Stake Earning of Trotter Called in Question

Clyde The Great Alleged to Race Out of Class

Money to be Redistributed Among Competitors

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CLEVELAND (O.) Jan. 24.—Owners of Clyde the Great, which ranked third among the Grand Circuit trotters last year, although apparently innocent, are faced with the probability of having to refund thousands of dollars won by the colt, it was revealed here tonight.

Because Clyde the Great is alleged to have been raced out of his class the winnings—he topped the summary in one $10,000 stake and in two $5000 events—must be turned back and redistributed among some twenty or thirty horses which finished behind him in each heat of these and other events in which he will be disqualified. He raced in his class in only two events, it is claimed.

SOME MUDDLE

The muddle, said to be one of the most complicated in the history of the Grand Circuit, resulted from an investigation by Fred Edman, Memphis horseman and owner of Favonian, which invariably finished second to Clyde the Great. Several thousand dollars will be paid to Edwin if Clyde the Great's winnings are refunded.

The records show that Clyde the Great raced at Indianapolis September 1, 1923, and in winning the second heat stepped 2:07 flat. The daily press and the turf journals, it is said, carried the time of that mile at 2:07¼, which would make Clyde the Great a 2:06 trotter.

BUYS COLT

On the assumption that he was a 2:06 trotter Tommy Murphy, prominent Syracuse driver, purchased the colt for a reported sum of $20,000 from C. C. Lammlein of Louisville, Ky. Murphy, is is claimed, raced the horse through engagements that had been made by Lammlein.

DEMAREE WILL NOT TWIRL FOR PORTLAND

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 24.—Al Demaree, veteran twirler, who has accepted terms with the Portland club of the Pacific Coast baseball league, has wired President W. H. Klepper that he has obtained a position with a Chicago newspaper as a cartoonist, and will not pitch the coming season.

Klepper announced that Jimmy Middleton will not be back in the box for Portland next season. Tom Turner, Portland scout, is reported to be working on a deal which will land a pod twirler from the American Association in exchange for Middleton.

FAWKE WILL PLAY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SANTA CLARA (Cal.) Jan. 24. Phillip G. Fawke, basketball guard and football captain at the University of Santa Clara, declared ineligible by the faculty Tuesday afternoon, is expected to be allowed to participate in the remaining basketball games on the Bronco schedule.

Sports of 1924

BY FEG MURRAY

Spinach and Apple Sauce

Among the numerous foreign invaders of the "Land of the Free and the Home of the Bootlegger" in 1924 will be a collection of live stock, individually classified as Epinard and Firpo. Epinard, the French race horse, will be 4 years old on his next birthday, while Firpo, the wild bull, will be 27. If Epinard were twenty-seven and Firpo four, neither one would be much good in a race or a fight.

"Epinard," be translated from the French, means Spinach, while many think that the true translation of the Argentine word "Firpo" is Apple Sauce. Anyway, they are both coming after the same thing and you spell it J-A-C-K. Epinard will try to win "beaucoup Jack" for his owner, Pierre Wertheimer, while Firpo will come to fight our heavyweight champion, Jack.

Former Sagehen Weight Star Is Going to Asia

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLAREMONT, Jan. 24.—Willard "Herc" Morgan, former Pomona College track star and Southern California Conference record holder in the discus, returned to his former campus haunts a few days ago where he has been spending his afternoons tutoring Sagehens in the various weight events in which he starred when a student at Pomona.

Last year Morgan was one of the outstanding weight men in the Southern California Conference, winning the distinction of establishing a new discus record of 135 feet, 5 inches and as a member of the conference track team that invaded Palo Alto last spring won first place in the hammer throw against Stanford University.

Morgan leaves Southern California February 24, accompanying a motion-picture company on a tour of Asia. He will handle the publicity end of the trip for the silversheet company.

ZBROWSKI MAY DRIVE DURANT CAR

Foreigner a Probable Starter in Big Beverly Race on February 24

Cliff Durant may sit in the grand stand at the 250-mile championship race scheduled for the Beverly Hills course February 24 and nominate Count Louis Zbrowski to drive his car. Durant and the Count became well acquainted at Indianapolis last May when both speed men were in the Hoosier city for the annual 500-mile race and the California millionaire has cabled an offer to Count Zbrowski offering him his mount for the opening championship race of the 1924 season at Beverly Hills.

Count Zbrowski came to America with the Bugatti team and he proved his ability as a driver in the early stages of the practice work on the brick speedway in the Hoosier city. Zbroski returned to Europe and drove in the French Grand Prize. He later drove at Monza and piloted one of Harry A. Miller's speed creations into second money at Barcelona, Spain. After the Barcelona, meet the Count took the Miller Special over to England and established a few records on the Brooklands track and became recognized as one of the best drivers in Europe.

Zbrowski is already entered for the French Grand Prize and is now getting his car ready for that famous foreign classic. To come to Los Angeles would take a lot of time but Durant feels certain that he will answer the cable favorably.

Harry A. Miller is also of the opinion that the Count will be glad to come over and take Durant's car as a "pinch hitter." Miller says that in his opinion, Zbrowski is one of the three leading drivers of Europe today and he predicts that he will make a great race here on February 24 if he can be persuaded to take Durant's fast mount and let the young millionaire sportsman and speedway president sit in the grand stand with his father as a spectator.

VICTOR ALEXANDER MEETS LEO MATLOCK

Victor Alexander, the colored heavyweight, will meet Leo Matlock in the main event of tonight's Compton American Legion show. Matlock has been boxing regulary around Los Angeles and is in fast shape for Alexander. Paul De Haute and Roy Merrell, featherweights, will meet in the semi-final. Other bouts: "One Round" Andrews vs. Ted Frenchie, 160 pounds; Jimmy Burns vs. Jackie Jones, 126 pounds; Glenn Bennett vs. Jimmy O'Connell, 150 pounds; Frankie La Rose vs. Jimmy Ray, 122 pounds and one other bout will complete the card.

PIRRONE'S STARS WILL PLAY SUNDAY

Ping Bodie, fence buster, has been grabbed by Joe Pirrone to play left field for the All Stars next Sunday afternoon at Maier Park. The All Stars baseball team hooks up with the White King Soap crack nine and a whale of a game is expected. The game is the second of a three-game series. The first game was won by the White Kings, 3 to 0, last Sunday before a banner crowd. It looks very much as if Maier Park is on the baseball map again.

St. Louis swimmers who hope to gain places on the United States Olympic team will take part in the first official tryout at the Washington University pool, St. Louis, the 24th inst.

GARCIA FACES HARD BATTLER

Portland Featherweight Has Good Record

Will Carry the Fighting to Local Boxer

Sullivan and Stevenson Mix in Semiwind-up

Frankie Garcia's stock is likely to tumble a few points following his argument with Joe Gorman, Portland featherweight, in the main event at the Hollywood American Legion stadium tonight. For more than a year Garcia has enjoyed the smoothest sort of sailing, in that period failing to suffer a defeat, but in Gorman he has been handed the toughest assignment served him in several fortnights.

Garcia by virtue of his past performances will enter the ring tonight the favorite, but many close followers of the four-round game here figure that, favorite or no favorite, he will have to step at a fast clip to earn a verdict over Gorman. In fact a good sized sprinkling of fans figure Gorman is the boy to knock the wind out of Garcia's sails and here's where the interest in tonight's bout lies.

Garcia always looks good against a fighter who bores in and forces the going. He plays the waiting act and gives his opponents dynamite every time they come in. Gorman is a boxer of the aggressive type who will make Garcia fight to hold his own, but coupled with his ability to force the fight, is his faculty to use his head. It will be interesting to note which style proves the superior in tonight's mill.

Charley Sullivan and Mel Stevenson are programed for the semi-wind-up, slated to mix at 140 pounds. This bout promises to furnish all kinds of action, with plenty of slugging thrown in to make it interesting.

Hoppe Seeks Postponement in Cue Match

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Willie Hoppe, world's champion 18.2 balk line billiard player, is seeking a postponement of his title match against Eduoard Horemans, the Belgian challenger, which under the rules must be played within sixty days.

Hoppe said tonight he would demand that the match be postponed until the first or second week in April, and that he wanted to meet the Belgian star either in New York or Philadelphia.

"I have defended my title three times in thirty days and it is asking too much to expect me to play Horemans within sixty days," Hoppe said. "That would mean that I would have to play him about March 24."

Horemans, who finished fourth in the international tournament at New York, is next challenger in the line to meet Hoppe and already has posted his forfeit.

Soccer Elevens in Semifinal Matches Sunday

The semifinal matches for the Southern California Soccer Association Trophy are to be played between the Los Angeles Athletic Club eleven and the Los Angeles United squad at Washington Park Sunday. This game should be a thriller as the teams are very well matched with no small degree of rivalry existing between them and both teams are determined to play in the final round of play for the trophy. Considering these facts the fans are due for an exciting afternoon.

The first engagement of the day is set for 1 p.m. when the Scots and Long Beach United elevens will clash. In view of past performances the Scottish soccerites should come out of the fray well in the lead as the United team, so far, has not proven itself to be very strong.

POMONA COLLEGE LOSES WITH RIFLE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLAREMONT, Jan. 24.—Pomona College rifle marksmen were defeated by the more experienced University of Minnesota and Washington rifle teams this week by overwhelming scores. Washington scored 1515 points to Pomona's 3410, while Minnesota totaled 1725 to Pomona's 3410. Both universities had the advantage in the matches in having teams that have practiced consistently on the range for the last five years while riflery as an intercollegiate sport is comparatively new on the Pomona campus.

Pomona's rifle team will fire against Southern Branch marksmen next Saturday and against Caltech, February 9, in the concluding matches of the triangular riflery meet between Pomona, Southern Branch, and the California Institute of Technology.

UMPIRE PEARLE CASEY NOT TO BE A HOLD-OUT

Harry A. Williams, president of the Pacific Coast baseball league, yesterday received a letter from Pearle Casey, veteran umpire, returning the first contract which Williams had sent him. Casey in his letter to the Coast Prexy said that he would sign the new contract as soon as he received it and return it, thus putting to rest rumors that he would be a hold-out this year.

HARD HITTER

Joe Gorman,

DE PALMA IN A FAST TRIAL SPIN

Speed Marvel Clips Second From Sunday's Mark; Says He'll Beat Horey

That "dust-eater" Fred Horey, conqueror of Ralph De Palma at Ascot Speedway last Sunday, is to have a tough time next Sunday afternoon at the same course, is the prediction of none other than the famed De Palma himself. De Palma had his eight-in-a-row Miller out on the dustless Ascot yesterday and clipped a full second off his record of Sunday. De Palma's record lap for the course on Sunday was 32 4-5s. Horey made the circuit in 33 flat. As he concluded his workout yesterday De Palma predicted that on Sunday he will shade the time until a lap in thirty seconds is hung up. Horey also thinks the time possible, but claims he is the man who will gain the coveted honor.

The holder of the Ascot helmet was frankly disappointed at the effective manner in which the dust was layed by the three coatings of oil Bentel provided in the aid of science. "I pray for dust when I drive," he said. "That's my game, plowing through dust clouds and I am willing to admit that my chances for again defeating De Palma when we meet Sunday, diminished considerably when the efficacy of the oil treatment was demonstrated beyond any doubt yesterday." Horey will drive his Frontenac again Sunday, the technical committee finding that while the cylinders had been rebored and the displacement increased, yet the maximum limit had not been passed.

Louis Disbrow will arrive late Saturday and will pilot a 183-inch Miller eight-in-a-row car on Sunday. His Simplex "Zip" will replace Harry Miller's masterpiece in subsequent events. Fred Leichleider, who won the Ascot motor derby last Sunday will go to the post a strong favorite in the Frank Garbutt stakes next Sunday. Leichleider says he has increased the speed of his car beyond that of either De Palma's and Horey's.

ELMER JACOBS MUST BUY KID'S TICKETS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE, Jan. 24.—Elmer Jacobs, star pitcher, who has been sold by the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast Baseball League to the Chicago Cubs in the National League, was holding out tonight. Not for salary, but for transportation for "five little Jakes." The latest word here was that the Cub management had congratulated the elder Jake on his fine family but had plainly stated that he must pay their fares east.

HOLLY MERCHANTS PLAY WILMINGTON

Wilmington baseball fans are in for a treat next Sunday when the Holly Merchants club will cross bats with the Wilmington Merchants. The game will begin at 2:15 o'clock at the Wilmington ball grounds. Ray Keating one of the best heavers in the West will slant 'em over for Hollywood, while Cecil Cruze will pitch for Wilmington. A whale of a game is expected to be dished up.

SAGEHENS MAY PLAY IN NORTH

Pomona College Golfers Invited to Compete in Del Monte Tourney

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLAREMONT, Jan. 24.—Student interest in intercollegiate golf reached its highest peak on the Pomona College campus today when an invitation accompanied by entry blanks was received from the Northern California Golf Association, inviting Pomona to enter a team of crack golfers in the California intercollegiate annual golf championship to be held at Del Monte, February 22. This invitation coming on the heels of Coach E. W. Nixon's sanction of intercollegiate golf for Sagehen links' artists has created no small stir among the fifty or more student golfers.

Whether Pomona will enter a team in the northern tournament is not known as yet, and if the Sagehen athletic committee decides on such action, a special qualifying tournament will be held over the Indian Hills links during the next fifteen days. By the results of this special tourney the Sagehen varsity team will be picked, ready to enter the qualifying rounds to be held at Del Monte, Friday morning, February 22. The first round will be held on the afternoon of the same day with the second and third rounds on Saturday and the finals over thirty-six holes on Sunday.

In view of the increased interest being displayed by Sagehen players, a special tourney has been arranged for tomorrow afternoon over the fairways of the Indian Hill Club under the direction of Dr. Bruce McCully. The tourney will be of eighteen holes, medal play, with prizes awarded to the players holding the two lowest scores.

SARAZEN AND HAVERS MEET

Kennett are zero handicap golfers among the women for 1924.

Several new names are added to the 2 handicap list for 1924, although Everett Seaver, E. S. Armstrong and Norman Macbeth still carry this handicap. Arnold Statz of San Gabriel, a 6 handicap player last year, has been sliced to a 2 handicap, and A. D. S. Johnston of the Los Angeles Country Club graduated from 3 to 2. Leon Keller, whose most recent achievement has been to win the San Gabriel Country Club title from Arnold Statz, has also been decorated with a 3 handicap, and three California players, J. N. Stewart, J. N. Crowell and A. N. Fayette, are rated as 2 handicap men by the committee.

The list contains only 2500 names this year, being considerably shorter than in 1923, in spite of the increasing number of golfers and country clubs. This is explained by the fact that only golfers whose game deserves recognition have been listed, the committees of the various clubs and the S.C.G.A. being much stricter this year. One result of the rigid rules observed by the handicapping committee is seen in the fact that only thirty-three Smiths are included this year, ranging in handicap from 8 to 18.

The feminine list is made up of 400 names.

MAKES AMENDS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, Jan. 24.—Redlands golfers made some amends for their two defeats at the hands of the San Diego and Coronado clubs last week by taking into camp the Hacienda Country Club team by a score of 5 to 0. Score was for eighteen holes. The play was best ball foursomes and the results follow:

Hacienda — Canterbury-Mendenhall, 0; Crumrine-Cox, 0; Anderson-Tebbetts, 0; Finch-Johnson, 0; Mitchell-Leffingwell, 0. Total none. Redlands — Hornby-Hatch, 1; Gore-Boyd, 1; Lincoln-Jackson, 1; Power-Cranmer, 1; Tripp-Paine, 1. Total 5.

Chapter VII

MEETING REX BEACH

The gold strike at Rampart blew up with a bang—not exactly a bang, at that. It was more like the busting of a cap on a musket. The load didn't go off. We didn't find as much gold as I have in my teeth right now.

It was in those trying days, though, that the principles of honesty were grounded in me. I believe now it was the bigness of things, the naturalness, the openness. Even though I have observed the seamy side of life, I do not believe to this day that many people are dishonest by nature. The principles of square dealings, I find, apply in the fight game just as they did along the Yukon when every man was his own. There were no courts to adjust disputes. We didn't have disputes.

The question has been asked me, "How do you manage to make the roughnecks in the fight game keep their word?"

Truthfully I can say that I never have found these roughnecks dishonest.

If you give an ignorant man the impression that you are on the square with him he will be on the square with you. The parasite managers may give trouble, but never the man who does the fighting.

There were two boats on the Yukon, the Bella and the Alice. They brought up supplies in the spring. Whether a miner was present or not they would leave a six months' supply of food on the shore, put the man's name on it and nobody ever thought of molesting it. There was no favoritism. A man was a man and he needed so much food.

Going out of Dawson City, dead broke and disappointed, three prospectors and myself aimed ourselves at Rampart. As I say, that strike was a bloomer. There we were, farther away than ever and more dead broke than ever—if that be possible. My $57,000 had gone rolling along with the little white ball on the roulette wheel.

I am trying to make the point that money, except in so much as it would buy food, never concerned us deeply. It doesn't bother me to this day.

HIS NAME WAS REX BEACH

We learned that the river boats would pay fifteen dollars a cord for wood, cut the proper length for the boilers and piled on the banks of the stream. That being the only way out we started cutting wood. Nobody checked up this wood and no workman thought of getting his pay at that time. When the ice broke and the boats got through they would simply pick up the wood, figure out the amount and leave the money for us. The boat men trusted us because they knew we trusted them.

So I set to work as a wood-cutter. It took muscle, but I had it. We worked for several months at this job in an effort to restore our lost fortunes.

One day I noticed another gang cutting wood on the opposite side of the river a few miles down. Naturally we went over to call and gossip. Men were scarce those days. To see a new face was quite an event.

One of the other wood-cutters I found to be a strong, intelligent looking fellow. He took us in, gave us the best he had in the camp and made us sit down for chuck.

"What's the name, if you don't mind?" I asked.

"Rex Beach," he told me.

I knew this young fellow was educated, a sort of college man, but I thought him just a prospector like myself. In fact, he was. It was a long time after that before I ever knew that my friend Rex Beach, cutting cord-wood on the Yukon, was the great writer. I simply knew him as Beach, a darn good fellow.

I don't remember how much Beach earned that winter but I earned about three hundred dollars.

THE STOCK JUST FLOATS IN

"I hear down the river," he said, "that a lot of the boys have struck it rich around Nome. A whole lot of 'em are packing up and getting out into the mountains near the Behring Sea."

We knew the man was talking straight. One message was enough.

Out of my wood money I had enough to pay my passage to St. Michaels and have $35 left. I lost Beach then for awhile.

On the boat I met up with a man named Jim White. He had come from Dawson and was of particular interest because he owned a tent.

"If I had somebody to go in with me," he said, "we could set up a place up in the Nome country and make some money."

Neither of us had enough money to start in business. We thought, though, that we could establish some kind of a public house and get started. The Nome miners were very much in need of a social center—a gathering place.

Landing at Nome beach we found that we could get a lot for $400 and we scraped up enough to get an option on it.

By that time the Bering Sea had opened. While I was standing on the beach a steamer came down to load lumber. That gave me an idea.

"I'd like to get enough of this lumber to build a floor under our tent," I told the boatman, "if it wouldn't cost me too much."

"Well, I'm going to leave it here," he said. "Suppose you just pick out what you want and use it. You can pay for what you use or return it later."

That was a real bonanza. In two days we had a nice floor for our tent so that we could store our stuff without its getting ruined.

Then another boat came along and began unloading a cargo of boxes containing whisky, wines and brandy. They were tumbled about the shore.

I suggested that there was enough room in my tent to store this stuff and not inconvenience us.

"All right," he said. "You store this stuff and if you want to use any of it just keep tab on it and we can settle when I come back."

PROHIBITION PRICES IN 1899

Without a thought of profit at the time we carefully stored this liquor, feeling that we had done a fellow a good turn.

The next man I met was George Murphy. I'll never forget him because he was a salesman for a brand of cigars we all liked. This was on the 29th of June, 1899. The fact of a fortune there makes me remember the incident so well. I told Murphy we were going to open up a place; that if he would open up a little gambling so as to make the place sociable we would sell his cigars and he could take the profits out of the games—if any.

Then I thought of the stored liquor. The upshot of it was we opened our place on July 4, 1899, a big day in the social history of the Yukon.

We sold whisky at 50 cents a drink. The roulette wheel and faro bank opened under proper auspices. Miners came for miles. The woods seemed to be full of them. That was a gala day in my life.

Our gross receipts on the opening day were $925! That, mind you, for drinks alone. But the best was yet to come.

We had struck the real heart-strings of Alaska. This leads me into the excitement of the great Nome Beach strike, the heart thrills and heartbreaks of a gambling-house on the Yukon. Man will never see the like of it again.

OBSERVATIONS BY BYSTANDER

division of the Pacific Coast Conference can pretty well be foretold after the opening contest tonight.

It is pretty generally agreed that if the Trojans break even with Stanford as they did with California they have a rare chance of grabbing the honors. The Cardinals, however, believe that they have a stronger outfit even than the Bears and point to their much more decisive defeat of the Olympic Club. There is a lot of real rivalry between Cardinals and Trojans also and it is likely to be warm up there tonight.

The return to active competition of Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup, national women's doubles tennis champion in 1922, will strengthen the resources of this country for the Olympic Games providing the young lady from Delaware can get away for the trip. Mrs. Jessup is not only a singles player of ability but is probably next to Mrs. Wightman, the best woman doubles player in the country and would add considerable strength to the American forces.

TRACK STARS START SEASON

Interclass Meet at Oxy Tomorrow Afternoon

California Tech Sprinters Also Don Spikes

Engineers Have Little in Way of Material

Believing that an early start is the best way in which to get their track athletes into condition for a tough season, Coaches Joe Pipal and Fox Stanton of Occidental and California Tech, respectively, have scheduled interclass meets for their cinder-path artists tomorrow afternoon. The Tiger B.V.D. men will cavort around Patterson Field, while the Engineer runners are to show their wares at Paddock Field.

Coach Stanton doesn't expect his team to set the world on fire this year, but has one or two men who are bound to go well. Richard Darling, a sprinter, will get a number of points for the sophs, while Holly Moyse, senior weight heaver, can be counted on for some digits. Manley Edwards, another soph, will also aid his class in their struggle to cop first honors.

Although the sophs won the interclass meet which was staged at Oxy last week, most of the wise birds around the Eagle Rock institution are looking for the seniors to bring home the bacon tomorrow. Some of the best men in college were not out for the competition a week ago and consequently the under classmen had things their own way, with their big brothers missing.

Cliff Argue, Phil Ellsworth, Skinny Condit, Johnny Powers, Art Garvey, Roy Goodenough, Tony Spangler and Dave Ridderhoff are only a few of the senior luminaries expected to shine. The juniors, with Squint Fulton, Nick Carter and Phil Buckman, will nab quite a few points, while Morey, Montgomery, Nash, Wall, Stephens and Lavelle will make the sophs a dangerous aggregation.

Engel Longs for Crack at Walter Miller

Heine Engel has been hankering a long time for a crack at Walter Miller and is sure to make the best of his opportunity, which will come Thursday night of next week, when the two star middleweights are matched for a mat battle at the Los Angeles Athletic Club. Heine will go the limit in an effort to beat the former world's middleweight champion, who still holds the welterweight title, just before the latter's tour of Australia. Walter, on the other hand, would rather sacrifice his fine soprano voice than have such a catastrophe as a defeat come upon him now. He expects to clean them all on the kangaroo continent, where he will bar no wrestler, regardless of weight.

Miller's farewell appearance in this city previous to his trans-Pacific tour will be a lively affair, Engel as one of the principals in the match is an absolute guaranty of that. The Iowa grappler has a record that is unique for an old-timer in that he never has been defeated. Twice he has wrestled the champion, Johnny Myers, to a draw, and on one of these occasions he appeared to the fans to have had a bit the better of his opponent. None of the classy battlers he has taken on, and this includes all the best in the world, has been able to get anywhere against Heine. A few have managed to obtain draws, Miller aims to pin him to the mat. He'll have to travel fast—and admittedly he is in shape to go.

Motor Cop Is Defeated at Tijuana Track

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 24.—Motor Cop, a demon for speed when he is going right, had to take a back seat for Dick Terpin in the feature event today at Tijuana, being nosed out in the final jumps of a four and a half furlong sprint. Motor Cop was claimed by H. Crowell for $1500 after having been in the hands of Charley Irwin's stables for more than two years.

Niagara succumbed to Hilarity in the sixth race. This event was practically a two-horse race, for none of the others had a show. Madge F. given a snappy ride by Jockey O'Connell, won the third race by four lengths. Results:

First race, five furlongs: Gratian won; Dalton, second; Barry Burgoyne, third. Time 1:01 4-5.

Second race, five furlongs: Babe Ruth won; St. Angelina, second; Louden, third. Time 1:01 2-5.

Third race, one mile and one-sixteenth: Madge F. won; Mary Jane Baker, second; Prince Direct, third. Time 1:49.

Fourth race, four and one-half furlongs: Dick Terpin won; Motor Cop, second; Caveat Emptor, third. Time 0:54 1-5.

Fifth race, six furlongs: Tubby A. won; Cleo Stickling, second; Pleria, third. Time 1:13.

Sixth race, six furlongs: Hilarity won; Niagara, second; Freebooter, third. Time 1:13 2-5.

Seventh race, six furlongs: Jack Bauer won; Spread Eagle, second; Lord Allen, third. Time 1:13 4-5.

Eighth race, one mile and one-sixteenth: Louis won; Chippendale, second; Lawrence Manning, third. Time 1:48 3-5.

Tennis Stars Will Meet in Return Match

Walter Wesbrook and Harvey Snodgrass, two of the best tennis players in Southern California, will meet in a return match next Sunday afternoon on the Huntington Hotel courts, Pasadena. Last week when these same two stars met in a grueling match Wesbrook emerged the winner by a shade.

Following this match the fans will be treated to another exhibition play well worth going miles to see. Walter Wesbrook, paired with Mrs. S. W. Royce of the Vista del Arroyo Hotel, will play Harvey Snodgrass and Annette Kellerman in a doubles match.

Motion pictures will be taken of the matches and of the gallery. It was announced today by M. Beasley, tennis professional of the Huntington, and who arranged the exhibition. Play will start at 2:30 p.m.

WASHINGTON QUINTET MEETS OREGON AGGIES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SEATTLE, Jan. 24.—Tomorrow night in the University of Washington gymnasium the Oregon Agricultural College basketball team will endeavor to wind up a perfect road trip by winning from the Huskies.

Though Washington has an unmarred record for the season, Coach Clarence Edmundson has overhauled his material in order to present the best front possible to the Oregonians. Two of his stars, Gundlach, guard, who has a bad knee, and Hasketh, forward, who has been nursing an injured foot, will be in the line-up but briefly, if at all, it was feared tonight.

WILLIE RITCHIE TO BOX IN EXHIBITION

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ANTA CLARA, Jan. 24.—Willie Ritchie, former world's lightweight champion, and Fred Murphy, former Pacific Coast featherweight champion, will box four rounds here January 29 in an exhibition at the opening of the new Seifert gymnasium at the University of Santa Clara. The Santa Clara varsity will meet the Olympic Club basketball team the same night.

Ohio State contemplates a huge natatorium and a girls' field house to keep up with the growing popularity of athletics among the students.

PROMOTERS SCOURING WOODS FOR FIGHTERS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 24.—Harry Hansen, matchmaker, and Joe Wood, business manager of the Portland Boxing Commission, have gone to Seattle and Tacoma in quest of boxers for cards here.

Hansen is especially seeking an opponent for Ted Krache for a match the first week in February.

He already has signed Krache to box here, and if Joe Dunn should win from Joe Simonich in their bout here next Monday night, he will be available.

While in Seattle and Tacoma, Hansen will lok over all the available material and will make an effort to get Bobby Harper for a match.

JUDGE REJECTS TRIAL PETITION

Determined to Take Cases to Arizona Capital

Agrees Most Prescott Folk Give Law Support

Experience in Hotel Has Effect on Decision

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Jan. 24.—District Judge Jacobs has refused to change his order removing to Phoenix the trial of 160 Volstead-Act cases originating in Northern Arizona and naturally appertaining to the term of the Federal court in Prescott. A petition was sent to him with more than eighty affidavits, signed by such representative people as the Mayor, City Manager, president and secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, the managers of the telegraph and telephone offices, county and city officials, bankers and other business men, all reciting that Prescott resented the assumption that it opposed law enforcement and expressing belief that the cases would be as fairly tried at home as in Phoenix.

Judge Jacobs answered that he had no doubt about the law-abiding attitude of a majority of the people of Prescott, but intimated that trouble might come about through the banding together of a few who seek to defeat the aims of the law. He stated that "Yavapai county must clean house, so that law-abiding, law-sympathising citizens, who are in far the greater number, can see that laws are administered and that the guilty are punished."

He then told how he had been cursed by drunken men who had aroused him from slumber in a Prescott hotel and who had been admonished by him. On the next day Asst. U. S. Atty. Wilson presented in open court a motion for the removal of the cases with backing of a petition signed by many residents who averred that it was impossible here to secure a fair and impartial trial of defendants accused of violation of the liquor laws.

Superior Judge Sames of Cochise county has been called to preside at the trial of Robert McMurchie, District Attorney of Yavapai county, who is under charges that seek his disbarment.

Judge Sames also will hear a damage suit brought by McMurchie against Homer R. Wood, his principal accuser. Trial will be late in February, when the regular jury term will begin. In the meantime, under order of the Supreme Court, Mr. McMurchie will continue to hold his office and exercise its functions.

COURT PERMITS USE OF BIBLE IN SCHOOL

SUPREME JUDGES AFFIRM DECISION AGAINST TWO OBJECTORS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—The presence and use of the King James version of the Bible was permitted for the library of the Selma Union High School in a decision handed down today by the State Supreme Court. The introduction of the book had been opposed by Elbert L. Evans and George Enos, residents of the school district, who said in an action against the district trustees, that they could not constitutionally appropriate moneys for a secular or denominational book. The Superior Court of Fresno County held against Evans and Enos, who then appealed. Today's decision is in affirmation of the judgement of the lower court.

In its decision today the court said:

"We are not to be understood as deciding the question whether or not the use of the Bible for class instruction amounts to the teaching of secular or denominational doctrine nor to construe whether or to what extent its reading may be made a part of the chool work without affecting the governing provision of the State Constitution or the Statutes."

MAN LEAPS FROM DECK OF HARVARD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—George Johnson, a passenger on the coastwise steamer Harvard, jumped overboard last night while the steamer was approaching San Francisco from Los Angeles Harbor, acording to a report made to the police by officers on the vessel upon her arrival here today. Officials of the steamship company said they did not know from what place Johnson boarded the vessel. His absence was first noted when his coat was found on deck by one of the crew.

THE REAL

Theodore Roosevelt

AS TOLD IN THE PRIVATE LETTERS OF

Maj. Archie Butt,

Aide and Intimate of "T. R."

Copyright, 1924, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

WASHINGTON, June 30 1908.

My Dear Mother:

We have had rather an interesting day saying good-by to the retiring Secretary of War and listening to the predictions of his election to the Presidency. He seems perfectly happy and smiles at everything and everybody . . .

While I was in his office he saw at least a dozen people on business and settled many questions. He has a wonderfully well-trained mind and seems to have none of the trouble of so many people in deciding questions. He is capable of a great amount of labor, but those of us who have served with him in the Philippines have seen this capacity for work almost overworked at times. I have seen him in the Philippines, lying on his back and suffering intense pain, transact business from his bed with a cheerfulness which many of those on top do not exercise in their comfortable offices. He thinks he is going to be elected, but does not feel at all certain.

"What are you going to do in New York?" he asked old Michael J. Dady, who came into his office.

"We are going to carry it without doubt for you," he replied.

"UNCERTAIN VOTE"

"Don't be too certain," said the Secretary, "for there is a very uncertain vote this year and this election is going to turn largely on the labor vote. I have been trying to impress it on Charley Taft, my brother, that he had better take nothing for granted, but to fight as if he were making a losing fight, to contest every inch in every State and not to look on Ohio or any other State as certain."

But he was smiling all the time, yet his fighting qualities show in his blue eyes, which are close together, and his lips, which are thin.

You tell me I have written nothing about Miss Hagner. Well, she is the same open-hearted generous friend as ever. I am simply astonished at her executive ability. She really is the chief factor at the White House, and the fact that everything has gone as smoothly as it has is due more to her than everyone else put together about the Executive Mansion. During the season her mind is active every minute of the day. Before the aides are up in the morning Miss Hagner is telephoning to McCoy or Bromwell to remind them of some big dinner at the White House for that evening and to ask if it has been ordered, which in five cases out of seven has been forgotten.

SAVES NOTHING OF PAY

The large dinners are prepared and cooked by Rauscher at so much per plate. Last year he got $10 a plate, but this last winter they cut him to $8. This includes all the wines, with the exception of Champagne. There is no entertainment fund, so you can see how rapidly the President's pay is eaten up. He could cut down his expenses by cutting down his guests, but he has a horror of trying to save any money out of his pay, and I heard him say to Mrs. Roosevelt once that while it was more expensive to have Rauscher serve the dinners, yet all the salary had to go anyhow, so it had just as well go in dinners, for then it at least reflected credit on the government.

But his chief reason for not having the dinners prepared at the White House is to take the worry off his wife. He tried the other plan and found out that the day of a dinner everyone was running to her for orders, and no matter how competent a chef and butler one had, still it was to Mrs. Roosevelt that all matters were referred.

Mrs. Taft loves the worry of house-keeping, and if her husband is elected I think you will see a very domestic administration. But this is a long skip from Miss Hagner, when I started out to tell you of her at your own request . . .

AIDE BUSY WOMAN

The entire force rely on Miss Hagner, and it is really humorous to see her conducting the affairs of that big establishment. She went there merely as the social secretary of Mrs. Roosevelt, but her sphere has broadened until it is sort of head aide, general manager and superintendent. She keeps Mrs. R. informed as to everything, and Mrs. Roosevelt relies on her to see that her wishes are carried out in detail. Mrs. Roosevelt herself is a splendid executive, and attends to a vast number of things without seeming to trouble herself or anyone else very much, but I hardly see how she would get along without Miss Hagner. The latter never seems to play any favorites or have any axes to grind. She does not let her likes or dislikes play any part, and her advice is always sound and impersonal. Yet she keeps her weather eye open for her friends. After I had been to a dinner and a luncheon she suggested that I leave a card at the White House.

"But why?" I asked. "I am in and out there every day."

"But when you come to dinner you come as a guest, and I know Mrs. Roosevelt appreciates it if you pay her the same respect that you would to other women who invite you to dinner."

So after each meal at the White House now I leave my card, and I know that it is appreciated, just as Miss Hagner hinted . . .

Good-by, lots of love . . .

ARCHIE.

WRIGHT GREETED

WASHINGTON, July 1, 1908.

My Dear Mother:

All the officers went by orders to pay their respects to the new Secretary of War this morning, Luke Wright. The retiring Secretary presented each in turn and the introductions were very happily made by Mr. Taft. As Gen. Aleshire and his staff were waiting in the hall to go in Capt. Parker called to me, who was nearer the head of the column, that there was a photograph with my name on it near him. I went back and there found a splendid likeness of Mr. Taft, and under it was written in his own handwriting: "To Capt. Archie W. Butt, ...

request I made to him in Cuba for one of his photographs.

As we filed by the Secretary, Frank Cheatham and I were together. Secretary Wright caught us both by the shoulder and gave us a kind of hug. Cheatham is the son of Gen. Cheatham, and both of us had been very close to Secretary Wright when he was in the Philippines. People never get over that old feeling of friendship for those who have served with them in times which are at least trying.

"RECONSTRUCTED" MEN

Of the eight of ten assistants to Gen. Aleshire only two are Northern men. He laughed as he introduced them, and added:

"Mr. Secretary, you see I have a reconstructed brigade from your part of the country."

"You could not have a better," added Gen. Wright.

Aleshire is from an old Democratic family in Ohio. He often laughs and says it does not mean anything for us to be Democrats, but that his family were Democrats when it meant almost ostracism in the State he comes from. His appointment to the office of Quartermaster-General only shows how little politics cuts any figures with Mr. Roosevelt where the good of the Army is involved. It certainly did my heart good to see an old Confederate soldier head of the War Department, and many were thinking about it also, although I did not hear a comment on the subject . . .

As ever, your devoted son,

ARCHIE.

RISE OF TWO SWITCHMEN REVEALED BY SEARCH

BY RAYMOND CARROLL
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1924, Public Ledger.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—This is a tale of the trial of a casual remark which led all over Lower Manhattan, leaped to Baltimore by telephone and back by telegraph, thence into the marble New York Public Library, and finally to the "den" of an erudite historiographer on the top floor of an old building in Greenwich Village.

It might well be titled "The rise of two switchmen—Sir Eric Campbell Geddes, British statesman and man of business, and Henri F. Klein, American citizen."

Mr. Klein's career of letters started as "shunter" (English for switchman) in the yard of Paddington, London, covering the identical period when Sir Eric was switching trains in the State of West Virginia.

A CHANCE REMARK

A leading financier of New York a few days ago, apropos of the retirement of Sir Auckland Campbell Geddes, British Ambassador to America, remarked: "Did you ever hear that his famous brother, Sir Eric, worked in a minor capacity on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad when President L. F. Loree of the Delaware and Hudson was with the Baltimore and Ohio, and that Loree was his boss?"

That was the casual remark. It caused a most fascinating hunt for the facts.

President Loree, at his offices at 32 Nassau street, was equally puzzled, to the extent that he had previously drawn forth a letter from A. W. Thompson, who operated the Pittsburg district of the Baltimore and Ohio under him, in effect that Thompson could not recall Geddes as a former Baltimore and Ohio employee. Mr. Thompson now heads the Philadelphia company operating the gas and electric utilities of Pittsburg.

From 1889-96 Mr. Loree was superintendent of the Cleveland and Pittsburg division of the Pennsylvania lines. He did not become president of the Baltimore and Ohio until 1901-04. His secretary thought President Frederick D. Underwood of the Erie, who had been general manager of the Baltimore and Ohio, 1899-01, might throw some light on the matter.

At Mr. Underwood's office, 50 Church street, search was made, but nothing was uncovered relating to Sir Eric.

By long-distance telephone to Baltimore an appeal was made to President Willard of the Baltimore and Ohio. Came by telegraph from his assistant, James S. Murray, this baffling reply:

"Impossible to confirm Geddes's connection with Baltimore and Ohio. However, certain literature here states he worked for Baltimore and Ohio around early 90's, during the presidency of Charles F. Mayer, as switchman, section hand and laborer and later as station agent."

LIBRARY PRODUCTIVE

When in doubt and all else fails, go to the public library, is an old newspaper maximum. The newspaper "morgues" are all very well in their way, but their contents are not always accurate. Hence, our visit to the New York Public Library.

The very first encyclopedia, a British work, hauled down from the shelves, contained this sentence. "Geddes was connected with railways; first, the Baltimore and Ohio system in the United States, and then—"

The second reference book, an American work, held the following paragraph: "Working his passage to America, Geddes found employment in the Carnegie Steel Works at Homestead, Pa. Afterward, he drifted to Nicollette, near Parkersburg, W. Va., and worked for a time in a lumber camp. He was then (1895) twenty years old. A young woman telegraph operator at a near-by station taught him the Morse code. Geddes's next undertaking was that of switchman on the Baltimore and Ohio. He rose to station master at a small place, remained there three years and then returned to England."

The name of the biographer under the article was Henri F. Klein. From the New York office of the publishers Mr. Klein's address was obtained.

MEETS MR. KLEIN

On the second climb of four sets of stairs at 67 West Eleventh street we were rewarded by the beaming personality of Mr. Klein, a man with a cursory knowledge of twenty-two languages, but perfect in seven of them.

"Yes, I wrote that paragraph, and it is absolutely correct," he said, and added: "I started as a switchman myself over in England—that is, it was my last bit of manual labor before taking up the profession of letters. Moberly Bell, the great manager of the London Times, hearing of my linguistic ability shown as interpreter for "lost aliens" in the Paddington station, sent for me. I traded a 35-shilling-a-week job for one that paid 4 pounds. As I have been a full-fledged American citizen since last Monday, when I received my final papers, I will put that into United States currency—an advance from $9 to $20 a week."

Here we shall part company with Sir Eric, who may have worked for both the Baltimore and Ohio and the near-by Cleveland and Pittsburg branch of the Pennsylvania lines when Loree was superintendent of the latter, for in Mr. Klein, the biographer, we had discovered a personality fully as interesting as Sir Eric.

LONDON NEWSPAPER MAN

We chatted as he brewed for himself a pot of tea, the breakfast beverage of Old Blighty. He had been with the London Times from 1898 for seven years, and ten years afterward with the London Standard. Then, in 1915, he came to America to stay—in his youth he had made nine trips across the Atlantic as a "cattle pusher," stopping for short spells in New York, Boston and Providence.

For the last nine years he has been writing articles for encyclopedias, histories and other standard works. His mind is a vast storehouse of knowledge, and his conversation, on demand, a Babel of languages.

From an old dusty drawer he produced a clipping from the London Times of February 2, 1901, the account of the funeral train carrying the remains of Queen Victoria. "Sir Donald MacKenzie Wallace, head of the foreign department of the paper, and my chief, spared me to write that," he commented. "I was the proper man to do it—I had been shunting, I mean switching, the royal train, in and out of Paddington station for the eight years I was there."

THIRST FOR BOOKS

As a boy, with his father, a theatrical manager, Klein had visited the Near East and all Europe. The thirst for books and their contents was whetted by fleeting impressions then gained when his mind was in the plastic period. His closest friend in England is the venerable Sir Edward Clarke, England's greatest lawyer in Victoria's time.

"It is hard for an Englishman to expatriate," he concluded, "but I belong over here—where they welcome a self-taught man. The United States is a fine country and its people have been very good to me. So I have joined up with them, and at the mellow age of 51, stepped forth in the flesh as my heart had been feeling for a long time, an American citizen."

How singular—This exchange of switchmen: Sir Eric to go home, rich in American experience, to become Minister of Transport and postwar budget cutter, and one Klein of Paddington station, his biographer, to come here to act as index for Old World book lore and to vote with us for our next President.

BUYS ANOTHER THEATER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

OXNARD, Jan. 24.—Mark M. Hansen of this city is now the owner of three theaters in Los Angeles and two in Oxnard, having purchased another showhouse in Los Angeles on North Main street. Hansen owns the New Victoria and Lyric theaters here and recently purchased the Larchmont Theater in the Wilshire district and one on Western avenue. Hansen paid a good price for the Main-street property and is to spend $32,000 on a new front for the theater.

WOOL GROWERS END MEETING

F. J. Hagenbarth Re-elected Association Head

Resolution Demands Tariff be Left Unchanged

Proposed Boost in Grazing Fees Opposed

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SALT LAKE CITY, Jan. 24.—With the re-election of Frank J. Hagenbarth as president, the Fifty-ninth convention of the National Wool Growers' Association closed this afternoon. Mr. Hagenbarth has been president since 1912.

Resolutions declaring that the proposed Forest Service plan to increase the grazing fee should be fought, and that Congressional action make such a raise forever impossible, were passed by the convention.

A request to Congress, to the Tariff Commission and to President Coolidge that the tariff on raw materials be left as it now is, was passed in the form of a resolution.

FAVOR DISTRICTING

The convention also went on record favoring the McNary-Haugen bill which is designed to create an export corporation to systematically export the excess of agricultural products.

Organization of co-operative wool-marketing associations by States was urged. The formation of districts for the systematic marketing of mutton, with the suggestion that better transportation agreements with the railroads could be made by districts, was recommended.

BAY CITY BIDS

The convention city for next year will not be chosen until August. The choice is left with the executive committee.

San Francisco made a strong bid for the convention in the closing session this afternoon. California delegates produced numerous telegrams, including those from the Mayor of San Francisco and from practically all of the commercial organizations, asking that the coast city be given consideration when the executive committee meets. Pocatello, Idaho, also asked for the convention.

SANDALL TO LEAD FOR JOHNSON IN NEBRASKA

APPOINTED BY HITCHCOCK AS HEAD OF COMMITTEE OF SEVEN

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OMAHA (Neb.) Jan. 24.—Announcement that C. E. Sandall of York, will be chairman of a committee of seven to have charge of the campaign by Senator Hiram Johnson of California, for endorsement by Nebraska voters in the Presidential primary, April 8, was made tonight by Frank H. Hitchcock, manager of the Senator's national campaign.

Mr. Sandall, an attorney and former State Senator, will announce members of the committee within a few days, he said.

He added, before returning to Chicago tonight, that petitions to put Senator Johnson's name on the April ballot will be filed soon.

SPORTSMEN HEAR OF NUMEROUS DEER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, Jan. 24.—Henry English of the Clark ranch on the Mill Creek road to Big Bear Valley made the hearts of sportsmen in Redlands go thump, thump today when he broke his way out Creek road. "I saw more than a through the snow over the Mill score of deer as I was coming out," said Mr. English. "They were scattered all along the road and not a bit shy. I saw one group of seven that stood in the snow only a short distance from the road and watched my truck go past. I never in all my experience in the mountains saw so many deer." Mr. English lives within the game reserve and the deer he saw were all within the reserve.

GENERAL INSPECTING POSTS AT SAN DIEGO

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 24.—Maj.-Gen. Charles C. Morton, commanding the Ninth Corps area, began an annual inspection of local military establishments today. This morning he visited the Senor High School and inspected the R.O.T.C., regiment in the Stadium, after which he went to Rockwell Field for inspection of army unity. This afternoon Gen. Morton visited the cavalry posted at Imperial Beach, where Troop G, Eleventh Cavalry, is quartered and later looked over the coast defenses of Fort Rosecrans. At noon he was the guest of the Chamber of Commerce at luncheon.

AUTO LOAD OF LIQUOR TAKEN; MEXICAN HELD

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BRAWLEY, Jan. 24.—City Marshal Verge has arrested Manuel Saldayo on a charge of violating the Wright Act, after he said he discovered the Mexican with five sacks of bottled tequilla and whisky in his flivver. The Marshal said he had been trying for several months to trap Saldayo, whom he suspected to be bootlegging, but this was the first time he had been able to get sufficient evidence to arrest him. Saldayo has lived in Brawley's Mexican quarter for nearly fifteen years, according to he Marshal.

SMUGGLED JEWELS FOUND TO BE PASTE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL CENTRO, Jan. 24.—Frank A. Palmer was arrested by United States customs officers at Calexico and brought to the County Jail for investigation regarding asserted smuggling of diamonds from Mexico into the United States. Now the investigation is said to have developed the fact that the jewels in Palmer's possession were imitations and the charge against him is likely to be dropped.

Steel Earnings Reach New High Total in Year

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Net earnings of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation in 1923 totaled $37,373,228, a gain of $17,579,516 over 1922, Eugene G. Grace, president, reported to the directors today.

The increase, however, was partly accounted for by the absorption of the Midvale, Cambria and Lackawanna companies, whose business helped to swell the corporation's income. Net earnings in the last quarter of 1923 were $9,935,147 as compared with $10,518,951 in the preceding quarter.

STATE FIRE MARSHAL APPOINTS DEPUTIES

JAY STEVENS TAKES OATH OF OFFICE AND MAKES AN ADDRESS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

FRESNO, Jan. 24.—Jay Stevens, recently appointed State fire marshal by Gov. Richardson, began his duties here last night after the oath of office had been given him by W. E. Simpson, Fresno City Attorney. Today he announced the following twelve fire chiefs who will serve as deputy State fire marshals:

Chief Engineers Thomas Baird of Fresno, R. J. Scott of Los Angeles, T. R. Murphy of San Francisco, E. F. Coop of Pasadena, Sam H. Short of Oakland, M. D. Murphy of Stockton, M. Dumphy of Sacramento, George Wallace of Modesto, W. E. Van Meter of Bakersfield, G. Sidney Rose of Berkeley, Louis Almgren of San Diego and G. C. Craw of Long Beach.

Stevens expressed the belief that inspection made possible under the new State law would be great assistance to cities in reducing fire losses and hazards. He addressed members of the Fresno Gas Appliance Society.

Fire Chiefs Murphy of San Francisco, and Scott of Los Angeles, also spoke here today.

MUSCLE SHOALS BID ON BY POWER FIRMS

SOUTHERN ORGANIZATIONS TO MAKE FERTILIZER, BUY ENERGY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Proposal to form a $5,000,000 corporation for the manufacture of up to 50,000 tons of fertilizer annually at the government's Muscle Shoals (Ala.) project, is contained in an offer to be submitted to Secretary Weeks tomorrow by the Southern Power Companies, which also have offered to lease the power plant there in conjunction with three experts in fixed nitrogen production. The rental of nitrate plant No. 1 for the purpose would be fixed by Congress and be calculated in the cost of producing the fertilizer, which would be sold to farmers and other consumers at a profit limited to 8 per cent on production cost.

The lease would run for fifty years, the same period for which the companies—the Tennessee Electric Power Company, the Memphis Power and Light Company, and the Alabama Power Company—have offered to pay the government $100,000,000 for lease of the power facilities.

BRAWLEY WILL JOIN SECESSION PARLEY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BRAWLEY, Jan. 24.—Brawley City Trustees have instructed City Attorney Wilson to attend the conference soon to be held under the direction of the Calexico City Trustees to discuss the plan of having the incorporated cities of the valley secede from Imperial Irrigation District. The plan was proposed by the Calexico officials several weeks ago and was based on a desire to escape irrigation-district taxes which they asserted had become burdensome. The action of the Brawley Trustees followed receipt of an invitation from the Calexico officials to join in the conference.

PLAN TO ENLARGE NAVAL HOSPITAL

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 24.—Plans for enlarging the United States Naval Hospital in Balboa Park have been submitted to the City Council by Capt. F. W. Welber, commanding the institution. The cost of the proposed new buildings will be $1,000,000. One of the buildings will be a hospital corps barracks and another for laboratory and instruction purposes. A mess room and supplies building are included in the group. The new structures will provide quarters for about 300 hospital-corps students and their instructors.

NEW POSTOFFICE AND BANK FOR LYNWOOD

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LYNWOOD, Jan. 24.—The Farmers' and Merchants' Bank of Lynwood is soon to begin the erection of a new bank building which when completed will cost $50,000. The building is to be 35x80 feet. A. E. Daetwiler will also erect a new building 25x80 feet, which when completed will house Lynwood's postoffice. Postmaster Alexander is now making preparations to equip the office. These buildings will probably be completed within the next ninety days.

ANNEXATION ELECTION

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

HUNTINGTON PARK, Jan. 24. A special election is to be conducted March 4 in the Miramonte district, southwest of Huntington Park, to decide whether that section will be taken into the city of Huntington Park.

MONSTER SKATE IS CAPTURED

Eighty - three - Pound Fish Landed Off Pier At Long Beach

[By a "Times" Staff Correspondent.]

LONG BEACH, Jan. 24.—An eighty-three-pound skate, one of the largest fish every landed off the Belmont pier, was caught here today by G. B. Hilbert, 3920 East Ocean Boulevard, after a contest that lasted for more than a half hour.

Three lines were required to bring the big, flat fish to the beach. The fisherman was forced to snag the skate from the end of the pier back to the beach, a distance of several hundred feet. The skate is on display today at a grocery store near the pier.

Warehouse of Concern Burns in Covina Fire

Causing a loss of $30,000, fire of undetermined origin shortly after 10:30 o'clock last night destroyed the warehouse of the San Gabriel Valley Milling Company at Citrus avenue and the Southern Pacific tracks in Covina. The Covina fire department had a hard struggle to save the fruit packing-houses at Hendrix and Stanton avenues, according to reports.

The warehouse was filled with different varieties of grain and seeds. Three carloads standing on the tracks adjacent were saved.

REPORT ON OUTPUT OF FORD COMPANY

IN 1923, CONCERN TURNED OUT 2,200,682 MOTOR VEHICLES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DETROIT, Jan. 24.—The Ford Motor Company made 2,200,682 automobiles, trucks and tractors in 1923, which is 775,059 more than in any previous year, according to production figures, announced today. Of the total 1,918,465 automobiles and trucks were made in this country, and 175,474 in foreign plants, including Canada. To the total of these are added 101,508 tractors and 7235 Lincoln cars.

The figures were coupled with an announcement that the Ford company expects to exceed this figure in its 1924 production, and that it plans to start early this spring on its program of 10,000 cars daily.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. — The output of motor vehicles in the United States during 1923 was placed in a Commerce Department announcement today at a total of 3,634,590 passenger automobiles and 376,257 trucks, as compared with 2,639,760 and 246,281, respectively, in 1922.

SWEETHEART SLAYER IS SENTENCED TO DIE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

RENO (Nev.) Jan. 24.—Thomas Russell, who killed his Indian sweetheart, was sentenced today to death by lethal gas during the week of February 18. Judge J. M. McNamara pronounced the sentence at Elko, Nev. Russell is the third man convicted of murder sentenced to die in February of gas at the Nevada State prison at Carson City. Gee Jon and Hughie Sing, Chinese, will be gassed February 8, unless the Board of Pardons, which meets tomorrow commutes their sentence to life imprisonment.

BELIEVES EXPEDITION WILL SCALE EVEREST

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The summit of Mt. Everest will probably be reached this year, in the opinion of Dr. T. G. Longstaff, member of the last expedition. "It all depends on the weather," he told an interviewer. "If the climbing party reach the same altitude they did last time (27,000 feet) before the eve of the blizzard season, they should successfully accomplish the final 2000 feet, but at that altitude a blizzard would just kill you."

SAN FRANCISCAN GETS ACQUITTAL OF DEATH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—A manslaughter charge against Porter Segnon, son of William T. Segnon, San Francisco capitalist, in connection with the death of Lee Fogarty on November 25, 1923, was dismissed in Police Court today. Segnon had been accused of striking Fogarty with his automobile and driving off. There was other evidence to show that Fogarty was injured fatally in jumping from a street-car.

RAIL CHIEF ASKS TAX REDUCTION

Adds Statement to Report of Great Northern

Warns Congress Against Hampering Roads

Says Dividend Poor Despite Enormous Business

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

ST. PAUL (Minn.) Jan. 24.—Lessening of the burden of taxation borne by the public generally and avoidance by Congress of new or amendatory laws further hampering the railroads is essential to further rate reductions, Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern Railway, emphasized in a statement to the results of 1923 operations of the transcontinental system, made public here tonight.

The Great Northern suffered from the high operating costs—$9,300,000 of which were taxes—so that, despite one of the best years in the history of the company as to the volume of business handled, the net return for the year 1923 was only 4¾ per cent, the report said.

Gross revenues of the Great Northern for 1923 were $120,000,000, but operating expenses totaled $86,000,000 and after the deduction of taxes and rents, there was left but $24,700,000 in net railway operating income. Income from other sources, including dividends from the Burlington road, half of which is owned by the Great Northern, brought the total income for 1923 to $35,000,000. But payment of $17,000,000 in interest left only $18,000,000 for dividends.

This net of $18,000,000 equals $7.23 a share for the year to the 46,000 stockholders, the majority of whom are persons of small means and 3000 of whom are employees.

AUTO-LIGHT SCHEME CAUSES INDICTMENT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—L. D. Williams, Stockton, was indicted by the United States Grand Jury here today on charges of using mails to defraud. The indictment is based on charges that Williams used the mails to further stock sales in what he asserted was a new automobile signal light. Postal inspectors say an investigation failed to reveal a model of the advertised signal light.

YEAR'S AUTO DEATH TOLL IS REPORTED

One Person for Each 3000 in State Killed by Car in 1923

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—One person in each 3000 of the State's population was killed in an automobile accident in California last year, and the deaths averaged one for each 830 registered cars in the State, according to figures made public today by the California State Automobile Association. It is stated that there were 1320 killed by this means in the State last year, while the number killed in the State in fourteen years totalled 10,650.

While the automobile deaths show a gradual decrease on the basis of the number of machines registered, the association has started an intensive campaign to keep them within 1500 this year.

Automobile fatalities in California are more than twice the national figure in the proportionate number of deaths to each 1000 of population, according to the association.

San Francisco recorded one automobile death last year for each 4500 population. Oakland one for each 4500, Berkeley, one for each 7400 and Alameda one for each 17,000. Sacramento showed the most serious situation for the larger cities with one death to each 2900 population.

CONTRACTORS TO END BONDING-HOUSE EVILS

PLAN TO JOIN ROAD OFFICIALS IN INVESTIGATIONS; ELECT OFFICERS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, Jan. 24. — Members of the Associated General Contractors of America demanded a thorough investigation of the bonding situation in resolutions passed today at the final meeting of a four-day convention here.

Bond agents, it was said, are writing bonds for contractors who are incapable of performing their contracts, and it was voted to join with the American Association of Highway Officials and representatives of surety companies to make an analysis of the bonding situation and seek a remedy.

Officers for the coming year were announced at the conclusion of the session. Frederick L. Crawford of Brooklyn, N. Y., was elected president to succeed John W. Cowper of Buffalo, N. Y. Vice-presidents chosen were A. S. Downey, Seattle; Leonard C. Wason, Boston, and H. H. Wilson, Harrisburg, Pa.

Anderson Says Stranger Gave Him $25,000

Deal on Commissions is Told in Detail

Anti-Saloon League Head Grilled in Court

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—William H. Anderson, State superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, today told a strange tale of the manner in which he acquired approximately $25,000 which he asserts he lent to the league.

The story was reluctantly unfolded at the direction of Supreme Court Justice Tompkins, and under the persistent hammering of Assist. Dist.-Atty. Pecora, who is prosecuting the league head on an indictment charging forgery in the third degree.

The strange recital involving the gift of a comparative stranger who, Anderson said, provided the small fortune because he "liked my kind of a darn fool," was made with Anderson on the stand in his own defense, after he had made a categorical denial of the State's accusations against him.

The stranger, he said, introduced himself in the Baltimore offices of the Anti-Saloon League of Maryland late in 1912.

After a futile attempt to induce him to "take a job guaranteeing him $10,000 a year," Anderson told the jury in an even voice, King, because "he liked my kind of a darn fool, and believed in the prohibition cause," invested his own money for the league head's account, and accumulated the tidy fortune for him.

CLIMAX OF DAY

The King testimony provided the climax for the day. Under the questioning of his chief counsel, former Gov. Whitman, Anderson told of his prohibition activities, of the past twenty-five years. He told of his relations with O. Bertsall Phillips, league fund solicitor, whose accusations form the basis for the forgery indictment upon which Anderson now is being tried.

It was before Anderson had engaged him, Phillips previously had testified, that the league head told him he must "split" his commissions on collections when they exceeded $10,000 in any one year. Anderson contradicted this flatly, declaring nothing was said of "split" commissions until June, 1918, at which time Phillips himself proposed that he give his superior a part of his earnings.

PROPOSED SPLIT

"He returned to me after we had had a conference one morning," Anderson testified, "and said he thought it only fair that I take half of his earnings above $10,000 a year, because I assisted him greatly in getting subscriptions. I told him I would think it over."

He thought it over, he said, and agreed that Phillips's proposal was "only justice to me," and for three consecutive years the two shared half of all commissions in excess of $10,000 paid annually to Phillips. Anderson then denied he had told Phillips he preferred to make a certain contract with him "in order to fool the Rockefellers" and added that he had never attempted "to fool anybody."

Speaking of the $4400 which he is alleged to have ordered transferred in the league books from Phillips's salary account, to Phillips's expense account, Anderson declared he had agreed to the transfer in justice to the collector because the money represented "the split" commissions paid to the league head in the year 1920.

TRANSFER EXPLAINED

Asked why he had ordered the item transferred to Phillips's expense account, Anderson replied that he considered it belonged there in view of the fact that the collector was giving him compensation for assistance in inducing persons to subscribe to the league funds.

"I paid the money I received from Phillips to the league," he added.

During cross-examination, Anderson admitted that John D. Rockefeller, and his son had contributed to the league approximately $75,000 a year for three years after Phillips became its fund solicitor. Before that, he said, the elder Rockefeller only contributed $5000 a year.

Mr. Pecora, reminding the witness that he had testified he turned over the commissions received from Phillips to the league, obtained from him the admission that he deposited the commission checks to his personal account.

LEWIS DEFENDS SELF BEFORE MINING MEN

UNION'S PRESIDENT GAINS OVATION AT END OF FIERY ADDRESS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) Jan. 24. Clutching in one hand a copy of a paper named "The Progressive Miner," containing charges that he betrayed the union and caused the loss of the "check-off" to the anthracite miners, International President John L. Lewis defended himself in a fiery address this afternoon, and drew from the delegates at the United Mine Workers' convention one of the most dramatic ovations ever accorded him.

A deep silence came at the end of his defense, then a burst of handclapping, and then yells and shouts. Then J. S. Patterson, a delegate of Rim, Ky., reached the edge of the platform and begged permission for just one word. He threw his arms about in a religious fervor.

"Many times," he cried, "have I gone down on my knees in prayer to Almighty God for our great leader, for you, Mr. President. May God always protect you."

Scores met Patterson's outburst with "amens."

"You can't go into the anthracite fields and tell those men that they were betrayed," President Lewis said. "They will tell you that John L. Lewis can sell them out any time he wants to for $44,000,000 a year. That's what the 158,000 of them got in wage increases because of that conference at which I am charged with selling them out."

CITY PENSIONS PLAN PREPARED

Long Beach Would Reward Police and Firemen

Draft of Ordinance Ready for Councilmen

Twenty Years of Service to Bring Half Pay

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Jan. 24.—The draft of a pension ordinance that will provide pensions for members of the Long Beach police and fire departments, is to be submitted to the City Council next week for its first reading, it was said here today. The draft has been prepared by Burr Brown, City Attorney. Copies of the proposed ordinance have already been submitted to Chief of Police Yancy and Fire Chief Craw.

Provision is made in the proposed pension ordinance for the appointment of three police and fire commissioners who would be held responsible for the administration of the pension fund. The fund itself would be created by setting aside an amount not to exceed 2 per cent of the general tax levy, to be included in the city's annual budget. All contributions and donations to the city fire and police departments all fines imposed on members of both branches of the service and all proceeds from the sales of unclaimed property would also be diverted to the pension fund, according to the proposed ordinance.

Under the terms of the measure all policemen and firemen who have served faithfully in their respective departments may retire after twenty years on a pension amounting to 50 per cent of the monthly salary paid them during the last year of service. A similar pension would be paid to men rendered inactive through sickness or injury in the line of duty. Two thirds of their salary would be paid to men having thirty years of service.

ICE DURATION MARK IS SET AT BIG BEAR

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

REDLANDS, Jan. 24.—A new record for ice on Big Bear Lake was made today when the twenty-fifth day of ice from shore to shore of the big lake was passed. The ice was eight inches thick in most places and today the ice is unbroken with not a crack in it, according to telephone reports from the valley. Skaters have been holding high carnival on the lake and with the breaking open of the Mill Creek road today it is expected that there will be a greater crowd of skaters this week end. Rinks have been formed at Stillwell's Pineknot Landing at Medcalfe Bay and Moon Bay.

CALLS QUIZ OF FLU AT SANTA ANA

State Health Official Orders Investigation of Baffling Epidemic

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA ANA, Jan. 24.—Dr. Walter Dickey of the State Board of Health today ordered an investigation of the source of the intestinal influenza epidemic which has prevailed in Santa Ana for several weeks past.

After a conference with local physicians and health officials, Dr. Dickey announced the peak of the epidemic had passed, but the source has not yet been discovered, and the investigation will be made to discover, if possible, the causes.

Members of the City Health Board, organized last April, informed Dr. Dickey that a thorough analysis had demonstrated beyond doubt that the city water supply was not a source of infection. Dr. J. I. Clark, city health officer, said that there were now about 100 severe cases in the city, as compared with several hundred two weeks ago.

Dr. Dickey came to Santa Ana at the request of local health authorities, and agreed to send a representative of the State Board of Health at once to make an investigation.

Match Causes Destruction of School Building

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

COVINA, Jan. 24.—A lighted match, dropped where some distillate had been poured on the ground caused the destruction today of the manual training building of Covina Union High School and its equipment, valued at $20,000.

The building was a temporary structure, but the equipment was complete and valuable, and there was a considerable store of material in it.

The distillate fire ignited dry grass in which the fire spread rapidly and soon ignited the building. The students got out without trouble, however, as the building was only one-story high. The Covina Fire Department was unable to control the blaze, except to prevent its spread. The loss is covered in part by insurance.

VERDICT OF MURDER

Jury Names Jerry Wiley As Gordon Slayer

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 24.—At an inquest this afternoon over the remains of Hobart Gordon, the Coroner's jury found that "the deceased met his death from a gunshot wound at the hands of one Jerry Wiley with intent to kill and murder."

Coroner Dickson conducted the inquest. Testimony was given by Dr. W. A. Jones of the County Hospital, J. L. Allen, colored porter at the Glenwood Mission Inn; Dr. W. W. Robiee, C. E. Mays of the East Side and Chief of Police Elmer Deiss.

The jury was composed of C. J. Brunk, C. J. Carmichael, D. C. Looney, C. A. Ables, C. Bonham and S. C. Knight.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

BURBANK, Jan. 24.—The failure of gasoline and whisky to mix satisfactorily gave Police Judge Crawford a busy day. Sanford Wood was fined $100 and T. Morrow $200 on their pleas of guilty to being intoxicated. When placed under arrest Morrow was driving an automobile fifty-five miles, according to police. H. C. Cody, pleaded guilty to a similar charge and was assessed $100. G. Pattanex of Watts, Nicolas Perez, Rauel Abril and F. Corella of Los Angeles drew $100 fines each for having liquor in their possession. A. Mills of Glendale got a $100 fine on the same charge.

LOS ANGELES GIRLS FOUND IN VENICE

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Jan. 24.—Frances Weaver and Millie Burgas, pretty young Los Angeles girls, have been turned over to Angel City authorities after having been taken into custody of local police. The girls were returned to their respective homes. Los Angeles authorities came to Venice yesterday looking for the girls, who were reported to have been seen here. They told police that they had come to the bay district to seek work in the amusement zone and that they had postponed several meals.

BEACH TO RUSH GAS PLANT

Work to Begin Monday; City Promises Competitive Service Not Later Than May

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Jan. 24.—Actual work on the construction of this city's proposed municipal gas plant will begin next Monday, when several crews of ditch diggers and pipe layers will be put to work on the laying of a twelve-inch main on Alamitos avenue, it was announced here today by City Manager Windham.

The city will be selling gas to consumers in the downtown district, in competition with the Southern Counties Gas Company, not later than next May, it was promised at the City Hall.

Between 400 and 500 laborers and artificers will be at work on the city's new gas plant next week and every effort will be made to rush the work to an early completion. More than 1000 applications for work have been filed with the Civil Service Commission, it was said.

No trouble in obtaining a sufficient supply of gas for distribution is anticipated, according to City Gas Engineer Burkhart, who declared that the production from the Signal Hill field is larger than ever and that there will be no difficulty in obtaining a steady supply of the fuel.

VENICE REPORTS WILDCAT THEFT

Man is Accused of Taking Maggie and Jiggs from Pier

[By a "Times" Staff Correspondent.]

VENICE, Jan. 24.—During the course of the ages men have been known to steal everything movable, but perhaps the most novel theft ever reported in the Bay District is that of two wildcats from the Venice pier, used for exhibition purposes.

O. B. Hill, who is accused of making away with the animals is in the City Jail on a petit larceny charge. It is asserted Hill stole the animals which were named Maggie and Jiggs and that one died. The other is said by police to have been sold to an animal shop in Los Angeles.

Takes Own Life When His Health Fails to Return

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

POMONA, Jan. 24.—Despondent over ill health M. A. Keith, 46 years of age, a resident of Fort Worth, Tex., until two months ago, shot and instantly killed himself this afternoon at his home here, 909 Huntington Boulevard. The man, said to have had an incurable illness, ate dinner as usual with his wife and brother and appeared in the best of spirits.

Immediately afterward he said he was feeling sleepy and retired to his room. A few minutes later a shot rang out and Keith was found lying on the bed with a bullet wound in his breast and a large caliber revolver by his side. Death was evidently instantaneous.

Chief of Police Lyter was called and made a thorough investigation of the circumstances. According to reports, the Keith family removed to this city two months ago for the purpose of finding relief for the sufferer's malady. Gradually, however, it is said the disease had gotten out of control and the unfortunate man realized his end was near and that all efforts to effect a cure were unavailing.

A few days ago he had wired his brother in Fort Worth to come to his bed as he considered the end near at hand. He leaves a widow and two small boys, 7 and 11 years of age.

HOTEL WALL CLIMBED BY BOLD THIEF

Jewels Worth $1000 Stolen From Tower Suite by Man After Rich Collection

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Jan. 24.—Scaling the side of the Hotel Green, a thief entered the tower suite occupied by N. B. Coulston, president of the Pasadena Hotel Corporation, and his family, and escaped with more than $1000 worth of jewelry, Pasadena police were notified this morning.

Displaying great daring and cleverness, the thief is believed to have climbed the outside wall and forced his way into the Coulston suite. The thief carried away rings, pearls, watches and other valuables. Several keepsakes of the family were also reported stolen.

In the room across the hall, which is occupied by Mrs. A. A. Joley, a pocketbook containing a large sum of money was also taken. The thief escaped through the front door of the hotel, the police believe.

According to Detectives Culver and O'Rourke, the thief was evidently well acquainted with the hotel and its occupants. It is the belief of the police that the man was after a valuable collection of diamonds belonging to Mrs. Coulston. The jewels were not in the hotel at the time, it was declared.

CITY FACES TRIAL

Merchants and Officials Called to Court on Slot Machines

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, Jan. 24.—This city will be called into Justice Court before Judge Garrett at Santa Monica tomorrow morning, together with a number of business men, in cases to determine the legality of gum-vending slot machines. The action to press the test cases was started some time ago when certain business men were arrested for allowing the mechanical salesmen on their premises.

The city's liability in the matter is said to come from licenses issued for the operation of the machines. Should the machines be declared illegal and contrary to gambling laws a host of people will be affected. Prosecutions came from the District Attorney's office, and the defense is in the hands of Attorney Clare Woolwine.

CONTRACTORS ENDING PAVING FOR LYNWOOD

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

LYNWOOD, Jan. 24.—Contractors are now closing up the last lap on Lynwood's campaign of street improvement which has been going on for the past several months, and when completed Lynwood, one of the youngest cities in Southern California, will have twenty-three miles of paved streets. This improvement has been done without bonding the city for a dollar, each owner of property abutting on an improved street paying for it.

NEW DAY NURSERY

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Jan. 24.—Announcement was made today that a new day nursery will be erected in this city soon and will cost approximately $50,000. The new nursery will accommodate eighty children. According to members of the board of directors, a site on Oak Knoll avenue near Center street has been purchased. The property is 225 feet long and 180 wide.

Whittier Will Have Busses in Operation Soon

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WHITTIER, Jan. 24.—Whittier is to have a local bus service owned and operated by the Pacific Electric Railway, according to announcements made by Harry C. Bedwell, local agent.

The service, which will operate over two routes, is to begin Friday, February 1. One bus will serve the northern and eastern part of the city and the other the southern portion, terminals for both routes being the Pacific Electric station on Philadelphia street at Comstock avenue.

Application was made for the franchise last month. It is proposed to have a thirty-minute service the greater part of the day, begining at 5:45 a.m. for the southern loop and 6 a.m for the northern route. The busses will run until 9 or 10 p.m.

School children will be particularly benefited for the routes have been arranged to serve the primary, grade and high schools. This will doubtless be of special benefit during rainy or other inclement weather.

RAILROADS ARE SUED

Damages of $40,000 Demanded in Auto Accident

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL CENTRO, Jan. 24.—Forty thousand dollars damages have been asked in actions filed here against the Southern Pacific Company and the San Diego and Arizona Railway by relatives of Gomensenda Torres and Aurelia Valenzuela who were riding in an automobile which was struck by a S.D. & A. train at Heber.

Torres, who was 16 years of age, was killed. Valenzuela was seriously injured, according to the complaints. The two railway companies were joined as defendants because the S. D. & A. operates trains over the Southern Pacific tracks between Calexico and El Centro.

ANNOUNCES AUDITORS' CONVENTION PROGRAM

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 24.—Albert T. Eaves, Santa Barbara county auditor and president of the California Country Audtors' Association, has announced the program for the annual convention at Del Monte, February 11, 12 and 13.

Mr. Eaves declares that the convention this year will be one of the most important of many years as much proposed legislation is to be discussed and attempts will be made to draw up bills governing county finances. The California Association of County Tax Collectors will meet in conjunction with the auditors.

MANY AFTER JOB OF CITY MANAGER

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 24. — The City Clerk of Santa Barbara has ninety-five applications on file for the job of City Manager, which was left vacant several months ago by the resignation of Fred Johnston to enter business here. Applications come from nearly every State in the Union, but only two Santa Barbara men have applied for the position. As the time limit for filing expires the 31st inst., members of the Council believe they will have at least 150 applicants to chose from.

HOTEL CHANGES HANDS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CORONA, Jan. 24.—A deal has been consummated whereby C. E. Harris and son Lester, formerly engaged in the feed and fuel business, have purchased the Hotel Kinney and will assume management February 1. Mr. Kinney will move to Riverside, where he will engage in business.

POOR HAULS DISAPPOINT CRACKSMAN

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ONTARIO, Jan. 24.—"Say, that ten spot looks like a counterfeit, however, I shall pass it, brother, I shall pass it. So long; trs la."

"I'm terribly disappointed with this evening's work. I am almost forced to the conclusion that crime doesn't pay, darn it."

These messages were scribbled on bits of paper early today by a burglar who rifled the safe at the Ontario offices of the Union Oil Company on East Main street. The cracksman found only $10 in cash in the safe, but helped himself to some electric flashlights, wrenches and other tools which he found about the office.

R. E. Bowen, local manager of the company, was still busy checking over the contents of the office this afternoon. He said the thief had apparently left untouched a large number of gasoline coupon books.

The offices of the Standard Oil Company on East State street and of the Ontario Feed and Fuel Company, Main street and Cherry avenue, were also entered. Little or no loot was obtained.

At the office of the feed company, the time lock of a vault had been knocked off with a sledge hammer but the yegg failed to open the door and had to content himself with a few pennies left in the cash register. Entrance was gained by jimmying a door.

Entrance to the offices of the oil concerns was made by jimmying windows. At the Standard office, a pass-key had been broken off in the lock of the door and office workers this afternoon said the yegg got only 5 cents.

BOYS ADMIT HOLD-UPS

Pasadena Police Say Youths Held As Burglars Confess

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Jan. 24.—The two service stations, robbed last Monday night were held up by two youths now in the City Jail, it was declared today by Chief of Police Kelley. The lads, both of whom are under 20 years of age have, it is said, signed confessions telling of the details of their crimes. They gave their names as Roy Douglas, and Charles Edkins.

The youths were arrested while attempting to rob a local grocery store, the police say. One of the boys was caught outside acting as a lookout and the other walked right into the arms of the police as he climbed from the store window. They were arraigned in justice court this afternoon and each was held on $5000 bail.

CHANGE PERSONNEL OF HOTEL CORPORATION

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, Jan. 24.—Important changes in the personnel of the Pasadena Hotel Corporation were announced today by D. M. Linnard, manager of the corporation. Stephen W. Royce, former manager of the Hotel Vista del Arroyo, was made manager of the Hotel Huntington, the largest of Pasadena famous group of hotels. H. M. Nickerson, who for the past eleven years has been the resident manager of the Hotel Maryland was made its manager, and C. E. W. Moore, one of the directors and stockholders in the corporation will manage the Hotel Vista del Arroyo. Leroy Linnard will now manager the Fairmont in San Francisco and Ernest Drury will manage the Hotel Whitcomb in the same city.

LITTLE BOY DIES AFTER LONG FIGHT

Hurts Were Received in Truck Accident at Long Beach on 3rd Inst.

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Jan. 24.—Little Johnnie Holmes, 5-year-old boy who was caught under an overturned truck in front of his home on the 3rd inst., died today at Seaside Hospital after a three weeks' fight for his life. The body was taken to the Hervey & Woods undertaking rooms.

The boy attempted to run across Anaheim street in front of his home when a delivery truck driven by A. J. Intzler, was passing. Intzler, seeing the boy's danger, swerved his truck into a ditch, upsetting it. The lad was caught by the truck and buried beneath its great weight, sustaining internal injuries.

Intzler's wife, Mrs. Grace Intzler, who was with him on the truck, suffered a broken arm.

According to Dr. R. D. Wilcox, the Holmes boy's fight for life was a heroic one. His injuries were of a type that usually cause death within a few hours, he said.

POLICE SEARCHING FOR J. D. CROWLEY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 24.—Anxiety for the safety of J. D. Crowley, said to be a wealthy insurance adjuster of Los Angeles, who has been missing from a hotel here since the 17th inst., was expressed today by business associates. The police have been asked to find him. It is understood Crowley closed deals here involving several thousand dollars just before his disappearance. M. G. White, local insurance man, said Corwley intended returning to Los Angeles the 18th inst., but White has since learned the missing man did not go to that city. Crowley's effects are still in the hotel here.

PLAN HEARING ON PHONE RATE RISE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

REDONDO BEACH, Jan. 24.—The State Railroad Commission will conduct a hearing here on February 26 on the application of the Redondo Home Telephone Company for permission to raise its rates in Hermosa, Manhattan and Redondo, according to a notice received by city officials today from the commission. Thomas G. Gould, president of the telephone company, announced today that the main reason for the desired increase is to provide money for needed extensions and improvement of service.

TWO THOUSAND SEE SIERRA MADRE PLAY

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

SIERRA MADRE, Jan. 24.—With forty of Sierra Madre's most prominent women included in the cast the Sierra Madre Woman's Club last night presented their much heralded Shakespearean pageant before 2000 people. The affair was one of the most colorful dramatic exhibitions ever staged in the foothill community and was staged in connection with the formal opening of the Cafeteria room of the local club.

DICTATOR GIVES PLAN FOR SPAIN

Says People Want to Work In Tranquillity

Avers Intrigue Necessitated Unusual Action

Expects Another Parliament in Present Year

Following is the first statement made to the American public by Gen. Primo De Rivera, the Mussolini of Spain.

BY G. WARD PRICE

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

(Copyright 1924 United States by North American Newspaper Alliance in Great Britain by London Daily Mail; in South America by La Nacion. All rights reserved.)

MADRID, Jan. 24.—"What the Spanish people want is a government that will enable them to work in tranquillity."

These were the opening words of an exclusive interview given me yesterday by Primo De Rivera, in which he briefly outlined his policy. He clearly indicated his realization of the need to end despotic control and get back as soon as possible the parliamentary institutions. I asked Prime if he would tell me something about the reasons that led him to the supreme and daring step of establishing a new form of government by the aid of the army.

TO REMEDY ABUSES

"It was necessary to establish an exceptional form of government in Spain," said Primo, "in order to put a stop to intrigue and propaganda of a kind that would bring about social dissolution in any nation that allowed them to continue. The results of these tendencies were anarchy, contempt of public authority, administrative chaos and squandering of the public money.

"We are going to try to remedy these abuses and purify our parliamentary methods and conditions before again taking the opinion of the country through its elected representatives. But I believe that in the course of the present year we will have a Parliament again.

"Great though the above program is, the action of the government must, however, go beyond it. We propose to ratify the commercial treaties with other nations, solve the problem of Morocco in such a way that Spain shall be neither demoralized nor ruined by it, simplify taxation, develop industry and agriculture, expand the country's system of communications and establish cordial relations between capital and labor.

METHODS TO APPEAR

"As you see, our program is by no means a modest one. The time for its realization is none too great but the methods which we will employ to that end will gradually appear. I take this opportunity of asking you to convey my very cordial salutations to the great American public."

To the question whether the Spanish Directorate had yet decided to ratify the convention of Tangiers the general replied cautiously that the matter was a very difficult one and the time limit had not yet expired. Of Spain's recently started entente with Italy he said it represents a gradual growth of cordial relations which would find expression, he hoped, in the expansion of commercial intercourse, but gave no indication that its scope might be expected to extend further.

WIND SINGS REQUIEM

Ashes of Altadena Woman Rise From Jersey Shore

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) Jan. 24. The ashes of Mrs. Agnes Temple Scott Davis, who died a month ago in Altadena, Cal., were scattered to the winds while fifty-three pink roses, symbolizing the age of the deceased, floated in wind-tossed waves on the shore here. The body was cremated and the ashes scattered in this manner in accordance with a provision in the will of Mrs. Davis. The words of the minister who officiated at the ceremony were inaudible in the whistling wind.

VANCOUVER PORT BOOMS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Jan. 24.—This port in 1923 shipped more wheat than Columbia River and Puget Sound together, according to a report presented today by the Vancouver Merchants' Exchange. The total was 24,662,017 bushels from this port against 4,214,127 bushels from Puget Sound and 18,521,409 bushels from Columbia River.

BANK STOCKHOLDERS SUED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Jan. 24.—Suits for sums aggregating $61,500 have been filed by Receiver Spurway against officers of the closed Tucson National Bank, all of whom have failed to pay the 100-per cent assessment levied by the Comptroller of the Currency.

MIDDLE WEST NEWS IN BRIEF

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 24.—After almost half a century of uninterrupted work as pastor of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Rev. Henry F. Sprengeler, 77 years of age, former president of the Wisconsin district, Missouri synod, of the church and former chairman of the board of control of Concordia College, died suddenly from heart diseases at his home.

Gov. Blaine told the Wisconsin road school at Madison that he would again veto a gasoline tax bill "or any other tax bill that so inequitably, unjustly and unfairly distributes the tax burden," should the Legislature enact such a measure. The Wisconsin Governor also declared that this State was receiving only a portion of Federal funds for road building which it is entitled to.

Dr. Herman Reineking, widely known Milwaukee physician and surgeon, died at his home. He was born at Franklin, Wis., in 1856 and practiced medicine twenty-four years in Sheboygan and twenty years here. For years Dr. Reineking was associated with the Milwaukee Physicians and Surgeons College and subsequently with the Marquette Medical School.

DETROIT

DETROIT, Jan. 24.—A mother, Mrs. Mollie Rosen, 38 years of age, and her five children were seriously injured when a combination gas stove and water heater exploded in their home.

After an illness of two weeks, State Senator Walter J. Hayes, president of the American State Bank, died at his home in Grosse Pointe. He was 53 years of age. Mr. Hayes was a prominent figure in Detroit banking circles and was widely known because of his political activities.

Neighbors found Ogden Tomlinson, 85 years of age, a veteran of the Civil War, dead in bed at his home at Plainwell. Tomlinson practiced law in Allegan county for nearly fifty years and at the time of his death was village attorney.

MINNEAPOLIS

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 24.—The fight for adequate care of disabled World War veterans suffering with tuberculosis in northwest States has shifted to Washington. Official Minnesota joined with the American Legion to obtain a $1,500,000 appropriation recommended by Brig.-Gen. Frank T. Hines, United States Veterans' Bureau director, with which to build a tuberculosis hospital in this district. A strong delegation representative of Minnesota's government and its military organizations is to be sent to Washington to argue for passage of the bill.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest P. Smith and their son, Hulet Smith, of Groveland Terrace, have left for Los Angeles and Pasadena, where they will spend the remainder of the winter.

John Thompson, 63 years of age, was found frozen to death in his farm shack at Poplar, Wis., near Duluth. Discovery of the body was made by a neighbor when he came to visit the aged man.

ST. PAUD

ST. PAUL, Jan. 24.—Dispatches from Washington say the Supreme Court announced that the costs of the Bois De Sioux River case, brought by North Dakota against Minnesota and recently decided, would be assessed against North Dakota.

The appraisers of the estate of the late Senator Knute Nelson have filed their report in the Probate Court of Douglas county at Alexandria. The value of the estate is placed at $118,585.

William J. Stone, 61 years of age, former chairman of the Douglas county Democratic committee and until his death a member of the board of directors of the Douglas county asylum and work farm, died at his home, Duluth, following a paralytic stroke. He was a prominent member of the Old Settlers' Association and was well-known at the Head of the Lakes.

Charles D. Campbell, 62 years of age, Duluth, is dead, following an illness of several months. For several years Mr. Campbell was department manager for the Duluth Glass Block Company. During his forty-four years' residence in Duluth he made a host of friends and was one of the best-known men in the lake region.

AKRON

AKRON (O.) Jan. 24.—The possibility of the complete motorization of Akron February 1, became a probability with the adoption of a resolution by the City Council Wednesday afternoon, authorizing Mayor Rybolt to invite owners and operators of busses to come into the city February 1. The action followed the definite refusal of Manager A. C. Blinn of the Northern Ohio Traction and Light Company to extend the present franchise two months at a 5-cent fare, pending negotiations for a contract.

Gaining momentum on ice-coated rails, a Forest Hill line street car shot down the grade for 100 feet yesterday before it left the rails at the curve at Furnace and North Howard streets, swayed as women screamed hysterically and fell on its side, causing injury of eleven persons, two of them seriously. M. D. Pelkey, 38 years of age, motorman, was seriously injured.

KANSAS CITY

J. H. (Uncle Jimmy) Black, pioneer Wichita business man and town builder for nearly half a century prominently identified with the city's social and commercial life, is dead at his home at Wichita, death resulting from a paralytic stroke suffered two months ago.

Ice harvesting on Mitchell county rivers, where thickness ranges from six to fourteen inches, is reported in the weekly crop bulletin of the Kansas State Board of Agriculture, issued yesterday. The State's snow blanket still largely protects wheat, despite cold, windy weather which accompanied zero and subzero temperatures most of last week, the reports stated. No damage has been reported from soil blowing, although western Kansas experienced high winds.

ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 24.—Among those going to California for the winter are Mrs. Tom Meston and her small daughters, who leave January 31 for a three months' stay, spending several weeks in Pasadena; Mrs. Frederick L. Davis will leave within a fortnight for Pasadena, where she will spend February and March. Mrs. Alfred Clifford will depart late this month for Pasadena for the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Harry French Knight will leave late this month for Santa Barbara. Mr. and Mrs. James M. Franciscus will leave Thursday for a three weeks' visit in California and will visit Santa Barbara and Pasadena.

William Sherman of East St. Louis was arrested yesterday on a warrant issued several days ago charging him with conspiracy to defraud. Sherman is accused of having converted into cash several thousand dollars' worth of fraudulent orders on funds provided for the poor of St. Clair county.

C. W. Moody, examiner, has been put in charge of the Grove Spring Bank at Grove Spring, Wright county, upon its closing yesterday. The last report of the bank shows assets $72,364; deposits $52,000; loans, $54,885 capital stock, $10,000.

DENVER

DENVER, Jan. 24.—Mr. and Mrs. William Dougan left Thursday for Los Angeles for the rest of the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Kassler, Sr., plan to leave early next month on a trip to California.

Joseph F. Spellman, 52 years of age, for many years western representative of the Chrome Steel Works, widely known in metal mining circles of the West, is dead.

Ed M. Low, prominent citizen of Kiowa county and who served five terms as County Clerk of that county, died at his home in Eads, Colo. He was a veteran of the Spanish-American War and his death is said to have been indirectly due to a bullet wound received in a battle in the Philippine Islands.

LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 24.—Word from Versailles, Ky., says A. T. Harris, 78 years of age, prominent Woodford county farmer and oldest member of the Mt. Vernon Baptist Church, is dead of pneumonia.

John W. Moody, 65 years of age, retired farmer of Auburn, was found dead yesterday. He left the house at 9 o'clock to feed the hogs. When Mr. Moody failed to return for lunch his wife went to the barn and found her husband in a stall. Hogs had mutilated the body.

OMAHA

OMAHA, Jan. 24.—Yesterday marked the twenty-first day of below zero weather in the vicinity of Beatrice. The average daily temperature for that period was 5 below zero. The lowest 20 below. Many of the highways in Gage county are still blocked with snow.

Word has been received here of the death in Denver of Harry Boydston, former Nebraskan, well-known in political and State affairs. Mr. Boydston lived for many years at Nebraska City, then moved to Lincoln, where he was engaged in the life insurance business.

Thirty-five men employed in the Union Pacific shops have been laid off duty at Columbus, Neb., with orders to report again in February. The order, it is said, has also been put in effect in Valley, Omaha and Council Bluffs, since railroad officials claim they have a surplus of idle cars and rolling stock in full repair at the present time.

Mrs. Sophie Shirley McDermott is planning a trip to California and expects to leave in February.

INDIANAPOLIS

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 24.—Miss Mabel Leeman left yesterday for Los Angeles, and other western points. She will be gone three months.

Mrs. T. C. Dow, is in California.

Three State roads were closed on account of an exceptionally heavy snow storm in Northern Indiana. All roads are covered with drifts from four to five feet. Workmen attempted to dig out thirty autos buried in drifts near the Indiana-Michigan State line. The cars are stalled on a highway which is impassable for half a mile. Four-horse teams were unable to budge the machines from the drifts.

The recent extreme cold wave has frozen ponds and lakes to a depth of eight inches, and it is feared that thousands of fish will perish. Many fish and game associations are cutting holes to let oxygen into the waters. The winter of 1918 took a terrific toll of fish.

A handsome two-story brick house at 324 East Thirty-sixth street, which since last November has been the home of Henry F. Campbell, president of the Indianapolis Athletic Club, was destroyed by fire, presumably caused by an overheated furnace. The total loss was estimated at $55,000. The house and furniture were owned by Stanley C. Bohannon, who had rented the place furnished to Mr. Campbell. Mr. Bohannon's loss will amount to $30,000.

Fire originating from a defective flue destroyed the high school building at Velpin, near Petersburg. The town was without fire fighting apparatus. The loss was estimated at $30,000.

PLAN FOR FARM LABOR OFFERED

California Exchange to be Clearinghouse

Uniform Wage Rates Also to be Established

Alien Land Law Not Brought Up at Meeting

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 24.—Decision to form the California Farm Labor Exchange, with the avowed objects of providing a clearing-house for farm labor and of establishing a uniform rate of wages for farm help, was reached at a meeting here today of farmers from counties north of the Tehachapi range of mountains.

The executive committee of the labor exchange, it was decided, will consist of one delegate from each county north of the Tehachapi.

The anti-alien land law and its effect in sending Japanese from the farms was ruled from consideration by J. A. Teagarden of Auburn, in his statement this morning, when he opened the meeting. Teagarden explained the purpose of the convention to be only that of considering means of getting the labor needed for farm operations and he said the question of landlord and tenant has nothing to do with it.

LONG CONSIDERED

The plan for such a labor clearinghouse first took form at a meeting of the executive committee of the California Farm Bureau Federation held at the State convention of farmers and fruit growers at Santa Ana last month. It was decided at that time to try the experiment in Northern California and Teagarden, with the sanction of the organization and as regional director in the Sixth District, issued the call.

The Supreme Court decision has brought much discussion of the Japanese tenant situation since that time; but only insofar as it brings the need for more white labor, and makes more necessary some sort of agency to furnish that labor, does this question affect today's meeting, it was stated.

TO HALT STEALING

In addition to the establishment of a clearinghouse for labor the convention's program calls for the establishment of a wage scale, whereby each district and each farmer in that district will pay the same wages for labor. This is not intended as a move to cut labor prices, it was explained, but more to stop the practice of labor "stealing" through the offering of higher wages.

The call for the convention asked delegates from all the counties north of the Tehachapi, and while not all of them are represented, the attendance indicated the widespread interest taken. Californians, Inc., and other State development organizations also had representatives at the conference.

INJURIES OF W. E. JONES ARE FATAL

Auto Struck Former Attorney-General of Arizona, Friday

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, Jan. 24.—After lingering in coma since last Friday, former Atty.-Gen. Wiley E. Jones died last night in a hospital here. While leaving Greenwood Cemetery, where he had been to place flowers on the grave of a sister-in-law, he was struck by a motor car, which dashed him to the pavement from his bicycle. Burial will be in the family plot in Greenwood, with honors from the State and from a number of orders of which he had been a prominent member, including the Spanish War Veterans.

Two sisters reside in California, Mrs. Oma Dolph of Los Angeles and Mrs. Luella Beam of San Francisco.

The Supreme Court has affirmed the life sentence of Frank La Grange, found guilty of the murder near Prescott of Walter Steinbrook, whose bones later were found, partly consumed by fire. Contention was made that the body had not been identified as that of Steinbrook.

SCORE HURT IN RIOTING OF SAXONS

Radicals Battle Police During Demonstration at Schwartzenberg

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DRESDEN, Jan. 24.—Rioting between police and civilians has again broken out in Saxony, where martial law still prevails.

A violent outbreak occurred today at Schwartzenberg during which a score or more civilians were injured on one side and several policemen on the other.

The riot broke out while Communists were holding a demonstration in the center of the town. As a body of policemen appeared to break up the meeting one of the Reds threw a hand grenade into their midst. The explosion wounded at least six men. The police immediately opened fire with rifles, and the mob fled, leaving the wounded scattered in the streets. Militia units have been sent from Dresden to maintain order and prevent further bloodshed.

Government Kept Busy With False Reports

Truth is Given Out Because of Wild Rumors

Survey of Imports Proves to Be Interesting

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The Department of Commerce is always kept busy denying reports of shortages in important commodities. It has been asserted that the traders interested in booming prices on the exchanges and in the marketplaces have started rumors of lack of supplies. It has been the work of the department to announce the figures calculated to correct these reports. Notable cases have been the reported shortage of sugar and coffee. In each instance prices were affected. Some people made money while others lost. Official statistics, issued by the Department of Commerce, presented the facts.

Americans who live near the coasts and in seaport towns have an opportunity to see the ships and feel that they are in actual touch with foreign traders. Those who live inland often fail to realize their share in what is brought from aboard or in what the country sends forth to other nations.

On an average every man, woman and child consumed $27.71 worth of imported goods in 1923. This included all manner of articles, finished, raw, or in partially finished states. A man in Dayton, O., quite possibly may be taking a Sunday afternoon drive in an automobile which is consuming gasoline made from crude petroleum imported from Mexico. He is unconsciously consuming his share of the national imports. In 1921 the per capita consumption of imports amounted to $23.33, and in 1922 they rose to $47.22. Just before the war imports were only $13.04 for each American, while a century ago—the year 1821—showed per capita imports of but $4.46.

SHIPMENTS VARIED

A wide variety of commodities comes in. For instance, the American people bring in about $46,000,000 pounds of cheese. They export only 5,000,000 pounds. Americans apparently like Limburgers, Camemberts and various foreign varieties better than foreigners like Philadelphia cream, New York State and other native kinds. There are a hundred different varieties of cheese. France probably makes more different varieties than any other country.

Things to eat from a large portion of foreign trade, but Americans import chiefly the luxury foods and exports the solid staples such as wheat, flour and corn.

Rich as the United States is in many kinds of mineral wealth, it produces practically no diamonds, and as Americans like diamonds many of these brilliants are imported annually. More than $51,000,000 was spent for rough and uncut diamonds in 1922, the last full year for which statistics are available. This represented an increase of 82 per cent over the imports for the preceding year. Unstrung pearls to the value of $8,580,000 also were imported.

Even with all the millions of watches made in the United States there are still plenty of Americans who like to carry those of foreign make. Not far short of 2,000,000 foreign-made watches were imported in 1922. They were valued at more than $7,000,000.

LUXURIES PAY HIGH

All these luxuries must pay high customs duties, so that the price the American customer pays is extremely dear.

The importation of works of art continues. Nearly $27,000,000 worth of these luxuries came into the United States in 1922. They included a wide variety of articles. The works of American artists are admitted free of duty, and works of this sort to the value of $346,000 were brought in.

These are chiefly paintings and sculpture made by Americans studying abroad. Many students go abroad every year and work in the schools of Paris or go about Europe visiting picturesque places. Much of their work they desire to bring home, and Congress has permitted them to escape the tariff.

Works of art more than 100 years old also are exempted from the payment of customs duties by a special provision of law. Congress took the position that antiquities have a unique value which almost takes them out of the class of merchandise. One of the theories of the tariff is that it protects the interests of the worker in the home country. The worker who made any articles more than 100 years old no longer needs any protection from his government, and as such an antiquity is likely to have an educational value, no obstacle to its entry is made. In 1922 such ancient works to the value of nearly $20,000,000 were imported. They constituted by far the bulk of all the artistic imports.

The foreign trade of the American people contains a host of interesting phases. Many things made in this country are regarded as curiosities abroad, and probably many more of European or Asiatic or other foreign origin are regarded as curiosities here, so the nations exchange these objects in the course of trade. An Alaskan totem pole would be just as much of a curiosity in Cairo as an Egyptian mummy would be in an American city, and a search of the trade records would show that totems and mummies have both crossed the ocean.

DISTRICT NOTED IN HISTORY MUST GO

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PARIS, Jan. 24.—One whole section of historic Paris has been condemned as being made up of houses unfit for human habitation, and it will soon disappear before the house wreckers. The area to be demolished includes many buildings three to four centuries old and several streets famous in the history of Paris. One of these streets is the Rue Geoffroy L'Angevin, named after the father of Henry II of England, and another is the Rue Quincampoix, where all the bankers in Paris were once to be found. A third is the Rue de Venise, the narrowest street in the city.

The Man In Lower Ten

By MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

COPYRIGHT 1924 BY McCLURE NEWSPAPER SYNDICATE

The story thus far:

Laurence Blakely, lawyer, in partnership with Richard McKnight, is going to Pittsburg with the forged notes in the bureau case to show to John Gilmore, millionaire. McKnight does not want to go as he wishes to visit Baltimore to see a Miss West. As Blakely puts the notes in his pocket, McKnight notices a woman's face watching him from a window in the unoccupied house next door. Blakely transfers the notes to his alligator skin bag. Blakely goes to Pittsburg, gets Gilmore, and there becomes interested in the photograph of his grand-daughter, Allison West, whose vivacious father was a friend of Brenan. He realizes this is the same Miss West in whom McKnight is interested. In a restaurant at luncheon he notices a man and a woman together, discovering a journey which the woman wishes to take alone. He is drinking heavily. Later at the station the woman asks him to get her a lower berth while he is standing in line. He gives her lower 11. His own is lower 10. The train starts out late, delaying the second section behind them. Blakely goes to the smoker and, when he goes to his berth, he finds it occupied by a man in a drunken sleep. The porter puts him in number 9. He can't sleep and goes to the vestibule for air and runs into a woman with bronze braids. She starts as she sees him. He finds a torn telegram in his pocket. "—over ten, our error." "Lower ten, car rear" is supposed to be his berth. He awakes in the morning to find his bag and clothes stolen and others in their place. But he has blundered into berth number 7 in the night. However, nine, his supposed berth, is empty, and the man in lower 10 is found murdered. A charming young girl together and her companion attract his attention. The body is examined both by the conductor and a physician. Blakely is interviewed by an inquisitive man who is trying to solve the identity of the murderer. The conductor holds impromptu court, subjecting Blakely to strenuous questioning. In the midst of this grilling comes the train-wreck and for Blakely—oblivion.

CHAPTER X
THE SECOND SECTION

Have you ever been picked up out of your three-meals-a-day life, whirled around in a tornado of events, and landed in a situation so grotesque and yet so horrible that you laugh even while you are groaning, and straining at its hopelessness? McKnight says that is hysteria, and that no man worthy of the name ever admits to it.

Also, as McKnight says, it sounds like a tank drama. Just as the revolving saw is about to cut the hero into stove lengths, the second villain blows up the sawmill. The hero goes up through the roof and alights on the bank of a stream at the feet of his lady love, who is making daisy chains.

Nevertheless, when I was safely home again, with Mrs. Klopton brewing strange drinks that came in paper packets from the pharmacy, and that smelled to heaven, I remember staggering to the door and closing it, and then going back to bed and howling out the absurdity and the madness of the whole thing. And while I laughed my very soul was sick, for the girl was gone by that time, and I knew by all the loyalty that answers between men, for honor that I would have to put her out of my mind.

And yet, all the night that followed, filled as it was with the shrieking demons of pain, I saw her as I had seen her last, in the queer hat with green ribbons. I told the doctor this, guardedly, the next morning, and he said it was the morphia, and that I was lucky not to have seen a row of devils with green tails.

I don't know anything about the wreck of September ninth last. You who swallowed the details with your coffee and digested the horrors with your chop, probably know a great deal more than I do. I remember very distinctly that the jumping and throbbing in my arm brought me back to a world that at first was nothing but sky, a heap of clouds that I thought hastily were the meringue on a blue charlotte russe. As the sense of hearing was slowly added to vision, I heard a woman near me sobbing that she had lost her hat pin, and she couldn't keep her hat on.

I think I dropped back into unconsciousness again, for the next thing I remember was of my blue patch of sky clouded with smoke, fo a strange roaring and crackling, of a rain of fiery sparks on by face and of somebody beating at me with feeble hands. I opened my eyes and closed them again; the girl in blue was bending over me. With that imperviousness to big things and keenness to small that is the first effect of shock, I tried to be facetious, when a spark stung my cheek.

"You will have to rouse yourself!" the girl was repeating desperately. "You've been on fira twice already." A piece of striped ticking floated slowly over my head. As the wind caught it its charring edges leaped into flame.

"Looks like a kite, doesn't it?" I remarked cheerfully. And then, as my arm gave an excruciating throb—"Jove, how my arm hurts!"

The girl bent over and spoke slowly, distinctly, as one might speak to a deaf person or a child.

"Listen, Mr. Blakeley," she said earnestly. "You must rouse yourself. There has been a terrible accident. The second section ran into us. The wreck is burning now, and if we don't move, we will catch fire. Do you hear?"

Her voice and my arm were bringing me to my senses. "I hear," I said. "I—I'll sit up in a second. Are you hurt?"

"No, only bruised. Do you think you can walk?"

I drew up one foot after another, gingerly.

"They seem to move all right," I remarked dubiously. "Would you mind telling me where the back of my head has gone? I can't help thinking it isn't there."

She made a quick examination. "It's pretty badly bumped," she said. "You must have fallen on it."

I had got up on my uninjured elbow by that time, but the pain threw me back. "Don't look at the wreck," I entreated her. "It's no sight for a woman. If—if there is any way to tie up this arm I might be able to do something. There may be people under those cars!"

"Then it is too late to help," she replied solemnly. A little shower of feathers, each carrying its fiery lamp, blew over us from some burning pillow. A part of the wreck collapsed with a crash. In a resolute endeavor to play a man's part in the tragedy going on all around, I got to my knees. Then I realized what I had not noticed before; the hand and wrist of the broken left arm were jammed through the handle of the sealskin grip. I gasped and sat down suddenly.

"You must not do that," the girl insisted. I noticed now that she kept her back to the wreck, her eyes averted. "The weight of the traveling-bag must be agony. Let me support the valise until we get back a few yards. Then you must lie down until we can get it cut off."

"Will it have to be cut off?" I asked as calmly as possible. There were red-hot stabs of agony clear to my neck, but we were moving slowly away from the track.

"Yes," she replied with dumb-founding coolness. "If I had a knife I could do it myself. You might sit here and lean against this fence."

By that time my return faculties had realized that she was going to cut off the satchel, not the arm. The dizziness was leaving and I was gradually becoming myself.

"If you pull, it might come," I suggested. "And with that weight gone, I think I will cease to be five feet eleven inches of baby."

She tried gently to loosen the handle, but it would not move, and at last, with great drops of cold perspiration over me, I had tosgive up.

"I'm afraid I can't stand it," I said. "But there's a knife somewhere around these clothes, and if I can find it, perhaps you can cut the leather."

As I gave her the knife she turned it over, examining it with a peculiar expression, bewilderment rather than surprise. But she said nothing. She set to work deftly, and in a few minutes the bag dropped free.

"That's better," I declared, sitting up. "Now, if you can pin my sleeve to my coat, it will support the arm so we can get away from here."

"The pin might give," she objected, "and the jerk would be terrible." She looked around, puzzled; then she got up, coming back in a minute with a draggled, partly scorched sheet. This she tore into a large square, and after she had folded it, she slipped it under the broken arm and tied it securely at the back of my neck.

The relief was immediate, and, picking up the sealskin bag, I walked slowly beside her, away from the track.

Board at Port on Application for Bus Permit

Permission to operate motor busses in Los Angeles Harbor again is being sought by the Pacific Electric Railway Company, it was revealed yesterday on the visit to the harbor of President E. F. Bogardus and Chief Engineer Fred Lorenz of the Board of Public Utilities. The survey is intended to ascertain the needs of such service and the sentiment of the port community prior to action regarding the application.

At the time the franchise for double-tracking Sixth street, now under way, was granted, the railway company also sought a jitney clause which would bar present motor-bus operators, but this was denied.

It is understood the application comprehends not only feeder bus lines connecting present tracks but also permission to operate a half-hour bus service between San Pedro and Wilmington around West Basin, fares to be 10 cents or a book of ten for 50 cents.

Six bus lines now serve the harbor district, and it is understood attorneys representing them will combat the Pacific Electric application when it reaches a hearing. One year ago the electric lines reached a point where they were paying, according to Frank Karr, general counsel for the Pacific Electric, and today the company is spending $140,000 in double-tracking Sixth street.

Relief Campaign Being Pushed by Junior Workers

Last year's enrollment in the Junior Red Cross reached a total of approximately 35,000 school children, the membership fee of 25 cents providing a total budget of $6106.

This year it is expected the campaign will prove even more successful and that a full 100 per cent membership may be attained during the enrollment which is being carried on in the city schools this week, and will be extended for an additional few weeks in the schools of the county.

Mrs. J. J. A. Van Kaathoven, president of the Junior Red Cross, is in charge of the campaign, aided by Mrs. Susan B. Dorsey, chairman of the chapter school committee for Los Angeles, and Mark Keppel, chairman of the chapter school committee for the county.

MOTOR-CAR THEFTS

Bureau Reports Total Missing for Day at Thirteen

The theft of thirteen motor cars from the streets of the city was reported yesterday by the theft bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California. As usual, flivvers made up a goodly percentage of the cars taken. The machines stolen and their license numbers follow:

Auburn touring, 560-780 (1924;) Ford touring, 314-713 (1923;) Hudson sedan, 445-426; Durant touring, 44°499; Ford touring, 484-318; Chandler touring, 46°785; Chevrolet touring, 644-426; Buick touring, 54-845; Ford coupe, 558-221 (1924;) Ford touring, 795-285 (1923;) Ford roadster, DE 16131; Ford roadster, 995-244 (1923;) Pathfinder touring, 346-393 (1923.)

SUPPORT IS ASKED FOR RIVER DAM

Chamber of Commerce Urges Aid of Coolidge on Colorado Project

President Calvin Coolidge was asked yesterday by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce to assist in obtaining Congressional authorization for the Boulder Canyon Dam following the adoption of a resolution by the directors of the local organization.

The resolution urges that the early construction of the dam be undertaken and that it be of adequate height to properly control flood waters and to create sufficient power to reimburse the government for its cost. Directors of the chamber adopted the resolution on the recommendation of the body's power and reclamation committee.

Congressional representatives are to be advised of the action of the chamber and it is expected that Congressman Fredericks will have an important part in seeing that the matter is rushed in the House of Representatives.

The following is the message which was sent by William Lacy, president of the chamber, to President Coolidge:

"May we not respectfully convey to your excellency the sense of a resolution this day passed by directors of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce strongly urging the authorization by Congress of the early construction by the United States government at or in the vicinity of Boulder Canyon of a dam adequate in height to properly control the floods of the Colorado River and to generate sufficient power ultimately to reimburse the government for cost thereof, the power or power rights to be fairly allocated by the Secretary of the Interior among cities and other political subdivisions, power companies and other agencies best adapted to generate and transmit such power and distribute the same among people of States of Arizona, Nevada and California.

"Concern felt generally throughout Southern California and Southwest prompts us to urge that your excellency see that matter is given expeditious attention by the proper committee."

PHYSICIAN MAKES PLEA FOR DIVORCE

Former Pittsburg Doctor Declares Wife Injured His Standing

Dr. Frederick A. Rhodes, formerly a prominent physician and surgeon of Pittsburg, filed suit yesterday against Mrs. Amy B. Rhodes for divorce on the ground of cruelty, asserting she had defamed him without cause and hurt his professional standing. He also declared she told his daughter by a former marriage she was merely trying to get as much money from him as she could and would then leave him.

Dr. Rhodes said his wife wrote letters to the wives of his friends and professional associates, accusing him unjustly of undue intimacy with hospital nurses and asserting he was then maintaining a nurse in a hotel. She made similar accusations, he said, to the trustees of the Presbyterian Hospital in Pittsburg, with the result that he was dismissed from the hospital staff and not allowed to send patients there. She spread untrue and scandalous reports about his daughter also, he declared.

The couple were married in 1905 and separated in 1917. Dr. Rhodes practiced in Pittsburg from 1900 to January 1, 1923, when he came to Los Angeles, he stated. John J. McMahon is his attorney.

Tax Warnings Are Sent Out by Goodcell

Three important warnings to taxpayers were sent out yesterday by Collector Goodcell of the Internal Revenue Department. They are:

If your income is more than $5000 use Form 1040—the large form.

If any of your income is from farming, a profession, a business or from sale of property use Form 1040—the large form, regardless of amount.

If under $5000 and from wages, salary or interest, use Form 1040-A, the small form.

Only one of the above blanks reporting your net income should be used. If your net income being slightly below the exemption, should tend to leave you in doubt as to your liability for filing, file anyway.

CEMETERY OPPOSED

Committee Appointed to Present Gardena Protest

The Chamber of Commerce has appointed William Mead, R. W. Pridham and Frank Simpson to appear before the City Council to urge that body to take such action as would prevent the establishment of a cemetery approximately three-quarters of a mile from the center of the city of Gardena.

The Gardena Chamber of Commerce and other civic bodies of Gardena have made a protest in the matter to both the City Council and the chamber, on the grounds that promises were made to the local communities at the time of the annexation of the shoestrng strip to the city of Los Angeles, that in all matters of local concern the city of Los Angeles would be guided by their desires.

The citizens of Gardena are said to be unanimous in their opposition to the proposed new cemetery.

FILM ACTOR ARRESTED

Frank W. Gay, former pugilist and present motion-picture actor, was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Luker on a warrant from Oakland, which charged failure to provide for a 2-year-old child. Gay was lodged at the County Jail. He said he believed his arrest was spitework. He is separated from his wife, he said.

KLAN DRIVE BLAMED FOR RESIGNATION

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

ANAHEIM, Jan. 25.—Declaring that the Ku Klux Klan had threatened his life and was behind the move to oust him, City Recorder J. B. Brown handed in his resignation to the City Council this evening with the statement that he wished to save his friends from an embarrassing situation.

The resignation of Mr. Brown, which was unexpected, and his charges of Klan dominance of the city, created a sensation. He charged in his resignation that the Myers Men's Bible Club, which had initiated the move for his removal from office, was being used as a tool by the Klan in an effort to entrench itself solidly in the community.

The Bible Club some time ago began a campaign to get Mr. Brown out of office. It charged inefficiency and negligence. These charges resulted in an investigation by the Council during the past week.

Many witnesses, who admitted membership in the Klan, gave testimony against the official at the Council hearing. The Council was to have announced its decision in the case this evening, but the resignation came before this was done. It was accepted and will become effective February 1.

Mr. Brown declared he was not giving up his post out of fear for the Klan, but solely because he did not desire to place his friends in jeopardy.

SAYS NOAKS TOLD PLANS TO GET CASH

Girl Friend Testifies He Said He Was Going to 'Promote' Payment on Car

"I'm going to promote Mme. Cacha for another $500 to make another payment on the Lincoln," Lenora Wing testified yesterday R. H. L. Noaks told her, speaking of a new car he had purchased. She was testifying at Noaks's hearing on an embezzlement charge, before Justice Hanby. The hearing will continue today.

Mme. Vacha, the complainant, who had located oil by means of her supernatural powers beneath a plot of ground at Santa Ana, said Noaks had told her he was a former Federal judge in Alaska, had been secretary of Lord Kitchener in Africa, and was certain to be named to the United States Supreme Court in the next Democratic administration, and so gained her confidence. She gave him $4750 to promote the oil company, she said. Alice M. Harmsworth also told of paying Noaks $2000 through Mme. Vacha.

Miss Wing swore she was a very close friend of the promoter's and that he had entertained her on many occasions. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Heinecke and Trippel sought to show through her Noaks used the Prospective Oil Company's funds for his automobile and other expenses.

Mrs. Noaks is charged also with embezzlement. Her hearing comes up later.

Date Set to Lay Corner-stone of Hero Memorial

The corner-stone of the soldiers' monument to be erected in Pershing Square in commemoration of the men who gave their lives in the World War will be laid on February 22 with appropriate ceremonies. The One Hundred and Sixtieth Infantry Band will play.

The memorial committee has been notified that the War Department has authorized the issue of one Victory medal with all battle clasps attached to be included with the other mementos which will be placed in the base of the monument.

WIFE SEEKS TO HAVE MARRIAGE ANNULLED

During his courtship Jack Conway represented himself as wealthy and the son of a Los Angeles minister, but after his marriage his wife learned he was a fugitive from justice, Mary V. Duncan asserted in a suit for annulment of the marriage filed yesterday in the Superior Court. She stated Conway later was arrested in Oakland, tried and convicted in the Los Angeles courts and was sentenced to serve from one to ten years in the State penitentiary at San Quentin. The couple were married in Oakland April 16, 1923, and separated three weeks later, the complaint recited.

MAY DISMISS CASE

Disabled War Veteran Accused of Killing W. S. Fisher

Dismissal of the case against Leo M. Willeford, disabled war veteran accused of the murder of William S. Fisher, may be asked by the prosecution today in Judge Reeve's department of Superior Court on the grounds of insufficient evidence.

Fisher was murdered on January 16, 1923. Shortly thereafter Willeford was arrested and charged with the murder, but his health gave way and he was sent to a hospital. The case has been repeatedly continued and yesterday Chief Trial Deputy Fitts announced that he was considering a motion for the dismissal of the charge.

WOMAN SUFFERING FROM POISON DOSE

Miss Jeanne Waterson, 28 years of age, living at 1321 Shatto Place, was taken to the Receiving Hospital yesterday suffering from the effects of poisoning. Her identity was not learned until the arrival of her sister, Mrs. Walter Tirsing, of Maywood. Her condition was critical.

La Toma de Guadalajara por los Federales

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Enero 24. Después del anuncio oficial de la Secretaría de Guerra, de que había sido evacuada Guadalajara por las fuerzas rebeldes, ha crecido a saltos la confianza en el gobierno del Presidente Obregón.

Hacía un mes que los boletines nos hablaban diariamente de continuos avances, que nunca parecían alcanzar objetivos reales, y el público se estaba tornando escéptico. Debido a esto, ha causado tanta sorpresa le toma de Guadalajara.

Según la información llegada hoy aquí la ciudad capituló sin lucha, sin que ningún bando disparara un solo tiro. Parece que se hizo insostenible la posición del General Estrada por el rápido avance del ejército del General Jesus M. Ferreira, que le amenazaba su retaguardia y se vio obligado el jefe rebelde a una rápida evacuación sin resistencia. El avance se hizo desde el Estado de Nayarit. Dícese que durante la última semana, el Coronel Manuel C. Castro, por un lado, y el General Luis G. Casas, por el otro, estuvieron movilizando tropas desde la costa de Nayarit y el sur de Sinaloa, para atacar a Estrada por detrás, en tanto que Amaro continuaba avanzando desde la base federal de Irapuato, a la vez que reconstruía el ferrocarril hacia Guadalajara.

De allí que se viera obligado Estrada a dividir sus fuerzas en cuatro columnas, evacuando Guadalajara para no dejarse embotellar. Sus tropas salieron rumbo a Michoacan, y de un momento a otro se espera que tome a Morelia, capital del citado Estado.

Las fuerzas de Estrada se hallan ahora divididas en cuatro partes: una que manda él mismo, y las tres restantes, mandadas por Rafael, Manuel Dieguez y J. Domingo Ramirez. Tres de ellas están intentando efectuar un movimiento hacia el flanco federal desde sus actuales posiciones en Michoacán, en tanto que la cuarta va hacia el noreste, en dirección del Estado de Guanajuato.

Prueba la Policía una Máquina de Descubrir Mentiras

Ayer quedó instalado en la Estación un "descubridor de mentiras" mecánico, que proporcionará, según lo expresó el Jefe de Policía Vollmer, una "modificación humanitaria y simplificada del tercer grado". El aparato es invención de un pasante de la Universidad de California, Dependencia Sur.

El prisionero por examinar es llevado al cuarto donde está la máquina, y allí se le ajusta al brazo un manómetro de presión sanguínea, poniéndole otro alrededor del pecho, y se dispone un pequeño rodillo de papel con un lápiz móvil para que registre las "reacciones emotivas".

Se pone en marcha el mecanismo, y los oficiales de policía comienzan a interrogar al preso. Al contestar el reo a cada pregunta, el registrador deja señaladas las reacciones. Del estudio de las impresiones que deja marcadas el instrumento se pueden colegir con verdad las emociones del reo al hacérsele cada pregunta.

Mrs. Leonardt Dies Suddenly; Rites Tomorrow

After a very brief illness Mrs. Carl Leonardt died suddenly at the California Hospital yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Leonardt, who was a native of Manheim, Germany, was 63 years of age and had been a resident of Los Angeles for more than thirty years. Her sudden death came as a surprise to her many friends. She leaves a husband, Carl Leonardt, for many years a contractor of Los Angeles, now president of several cement companies, and residing at 2 Chester Place. She also leaves two daughters, Mrs. Amy Leonardt Powell, 687 South Oxford street, wife of Frank Powell, vice-president of the Southwestern Portland Cement Company, and Mrs. Clara Leonardt McGinnis, 554 South Virgil street, wife of F. S. McGinnis, assistant passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific Company. Mrs. Leonardt was widely known for her charitable activities, which continued for many years.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Vincent's Church.

Case of Deputy Who Shot Man in Raid Nears End

The case of Deputy County Constable Charles Adams, charged with manslaughter, is expected to go to the jury in Judge Crail's court today. Adams is accused of fatally shooting Nicola Pietrantonio, an asserted bootlegger, during a raid on Pietrantonio's home near Burbank on June 1, 1923.

Adams admits the shooting, which he said was done in self-defense. Attorney John Richardson spent most of the time yesterday adducing testimony to show that Pietrantonio was guilty of the offense of which he was suspected, and that the raid was justified.

SUDDEN DEATH UNSOLVED

Antonio Munoz, 45 years of age, of 2821 Malabar street, was taken ill suddenly yesterday in a Brooklyn-avenue car and died on the way to the Receiving Hospital. The death cause was undetermined.

Industry Fair Notice Sent to British Consul

Godfrey Fisher, British Consul here, received announcements yesterday concerning the British Industries Fair at London and at Birmingham, Eng., April 28 to May 23, and the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley, London, between April and October.

The British Industries Fair, the tenth annual, shows all the principal manufactures for the special convenience of foreign buyers. The first half of the fair is at London, the second at Birmingham, with a week-end intervening.

The British Empire Exhibition, called the "biggest thing of its kind ever attempted," will show wares from India, Canada, Australia, South Africa, New Zealand, Newfoundland, West Africa, East Africa, the West Indies, the East Indies and practically all the other colonies? The British government will have a special exhibit. Several international conferences are scheduled for Wembley at the same time, including the international advertising convention.

DRAIN SEWER WORK ORDERED SPEEDED UP

In order to speed up the work of building the Arroyo de la Sacatela storm-drain system, the City Council yesterday ordered the condemnation of all necessary rights of way for the storm-water pipe lines and the presentation of a new ordinance calling for the work to be done under the act of 1911. Agreements have been obtained for rights of way from a majority of the property owners through whose land the storm-drain lines will be constructed, and these agreements will assure early court awards in the condemnation suits.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE
Coast and Geodetic Survey
Tides, Los Angeles Harbor

Note—The following tabulation of the tides is compiled from the Pacific Coast Tide Tables of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, in which the times are arranged in the order of occurrence, beginning with the first tide after midnight in the left-hand column. There are usually four tides, two high and two low, each day; but occasionally what would be the fourth tide occurs after midnight and then becomes the first tide of the next day. The columns of heights give the elevation of each tide above the plane of reference of the Coast and Geodetic Survey chart soundings, except where the numbers are preceded by the minus sign, or dash, when the heights are below the plane. The tabulations are issued by the Field Station of the Survey, Custom House, San Francisco, Cal.

Sunrise and sunset are computed for Los Angeles Harbor. Moonrise and moonset for Los Angeles.

PORT NOTES

The Pacific Mail liner Venezuela is scheduled to arrive at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning from New York and Central America with a capacity passenger list and heavy cargo. Sixty-four cabin passengers are to disembark here, with an equal number continuing to San Francisco.

Both lines report heavier winter travel than had been expected, accommodations being sold out on west-bound liners several weeks ahead of sailings.

Upon completion of her voyage from Seattle, starting yesterday the Admiral liner Dorothy Alexander will be withdrawn from the Puget Sound-California service, and after a brief layup for overhaul will be placed in the Portland-California service. She will make her first trip in the new service sailing from Portland February 22 and weekly thereafter on Saturdays. As the President Jackson was on the Pacific run many years and has a large following among coast travelers.

The Transmarina freighter Suwarinoo from New York arrived yesterday, via the Canal, where her captain reported having sighted the American fleet. In maneuvers, the battleships stripped for action and scouting planes soaring overhead in the Caribbean. She brought 2000 tons of general freight for this port, and has 1000 for San Francisco.

DAILY MARKET LETTER OF THE NEW YORK COMMERCIAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Decided strength was shown throughout the citrus fruits market today. The range on Florida oranges was $1.75 to $7.75 per box and the average was about $2.50 to $4.50, sales totaling 9595 boxes. Florida grapefruit ranged from $1.37½ to $4.62½. For Sicily lemons the range of prices was $2.10 to $2.37, the average price being $2.50 to $2.75.

A quiet situation persisted in the canned goods market. Prices as a rule were steady. A feature was the continued strength in tomatoes as there is very little left in first hands.

RAISINS

A large business has been developed on bakers' Wednesday special raisins at 6½ cents by the Sunmaid Raisin Growers. The larger bakery interests it is understood have been actively engaged in the market up until today which was the last day that the association would confirm orders for this grade at this figure because they could not accept additional orders on this special item due to inability to effect shipments before February 1.

Prices therefore now stand withdrawn subject to a new price being issued February 1. The market for apricots is firm for standard cots and the demand is quite steady. Strength previously commented upon in evaporated apples was due, it develops, to appearance of large foreign buying interests. The market for currants is reported as stronger.

SUGAR

Operations in raw sugar futures disclosed renewed support from Cuban and European interests. The spring months sold within a comparatively narrow range, March easing from the best of $4.90 to $4.86½ and May from $4.95 to 4.92. Early today offers appeared rather liberal but holders' ideas were 5c cost and freight. A fair-sized business was done during the day in Cuban and Porto Rican raw sugars to refiners at 4 7-8 cents, however. The net change at the close today was 1 point higher to 2 points lower.

In the actual sugar market the following invoices were confirmed as having been consummated in the sugar market: 5000 bags of Cuban raw sugars to the American Sugar Refining Company, at 4 7-8 cents cost and freight for prompt shipment; 10,000 bags of Cuban raw sugars for prompt shipment to New Orleans refiners at 5 15-16 cents, cost and freight; 15,000 to 20,000 bags Porto Rican raw sugars for prompt, and the first half of February shipment at the equivalent of 4 7-8 cents for Cubas are 6.65 cents delivered; 6000 Cubas also sold to Warner at 4 7-8 cents, prompt clearing. A confirmation also came through of the sale of a cargo of Cuban raw sugars to the United Kingdom for January shipment at 26s 6d equal to 4.76 cents f.o.b. Cuba.

As raw sugars appear to be accumulating to some extent in the hands of refiners there was a belief that definite readjustment of price would soon be announced by refiners. Prices today were without change at from 8.25 to 8.50 cents.

COFFEE

Coffee futures today offers of July at a slight concession were quickly snapped up and fairly good buying shortly appeared in July and September contracts. Brazilian cables were easier with a loss of 3-32d in the Rio exchange rate on London to 6 11-32d, with the dollar up 150 reis and the term market unchanged to 275 reis net lower.

At the same time Santos gained from 75 to 225 reis. After purchases of the near-by months interests with Brazilian connections extended their activities to the distant positions. All positions but March went into new high ground. The final net gain today was 3 to 13 points.

POLITICS MAY RUIN TAX PLAN

Party Expediency Likely to Scrap Mellon Reform

French Franc Imperiled by Too Liberal Borrowing

Our Foreign Trade Position Business Reflector

BY ARTHUR D. WELTON
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1924, Public Ledger.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—With superior capacity for weighing public sentiment and distinguishing between the reality of it and mere noise, Congress, the reporters say, has decided that it will not pass the Mellon plan, but it will, of course, reduce taxes. It will reduce taxes not according to any scientific method, if there is any such, but according to the influence a reduction may have on votes. It will be of more than passing interest to hear what influence the kind of reduction in prospect will have on votes.

For political purposes voters are divided into Republicans and Democrats, with a scattering of others under various designations. The Mellon plan, enacted into law, might bring glory and votes to the Republicans, but what is going to come is nobody's plan if the prophecies are correct. The bill that President Coolidge will be asked to approve or veto will be a hodge podge of ideas and a diffusion of schemes. If the Mellon plan, which was simple enough in its presentation, is already defeated taxation has ceased to be a matter of party credit for campaign purposes and become merely a promise of action. Promising is more to the politician's taste.

EXPLAINING THE FRANC

It is a poor speculator who cannot explain the fluctuations of the French franc. That uncertain monetary unit, having declined to about the point predicted several months ago, has yet to justify the new predictions that are now being registered. French writers and politicians are sure the decline is the result of an assault by ghoulish speculators who are thus expressing their enmity to France, it is a good explanation to offer the French.

In view that what has happened has long been apparent, why go further than to say that unsound fiscal policies are as sure to operate in the case of a nation as of a corporation or individual. The decline of the frang in terms of dollars is merely a manifestation of French insistence on borrowing instead of taxing and putting no restraint on expenditures. Like any corporation, France has borrowed to a point where its promises to pay are being heavily discounted, in relation to foreign currencies the policy shows itself in shrinking value for the franc. In relation to domestic values it shows in higher prices. The franc will continue to go down, as measured by dollars, and prices in France will continue to go up, as measured by commodity values, until France will take a serious view of what happened to the mark and act more vigorously that she has yet done.

OUR FOREIGN TRADE

The foreign-trade position of the United States as told in the statistics for 1923 reflects both the business condition within the country and beyond its borders. During the first six months of the year the revival of business proceeded at an unprecedented rate. There was a large demand for merchandise of all kinds. Production at home was stimulated and American buyers, armed with dollars, were scouring Europe for bargains. At the end of six months it was found that imports had passed exports in value and the balance of trade was adverse.

Midsummer brought a change. The domestic demand slackened. It was a fine demonstration of the theory that imports tend to move with domestic activity while exports, responsive to demand abroad, move up or down regardless or with small regard to home conditions.

Merchandise exports during the last six months of the year were satisfactory. Declining imports brought the year to a close with a favorable trade balance of $375,948,000. This was little more than half the balance of the year before, but it may indicate the expectable condition this year if conditions in Europe are not brought to stability.

If, as the figures for 1923 indicate, imports move according to domestic conditions and exports according to conditions abroad, the question arises as to how demand for American products in foreign fields may be influenced by selling efforts and financial accommodation on the extension of credit to foreign buyers. If any one of several bills pending in Congress becomes a law some light may be shed on this vexed question by experiment.

A good many members of Congress cling tenaciously to the idea that anything can be sold abroad in any quantities if credit is given. Three or four years ago exporters and bankers had the same ideas. Millions of dollars' worth of American goods were shipped and credit was given—credit against the goods, usually. The plan brought heavy losses. The memory of the experience has not failed yet. But the government might do better.

BUSINESS MORTALITY

Less Than Five Million Loss in Southern California for Entire Year; Daily Trade Talk

Business mortality in the Pacific-Southwest during the year 1923 amounted to slightly less than $5,000,000, according to a report by the research department of the First National Bank of Los Angeles and the Pacific-Southwest Trust and Savings Bank, compiled from figures furnished by R. G. Dunn & Co. Aside from banking suspensions and personal bankruptcies which are not included in this record, insolvencies in the fourteen southern counties of California last year numbered 534 with $4,960,660 of liabilities.

As is frequently the case the report states, owing to pressure of annual settlements the first quarter of the year had a large number of trading defaults. Trading failures numbering 117 were reported during this time with aggregate liabilities of $892,481. Manufacturing defaults numbered seventeen, but were smaller in volume, totaling only $88,353. Total liabilities during the second quarter of the year registered a material increase over the first quarter. Trading failures were slightly larger in number although less in amount, while manufacturing defaults were three less in number, but larger in liabilities. The third quarter, as is usually the case, showed the best record, both in manufacturing and trading concerns and registered a net decrease of twenty-eight in number and $470,000 in liabilities as compared with the preceding quarter.

The increase that normally occurs in the late months of the year was present and both the number and liabilities during the final quarter were heaviest of the year. This increase was occasioned in part by the abnormal gain in manufacturing defaults which in turn was swelled by several large contracting insolvencies, but the number of trading failures was also in excess of the earlier quarters and the combined total more than doubled the liabilities of the third quarter.

Further analysis of these statistics shows that 13 per cent of last year's commercial defaults occurred among manufacturers, 45 per cent represented traders and 2 per cent agents, brokers and other similar interests which cannot properly be classified under either of the other headings. The percentage of manufacturing liabilities to the total amounted to over 28 per cent as compared with 70 per cent for traders and 2 per cent for all others.

The record of the business mortality for the year by quarters in the Pacific Southwest is given herewith:

Trading	No.	Liabilities.	Mfg. No.	Liabilities.
First quarter	117	$ 892,481	17	$ 88,353
Second quarter	14	442,188	139	1,000,000
Third quarter	11	118,357	92	440,519
Fourth quarter	26	758,502	126	1,000,000
Total	68	$1,334,773	454	$1,940,000

All Other.	No.	Liabilities.	Total. No.	Liabilities.
First quarter	3	$ 6,881	136	$1,000,625
Second quarter	3	14,240	127	1,456,240
Third quarter	5	33,450	109	641,307
Fourth quarter	2	27,943	156	1,712,954

HOUSMAN EXPANDS

Further expansion on the part of A. A. Housman & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, was announced yesterday by the Southern California managers, Gordon B. and Allan H. Crary. The office at 515 West Sixth street is being completely remodeled to include the doubling of floor space, the lengthening of the quotation board, and private offices for the executives and large traders.

Gordon B. Crary, in charge of the West Sixth-street office, stated that the home office in New York has decided to make the Southern California business a complete unit in the system, aside from San Francisco, although the two divisions will co-operate to the fullest extent. In order to handle the execution of orders more efficiently, a complete accounting department will be installed, and probably another private wire obtained.

M. Eyre Pinckard and F. H. Shaughnessy, the partners in charge of the San Francisco territory, will devote their attention more exclusively to the offices in that vicinity and in the Northwest, where the Housman organization has recently expanded. The Southern California managers, in addition to their two downtown offices, opened on the first of the year at Pasadena, and anticipate further extensions later on.

FRUIT EXTRACTORS

Seven thousand Sunkist fruit juice extractors were sold to the soda fountain trade in the 1922-23 season by the California Fruit Growers' Exchange. The Sunkist Courier estimates that each extractor consumes fifty boxes of oranges and lemons per year, or 1500 carloads annually for the 12,000 extractors now in service.

The extractors are sold to the fountain trade approximately at cost, and are stimulating the consumption of citrus fruits in a satisfactory manner.

ERIE CONSENTS

The Erie Railroad has notified C. O. Cornell, traffic manager of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, of its consent to the publication of the $1.55 rate on oranges to New York, which became effective December 3, 1923, over other lines. The Erie declined at that time to join in the movement on the ground that it had asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for a higher rate on its Chicago to New York haul.

Officials of the exchange, however, convinced the Erie that concurrence in the orange rate would not prejudice its case with the commission, and it has added its agreement to the $1.55 rate, plus a 3-cent terminal charge to points in the New York metropolitan district.

MARLAND OIL

Marland Oil stockholders voted yesterday to approve the amendment to the charter authorizing the oil company to sell unissued stock to banking interests. Under the vote by the stockholders, the company is enabled to deliver the shares direct to the bankers without first offering them to the stockholders.

A Dow, Jones & Co. dispatch estimated that the financing would insure the stability of the company's financial position.

YOUR INCOME TAX

Income tax is imposed upon net income, which is gross income less certain specified deductions for business expenses, losses, bad debts, contributions, etc., the Bureau of Internal Revenue explains.

Exemptions for married persons and heads of families are $2500 on incomes of $5000 or less and $2000 on incomes in excess of $5000. Taxpayers are allowed also an additional credit of $400 for each person (other than husband or wife) dependent upon and receiving chief support from the taxpayer, if such dependent person is under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective.

If their combined net income is subject to the surtax, a married couple will pay a smaller tax by filing separate returns. Either husband or wife, but not both, may claim the personal exemption, or it may be divided between them in such amounts as they desire.

There is inserted in the revenue act a qualifying clause in justice to those persons whose net income just exceeded $5000. The act provides that the reduction of the amount of the exemption shall not increase by more than the amount of net income in excess of $5000 the tax which would be payable had the exemption been $2500. This has no application where the combined net income is $5020 or more.

The presence of a wife in a sanatorium or her unavoidable absence because of ill health does not change the marital status, and the full exemption is allowed the husband. If for any reason a temporary separation exists, the full exemption is allowed, but if continually and voluntarily the husband makes his residence at one place and the wife at another they are not living together within the eye of the income tax law.

A single person, if the head of a family, is allowed the same exemption granted married persons, according to the amount of net income. A head of a family is a person who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more persons closely related by blood, marriage, or adoption and whose right to exercise family control and provide for these dependents is based upon some moral or legal obligation. Mere support of relatives does not entitle a taxpayer to a status as the head of a family.

Neither the personal exemption nor the $400 credit for dependents may be prorated on account of a change in status, marital or otherwise, of the taxpayer during the year. Status is determined as of last day of the taxable year. Similar conditions exist with respect to the personal exemption allowed the head of a family and the credit for dependents.

In the income-tax returns of married couples must be included the income from their earnings of dependent minor children. The parents are allowed, however, a credit of $400 for each such child under 18 years.

Frequently a minor is released from parental power. In such event a return is required of a minor (or guardian) if the minor's net income was $1000 or more, or $2000 or more, according to his marital status, or if gross income was $5000 or more.

Maxwell Motor Issue Offered by Syndicate

Chase Securities Company and Blair & Co., Inc., are offering today $5,000,000 Maxwell Motors 7 per cent ten-year sinking fund convertible gold debentures due 1934, to stockholders in the company at 98 and interest to yield over 7.25 per cent. The debentures are convertible into the Class "A" stock at $75 a share.

A sinking fund will retire $250,000 of the debentures annually, or 50 per cent by maturity. The proceeds of the issue will be devoted to the retirement of maturing indebtedness, after which the company will have no long-term obligations outstanding.

Maxwell Motors produces the popular-priced Maxwell car, and announced at the New York Automobile Show the creation of the Chrysler six, which is said to have been the sensation of the show.

The syndicate offering the debentures will take all those not subscribed by the stockholders, and offer them to the public.

COTTON GOODS PRICES WATCHED BY TRADERS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The local cotton futures list was active in today's trading, quotations showing a steady to firm undertone during most of the session. The trade, however, was still in a waiting attitude to see what effect the recovery would have on cotton goods prices.

The upturn of the past few days was credited mainly to a move against Liverpool and New Orleans short interests, outstanding since last week's decline, rather than to any new developments in the commission house selling in the first part of today's session, which resulted in moderate declines. The list rallied sharply on good buying by local bulls and shorts, showing gains of 15 to 26 points. At mid-session the list ruled firm, around the best levels of the day. Afterward profit-taking sagged the list off 45 to 50 points from the top and the list closed steady, 20 to 33 points net lower.

Spot was quiet, 20 points decline, 33.80 for middling upland.

Southern markets: Galveston, 33.70, 25 points decline; New Orleans, 33.75, 25 points decline; Savannah, 33.14, 32 points decline; Augusta, 33.56, 32 points decline; Memphis, 33.75, unchanged; Houston, 33.60, 40 points decline; Little Rock, 33.75, unchanged.

They Bear Scrutiny

THE type of investor who buys bonds, scrutinizes carefully. Street Improvement Bonds appeal particularly to this type of investor.

Every dealer selects the type of purchaser whom he wishes to reach; he then sets up a standard and furnishes the kind of security that meets with his requirements.

Probably the main features of an investment are the security and the income. Street Improvement Bonds are a first lien against property, are tax free, and yield 7%.

The more careful the investigation of these securities, the stronger is the conviction of their reliability.

We ask your consideration of these issues of San Bernardino City Street Improvement Bonds, with 7% interest, and complete tax exemption.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Liberties Sour

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Buying of Liberty bonds, stimulated by an abundance of cheap money and prospects that the Mellon tax-reduction plan will be accepted, today sent the third 4 1-4s to par for the first time since 1923. Other United States government and Treasury issues were strong. An advance of convertible copper and sugar bonds, influenced by favorable trade condition, also featured today's trading. These gains were offset, however, by losses in Virginia-Carolina Chemical liens and by weakness in Sinclair Consolidated Oil 7s and United States Steel 5s.

An improved demand was manifest for the railroad issues, St. Paul bonds displaying renewed strength after the recent wave of profit-taking.

METAL MARKETS

Daily Review

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLEVELAND, Jan. 24.—Daily Metal Trade today says: "Active buying of steel bars at Pittsburgh, especially by jobbers, is feature of market. Chicago steel trade has received added stimulus from purchases by agricultural implement makers who plan an active distributing campaign in spring at possibly slightly advanced prices. Pacific Coast pig iron consumers are quoted advanced prices to $26 by Scottish producers. Western railroads are buying additional refrigerator and tank cars while Eastern lines also add to rolling stock. Copper is stronger at New York at 13¾@13⅞. Zinc is strong at 6¼ and lead also at 6¼ at St. Louis. Tin declines slightly to 51¼.

NEW YORK CURB

Higher Prices

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Stock prices pointed upward in today's moderately active session of the curb market. Most of the active oils improved fractionally in response to reports of another reduction in crude output and higher commodity prices.

Further accumulation took place in Glen Alden, which established a record high at 36½, on speculative expectations of an increase in the dividend. Similar strength developed in some of the public utilities. Brickmont Machinery touched a new high for the year at 12 on publication of a report showing profits of $250,000 last year despite the unsettlement of the oil industry. New Jersey Zinc and Todd Shipyards made moderate gains.

Following are the closing quotations on the New York Curb market. Furnished by Logan & Bryan, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 639 South Spring street.

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

With two wells on production, one ready to make a production test this morning and another in the oil sand, the Compton field occupies the center of the stage again today in Los Angeles basin activities.

The General Petroleum Corporation admitted last night that it has completed a perfect water shut-off job in its Gardena No. 1 well, which stands three-quarters of a mile north of the Union's Callender No. 1, and about 600 feet south of Julian's Pico well.

Late yesterday the General Petroleum crew had finished running in the tubing and was making preparations for a production test in the Gardena No. 1 this forenoon. Several days ago, when the cement plug was drilled out, the gas pressure blew mud and oil almost to the top of the derrick, according to reports from the field. Company officials are said to be confident that the well will prove to be a good producer when it is tested today.

Union Carson In Sand

The Union Oil Company's Carson No. 1, located a few hundred feet southwest of Callender No. 3, picked up the oil sand late Wednesday at 3940 feet, and suspended drilling at 3944 feet, according to officials of the company. The crew is now reaming at 2900 feet, and will ream to the bottom, preparatory to running casing, and cementing, it is said.

The significant feature of the Carson well's discovery of the sand is thought to be the fact that it was found more than 100 feet lower than the sand in the Callender No. 3, in spite of the fact that it is on the opposite side of the Callender well from the General Petroleum Corporation's Gardena No. 1, which found the sand 1000 feet deeper.

This fact, according to oil operators seems to indicate that the structure dips downward on both sides of the Callender wells, which might mean that these wells are at the top, or near the top of the structure. It is recalled that the Callender No. 3 picked up the sand at 3816 feet, which makes a difference in depth between the Callender No. 3, and Carson No. 1 of 124 feet, which is considered to indicate an unusually precipitate drop in view of the comparatively short distance which separates the two wells.

The Heilman No. 1 well which the Union is drilling east of the Callender No. 1, across the road, is reported to be fishing at 3420 feet

Solvang Settlers Win

The way was cleared yesterday for the opening of a large prospective oil field in Santa Ynez Valley when a jury trying a suit brought by the Santa Ynez Valley Development Company against fifty-six residents of the Danish-American colony at Solvang decided that the oil rights belong to the former owners of the property.

For ten years the Solvang residents have been fighting to keep drillers off their property. During the long trial just ended here they asserted that agents used fraudulent methods in selling them the land for agricultural purposes while oil rights were retained by the Santa Ynez Valley Development Company.

Solvang was settled about ten years ago, most of the Danes purchasing property outright. The land, it was asserted by the plaintiff in the suit, had previously been leased to an oil company.

When this company sought to start drilling operations the Solvang settlers used every effort to prevent them and about three years ago suit was brought against them to decide ownership of oil rights. Eight days were consumed in the trial.

Cleaning Out

The Culver No. 1 well in the Huntington Beach field has been taken off production, and is being cleaned out to increase the yield, it is reported. The well is 5000 feet deep, and if the flow does not increase sufficiently, it will be rigged to the pump. This well is located in the Garfield section of the field.

To Go On Pump

The Kissau Syndicate's No. 1 well in Huntington Beach is to be placed on the pump, it is reported. The well has produced over 300,000 barrels of oil, and is still flowing at the rate of about forty barrels per day, it is said.

Get Big Well

The Crown City Syndicate's Graham No. 1-A well on the southeast slope of Signal Hill has been placed on production with an initial flow of 1200 barrels per day, it is reported. The well was completed by the Meeon Drilling Company at a depth of 4989 feet, and the yield is said to be 31 gravity, with 400 pounds pressure.

Wildcat Spudded In

The wildcat well of J. W. Jamesen and associates on the Bixby lease, east of Olive, has been spudded in, and the stovepipe casing has been set at 150 feet, according to officials of the Eskridge & Craise Syndicate, which is interested in the well. The well is located on an 800-acre tract, subleased by Jamesen from Eskridge & Craise, who acquired 2000 acres from the Bixby interests.

Down 910 Feet

The No. 1 well of the Rancho de la Puente Company in the San Jose Hills, three and one-half miles east of the town of Puente, is drilling ahead at 910 feet, it is reported. The bit has passed through a hard shell formation, and is in shale, it is said.

Price Boost Stimulating

Renewed activity on an intensive scale is expected in the Signal Hill field as the result of the recent boost in the price of crude oil at the well, it was indicated there yesterday. Signal Hill interests have already started ahead with plans for spudding in wells that have been delayed for some time. This is particularly true of wells in the northwestern extension of the field.

The California Drilling Company has announced its intention of spudding in Regina Judd No. 2, near the milk sanatorium, west of American avenue. The San Martinez Oil Company has spudded in Booth No. 2 on Obispo avenue, near Green No. 1, and the Shell Company yesterday completed spudding in its Alamitos No. 14. A grading gang is engaged in preparing sites for its Alamitos Nos. 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19.

Plans for completion of work on Ebersole No. 1, just west of the Kimball truck factory, are ready, it is asserted. This well was drilled to 2128 feet by the Rogers & Edwards Drilling Company, and work was suspended. By putting this well down to the top sand it is believed there will be renewed drilling activity throughout that area.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Petroleum stocks were generally stronger yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, while the Goodyear issues exhibited buoyancy in the industrial group. United Eastern was the outstanding spot in the mining list with a break of 4 cents to 82.

Spirited trading occurred in Standard Oil of California carrying the price up 1-4 at the finish to 65 1-4. General Petroleum common sold up 1-8 to 39 3-8, while Union Oil Associates lost 1 point at 52 7-8. Union of California sold around 119, but closed at 118¼. Shell Union was behind 1-8 at 17, and U. S. Royalties annexed 2 cents at 23.

At a final price of 78½ Goodyear Textile moved forward 2 points. Goodyear Tire and Rubber preferred was strong at a closing quotation of 87, up 3-4 of a point. Globe Grain common sold off 2½ points to 67.

Transactions in the San Joaquin bonds centered in the 7s of 1951, pushing the price up 1-4 of a point. Southern California Telephone 5s of 1947 were sold at 91½, and Pacific Gas and Electric 7s of 1940 were up ½ point at 107.

MARKET REVIEW

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—With transactions on the stock exchange running beyond 1,000,000 shares for the first time since last Thursday, prices of industrial stocks were advanced today; a considerable number of them rising 1 or 2 points. The movement was somewhat unevenly distributed and there were some declines. But the trend of that part of the market was distinctly upward, the "averages" reaching the highest figure of any day this year.

Railway shares had no part in the day's advance. Most of them changed little and there were as many fractional declines as advances. This may or may not have had any connection with today's "carloading returns" for the second week of January, the first since that of December 22, to cover an uninterrupted six-day week. This statement showed the week's loadings to have been 645 cars under the same week of 1923, but otherwise well above any other corresponding week on the record. On the whole, the showing was more favorable than might have been anticipated, especially since the magnitude of the loadings at this time last year was attracting wide attention. Loadings of general merchandise, indeed, in this week's statement exceed the figure of 1923.

Sterling and francs recovered today most of the ground which they had lost the year before. This kind of succession of small backward and forward movements usually means that the influences lately at work on a market have spent their force.

The weekly Federal Reserve return again attracted interest notably because of the $24,500,000 decrease in outstanding note circulation, making $290,000,000 reduction since December, as against $242,000,000 in the same weeks of 1922, and because the system's ratio of reserve reached the highest percentage since the month in which the United States declared war on Germany. This present reserve percentage of 86.4 exactly matches the rate reached in the week ending August 9, 1922; otherwise it holds the record since the spring of 1917.

"PAN" SHARES FALL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Buying orders were well distributed in today's stock market and the general list moved upward without much difficulty until just before the close when a partial reaction set in on the latest disclosures in the Senate investigation of naval oil leases. Resumption of pool operations in various sections of the list, based on a series of favorable trade advices, brought about extensive short covering, net gains in a number of the active issues ranging from 1 to nearly 4½ points.

Steel shares were buoyant on reports that orders were now exceeding shipments and that the trend of metal prices was again upward. Total net earnings of the Bethlehem Corporation, made public after the market closed, were $37,373,228 last year as against $19,793,712 the year before.

American Can was the leader of the so-called "Big Four" touching a record high at 110 3-4.

High-priced specialties again attracted considerable interest. Corn Products jumped 5 points to 179½, another new record high; National Lead crossed 150, also a record price and United Fruit advanced 3 points to 191 on publication of the 1923 annual report showing earnings of $23.09 a share on the common as against $18.85 in 1922.

Pan-American issues spurted upward in the early dealings on the announcement of President Wylie of Mexican Petroleum, that the company had resumed production in districts where the rebel activities had forced suspension, but on publication of the testimony of President Doheny, that he loaned former Secretary of Interior Fall $100,000, they broke to 50 3-8 and 49 1-8, respectively, closing slightly above those figures for small net gains on the day.

Special buying took place on Philip Morrison reports that the company had closed negotiations for the handling of another well-known brand of cigarette.

Rails again lagged behind the industrials. Call money remained at 4 per cent. Time rates eased slightly, more funds being available at 4½ per cent for the shorter maturities. Demand sterling rallied more than a cent to $4.22, other foreign exchange holding steady. The Japanese rate, which has been heavy lately, showed moderate improvement.

Total stock sales 1,062,000 shares, twenty industrials averaged 99.04; net gain .85. High 1923, 105.38; low 85.76. Twenty railroads averaged 83.84; net gain .13. High 1923, 90.51; low 79.52.

WOMAN IS VICTIM OF GAS BLAZE

Burns in Clothing Fire Fatal to Aged Matron on Imperial Street

Mrs. Frances Leonis, 73 years of age, 613 Imperial street, died yesterday in Lincoln Hospital of burns received earlier in the day when her clothing caught fire at a gas heater.

Mrs. Leonis ran screaming outdoors. Mrs. Mamie Barron, a negress, ran to her aid and beat out the flames, but Mrs. Leonis had been burned from head to foot. She was taken to the Receiving Hospital and attended by Police Surgeon Dorn, then transferred to Lincoln Hospital.

She was the mother of J. B. Leonis, a banker of Vernon, and of Michael A. Leonis, superintendent of the Globe Cotton Oil Mills. Her grand-daughter, Marie Monquini, is a film actress at the Hal Roach studio.

FRENCHMAN HELD ON WHITE SLAVE CHARGE

Louis P. Lhereaux, alias L. Arthur Martin, a French meat cutter, was taken into custody at Long Beach yesterday on the charge of violating the Mann White Slave Act. He was arraigned before Commissioner Long, who held him in a bond of $2500 to answer to the Federal grand jury. The girl in the case is Miss Nettie Patterson, and it is alleged that Lhereaux made the trip with her from Oregon City, Or., to Long Beach in an automobile. The girl was turned over to a local home where she will stay until the case is disposed of. She is very much attached to Lhereaux and will stick to him to the end, so she says. Lhereaux says he went to Long Beach to go into business and that he intended to marry Miss Patterson next summer. She is but 16 years of age.

SKULL OF BOY IS FRACTURED BY CAR

Clyde Curtis, 16 years of age, of 2031 West Fiftieth street, was perhaps fatally injured yesterday afternoon when he stepped between two street cars at the intersection of Thirty-ninth street and Vermont avenue. The boy had got off a southbound car and walked around the front of it directly in the path of a northbound car. He was knocked down, striking his head on the front step of one of the cars. At the Receiving Hospital, where the injured boy was taken, it was stated he was suffering from a depressed skull fracture. Police Surgeons Mahning, Dodge and Goodrich performed a trepanning operation in an effort to save the boy's life.

HARBOR IS INSPECTED BY EXPERT

Frances Lee Stuart Taken on First Trip About Port by Committee

The local viewpoint of Los Angeles Harbor was given Frances Lee Stuart, noted consulting engineer engaged by the Committee of Two Hundred, on a tour of the water front yesterday. It was the most thoroughgoing examination yet made by the New Yorker, who will pass a large part of the next ten days in his first cursory examination. Mr. Stuart made no statements and asked few questions, but was bombarbed on all sides by information about the harbor's development and plans for the future. Any statement, Mr. Stuart said, would be made public through the Committee of Two Hundred in due course of time.

The party assembled at the California Yacht Club for luncheon, afterward inspecting the east and west basins, main channel and outer harbor in Fire Commissioner Kayes's private power yacht Bing.

Maynard 'McFie, acting chairman of the Committee of Two Hundred, had charge of the party, which included Mr. Stuart, Harbor Commissioners Edgar McKee, C. J. Colden and O. B. Kibele; Maj. C. P. Leeds, W. K. Barnard and F. B. Cole, also consulting engineers employed by the Committee of Two Hundred; Seeley W. Mudd, chairman of the plans committee; C. W. Ludlow, harbor engineer; Burt Heinley, secretary of the committee; Fire Commissioner J. W. Kayes and Phillip A. Warner, private secretary to Mr. McKee.

Date Fixed for Opening of New Arcade Building

The new $5,000,000 Mercantile Arcade Building will be officially opened to the public on the evening of February 14. The opening will be attended with elaborate ceremonies in which 1000 of the city's most prominent residents are to participate as the guests of A. C. Blumenthal. Film stars have been asked to aid in the ceremonies, which are being arranged by Sid Grauman and Charlie Chaplin.

A grand ball in the basement of the structure will follow the formal ceremonies, the music to be furnished by Abe Lyman's Ambassador Hotel orchestra. Refreshments also will be served during the dance.

Mr. Blumenthal stated yesterday that many of the offices are already leased and that before the formal opening all of them will be taken.

PLAN FOR FESTIVAL

Andersen Event to be in May at Elysian Park

Plans have been started by the Playground Commission for the tenth annual Hans Christian Andersen festival scheduled for May 3 in Elysian Park. The committee in charge of the affair, including members from civic organizations, will meet at the office of the commission in the Bullard Block today. Fairy tale plays are to be selected and preparations made for entertainment of children from every playground district.

The Music Week committee will meet next Tuesday at the City Club to formulate plans for the observance of Music Week the first week of May.

TESTIMONY HEARD IN APARTMENT QUARREL

Testimony was heard yesterday in Judge Jamison's court where a battle, which raged in a West Tenth-street apartment-house last February was described in the damage suit brought by Phillip R. Wray against Eugene Woodie and James J. Douglas, owners of the apartment-house, for $7750 damages. Wray and Lewis G. Bennett, according to the testimony, escorted two girls home to the apartment-house, but were unable to get inside, as neither had keys, so Bennett climbed through a window and opened the door. A fight with a negro janitor ensued, in which Wray sustained a broken arm.

STREET PLEAS GRANTED

Petitions from property owners asking for the improvement of Council street, between Western avenue and Ridgewood Place, and of Templeton street, from Chadwick Drive to Portola avenue, were granted yesterday by the City Council.

JOINT RECEPTION

Stanton Post, No. 55, G.A.R., and Stanton Post, W.R.C., will have a joint reception today from 2 to 5 p.m. at Patriotic Hall, 1816 South Flower street, to greet their newly elected officers.

WORLD FLAG DESIGNER IS GUEST HERE

Rev. J. W. Van Wirk of Youngstown, O., internationally known as the designer of the "World Flag," which won him a seat at the Twentieth International Peace Conference at The Hague in 1913, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday for a visit of a few days. While here Mr. Van Kirk is a guest of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Mr. Van Kirk, who is the author of "World Patriotism," sung to the tune of "America," and also of the "Declaration of International Independence," carries the original "World Flag" with him whereve he goes. During the last three years he has been traveling over the country in an automobile, and in that time he has spoken before 973 high schools and colleges, and addressed, hundreds of clubs and church congregations.

Unique in design and color, the "World Flag" contains forty-six stars, representing the number of separate states internationally recognized at the time the emblem was designed. The stripes in the flag represent the seven prismatic colors of the rainbow. The flag is connected with a picture of the world by white stripes or cords running out from the colors, and converging into a broad white belt that goes horizontally through the middle of the earth.

"The various colors represent the multiplicity of nations, peoples and ideas, while the broad white belt represents the unity of mankind," said Mr. Van Kirk. "All the colors, blended, produce white, and all nations, living in peace, produce that perfect unity that is manifest through harmony."

MASONS TO HONOR GRAND COMMANDER

The Masonic Club of Los Angeles will be host at a reception Friday noon at the clubrooms at the Alexandria to Albert E. Boynton, Grand Commander Knights Templar of California. Mr. Boynton is also Senior Grand Warden of the Grand Lodge, F. and A. M. of California. He will address the members of the club and their ladies. Mr. Boynton has been identified with many civic matters, and will address the Masonic Club on important matters. The Masonic Club orchestra will furnish a musical program. William J. Chick, director of singing for Los Angeles Consistory, will introduce to the membership for the first time the Masonic Club Quartet. A cordial invitation to visiting Masons and their ladies is extended.

ROAD TO GET FRANCHISE

The Union Pacific (Salt Lake) Railroad Company was yesterday given notice by the Council that a franchise will be granted the company to lay a spur track across Ninth street at Wilson street to connect tracks on the company's property near-by. Ultimately, there will be a separation of grades.

With the organization of the Associated Motion-Picture Producers completed, Will H. Hays, president of the Motion-Picture Producers' and Distributors' Association of America, left Los Angeles at 5 p.m. yesterday for his home in Sullivan, Ind.

Mr. Hays declared he was satisfied with the results of his visit here and predicted that the new association will be of great benefit to the entire film industry.

Fight Rages on Plan to Annex Sherman Area

The campaign over the proposal to annex the West Hollywood district and Sherman to Los Angeles has created keen interest. Anti-annexationists met at Sherman last night to perfect their plans for the special election next Tuesday.

Various speakers declared it would be folly for Sherman to vote for annexation, as they said incorporation with Los Angeles would mean the cessation of improvements now under way in the community. It was also said Los Angeles is already overannexed and cannot take care of its immediate needs, much less provide for the needs of communities recently annexed. No one spoke for the annexationists.

Among the speakers were W. D. Larabee, C. W. Slater, Fred H. Taft, L. L. Pierce and others. Both pro and antiannexationists are scheduled to conduct mass meetings in Sherman this evening.

AUTO CLUB TO GIVE REWARDS

Starts War on Drivers Who Forsake Victims

To Pay $250 for Conviction in Fatalities

Offers $50 in Case of Crashes Without Death

In an effort to bring to justice drivers of motor cars who kill or maim and speed away, the Automobile Club of Southern California yesterday announced that it will pay rewards to those who furnish information leading to the arrest and conviction of such motorists.

The action of the club was taken as a means of reducing the number of cases in which motorists flee after an accident and in the face of reports that the number of such cases is increasing rapidly.

TO PAY $250 REWARDS

The club will pay $250 to anyone who makes possible the arrest and conviction of a driver who has sped away after a fatal accident and $50 in the case of an accident which was not attended by fatalities.

It was pointed out by the club that during 1923 there had been a total of sixty-five cases in Los Angeles county where reckless drivers had sped away after an accident without attempting to comply with the law which calls on drivers to stop and render all possible aid to victims after an accident. Eleven such cases were reported from Orange county and five from San Diego county.

MANY ACCIDENTS FATAL

The majority of these accidents, the records of the club show, resulted either in death or injury and it is to apprehend such drivers as figured in these accidents that the rewards are offered. The information regarding such drivers, officials of the club said, can be given either to the District Attorney of the county in which the accident occurred or to the secretary of the club.

The resolution putting the system of rewards into effect was adopted yesterday by the club.

Court Ties Up Oil Delivery Temporarily

A temporary restraining order preventing the United States Royalties Company from delivering petroleum to any organization other than the Shell Company of California was granted yesterday by Judge Ira F. Thompson to the latter firm. A bond of $50,000 was ordered posted, and in thirty minutes attorneys for the defendant appeared in court with it. Simultaneously, the Shell company handed over a check for $26,000 for oil received from the defendant.

The Shell company filed suit, asserting that the defendant was violating the terms of contract, covering the delivery of oil, whereby 12,000 barrels should be turned over each day. The restraining order will be in effect until the case comes to trial. Major Walter K. Tuller represented the plaintiff.

SPECIAL GUARD IN COURT

Deputy Sheriffs Fear Attempt to Liberate Trio Facing Charge of Chapman Murder

Acting on information that friends of three men on trial for murder might attempt to rush the courtroom, a special guard in charge of Deputy Sheriffs Coyle and Townsend yesterday watched Jack Ferdinand, John Geregac and Jack Sears, accused of the murder of Charles Chapman, insurance broker.

Before the defendants were taken back to jail from Judge Avery's court, the guard cleared the courtroom, and the hall through which they had to pass.

The State rested its case at 3:10 p.m., yesterday, just after the testimony of a surprise witness, Detective Lieutenant Evans. The officer told of a conversation overheard between Ferdinand and Mrs. Haggy in a visitor's room at the County Jail on the 10th inst. He said he was seated in the next room.

"There's no chance for me. My neck will break," Evans quoted Ferdinand as saying in response to Mrs. Haggy's question of how he was getting along.

TRUTH ADVISED

"How did you get into this?" Evans said Mrs. Haggy asked.

"My own fault," he said Ferdinand answered. "I should have stayed on the job instead of going back to Smoky (a nickname for Geregac) and Sears. Now there are too many to identify me."

"Better tell the truth and take a chance," Evans said Mrs. Haggy advised.

"I've got to fight. That's my only chance," he said Ferdinand replied.

The three men are accused of shooting Chapman in the back

Mechanical Lie-Detector Is Given Try-Out

POLICE TRY MACHINE TO DETECT LIES

Chief Vollmer Obtains Device Which Permits Humane Third Degree

A mechanical "lie detector," designed to give what Chief of Police Vollmer terms a "modified, simplified and humane third degree," was installed at Central Police Station yesterday. The device is the invention of an undergraduate at the University of California, Southern Branch.

The prisoner to be examined is brought into the room where the machine is kept. One attachment, a spygno manometer, or register of blood-pressure, is attached to his arm. Another is wrapped around his chest. A small roll of paper with a moving pencil is designed to record the "emotional reactions."

The device is set going, and the police officers begin to ask the prisoner questions. As each is answered, the detector records his reaction. From a study of the record, Chief Vollmer says a satisfactory account of the prisoner's emotions when each question is asked can be adduced.

A similar device was used by Chief Vollmer at Berkeley in the examination of more than 5000 prisoners, and the Chief says the results were uniformly satisfactory.

Bert T. Vernon, a negro, was the first victim of the "lie detector." Vernon, asked if he had shot and killed Luther Wills the 22nd inst., replied, according to the police, that he had.

As about seventy-five witnesses to the shooting are said to stand ready to corroborate Vernon's statement, the test of the machine was regarded as conclusive.

Vernon and Wills quarreled, it was said, over the eviction of the latter from the former's house.

HOSPITAL PATIENT HAS TERSE RESPONSE

"Why did you take chloroform?" was the question asked yesterday of Clara King, 23 years of age, of 1933 Arapahoe street, after she had been taken to the Receiving Hospital. "It's none of your business," the police say she replied. "You brought me down here, now take me home again." They did, and that closed the incident.

TWO JULIAN PARTY FIGHTS

The pugilistic invasion of Hollywood by the C. C. Julian party in the wee small hours last Monday morning was in reality chapter two of a less spectacular but more serious affair, it became known here yesterday.

The night before Charlie Chaplin "soaked" a man he says was C. C. Julian in the eye and knocked him down at the Club Petroushka in Hollywood, the oil promoter figured in a brawl in which his secretary and right-hand man, Jack Roth, struck and seriously injured Dr. Ora I. Tower, prominent Los Angeles physician, at a party given at the home of Lewis B. Chase, wealthy Los Angeles oil man.

ROTH PAYS DAMAGES

Roth, according to Nat Arlock, manager of the Club Petroushka, and other participants in the Hollywood affair, is the man who settled for the damage caused at the club.

Incidentally, the disclosure of the attack on Dr. Tower only served to deepen the now famous mystery of "Who Got Knocked for a Row of Oil Derricks in Hollywood Sunday Night." Mr. Julian said he was in San Francisco when Charlie Chaplin swung his trusty right. The brief but eventful appearance of Mr. Julian and his party shortly before midnight Saturday at Mr. Chase's home, 255 South Normandie avenue, Los Angeles, would seem to make his presence in San Francisco at the time mentioned by him a matter of "convenient geography," Dr. Tower pointed out.

Facts surrounding the first chapter of the famous encounter became known yesterday when it was learned that Dr. Tower is contemplating legal action against Mr. Julian's manager. Pending definite steps in that direction Dr. Tower has sent word to Mr. Roth that he is anxious to take the matter up with him in a more direct manner as soon as his injuries heal.

NOSE BROKEN

Dr. Tower is suffering from a broken nose and other fractures considered to be serious. The doctor is family physician for the Julians and the Cases.

At the time of the attack on him, Dr. Tower says, he wore glasses and was leaning on a cane, having been suffering from lumbago. The doctor had just come down from one of the rooms on

TINY CHILD IS RESCUED BY WOMAN

Negro Boy, His Clothes Ablaze, is Saved by Prompt Action

Mrs. Roy Stephens of 5518 Long Beach Boulevard risked her life yesterday to rescue a negro boy of 4 years, Charles A. Smith, of 5512 Long Beach Boulevard. The child had been left alone by his mother, Mrs. Mamie Smith, had ignited his clothing playing with matches, and had run, frightened, into a closet where he closed the door. Mrs. Stephens saw smoke, located the child by his cries and got him out, though the closet was ablaze.

Sergeant Morgan and Officer Becker of the University ambulance discovered that although the child's clothing had been burned off, he had suffered little injury. They administered first aid for his slight burns. Damage to the house was about $200.

CHINATOWN TO TELL WORLD

Section Organizes Chamber of Commerce and Gets Ready to Advertise its Advantages

Chinatown is through with its mysticism; if it ever possessed such a thing, and in the future is going to be as conventionally American as Gopher Prairie. As a starting point, it organized itself a chamber of commerce last night and is preparing to step out and let the world know what it's all about.

Like Hollywood, Chinatown believes it has been discriminated against. Opium smokers, kidnapers and gunmen do not lurk in the dimly lighted section; in fact, Chinatown believes soul selling for a sandwich in Hollywood is far more common than any of the things credited to the section.

"Pure fiction," said Lew Sung Kai, curio dealer and president of the new organization, in describing the popular opinion of Los Angeles about its oriental section.

"Chinatown very nice place come to," he said. "We treat white people very fine."

NOT TO HAVE CZAR

Chinatown isn't going to hire itself a czar, like the motion pictures and baseball owners have done. It's simply going to start its new year, which begins February 3, with a determined effort by its new chamber of commerce to correct the erroneous opinion that most people have of Chinatown.

Chinese, as a rule, very seldom

Girl Struck by Automobile May Die of Injuries

Evelyn Alter, 8 years of age, suffered internal injuries from which she may die yesterday when she was struck by an automobile at Twentieth and Hoover streets. She lives at 1335 West Twentieth street and was taken to Receiving Hospital for treatment. The driver of the car, the police say, was D. J. Brooks of 623 1-4 East Thirty-fifth street.

VENTURA BOULEVARD LAND SOLD FOR COUNTRY CLUB

Purchase Includes 886 Acres; Five Golf Courses, Home and Hotel to Represent $2,500,000

One of the largest realty transactions completed in the last few months is the purchase of 886 acres on Ventura Boulevard near Tampa Boulevard as the site for a proposed clubhouse to be built by the Mountain View Country Club. Including the purchase of the land and contemplated improvements a sum in excess of $2,500,000 is represented in the deal.

According to announcement yesterday by P. C. Pickrell, secretary of the new organization, plans are nearing completion for the erection of a clubhouse and hotel, four stories in height, the construction of five eighteen-hole golf courses and several tennis courts. When the project is completed it will be the largest combined club and hotel in the United States, it is stated.

INCORPORATED RECENTLY

The club, which was incorporated recently with a capitalization of $3,500,000, is intended for those who do not desire to pay the large charge for memberships of other similar organizations and for those who want a country club membership where every social and recreational advantage is offered.

An architect has completed preliminary plans for the buildings and it is the intention of executives of the club to obtain services of several other designers to supervise construction. The hotel wil contain 200 rooms for men and women, and the clubhouse veranda will provide accommodation for more than 1000 persons. A shower and locker building will be erected adjoining the main building with more than 100 showers for men and fifty showers for women.

It is planned to build the clubhouse and hotel on a knoll which has a natural elevation of about eighty feet and commands a view of the surrounding country for many miles, including the five golf courses. A large swimming pool, planned to be the largest of its kind in the West, will be built between the locker building and clubhouse.

ALL UNDER IRRIGATION

Mr. Pickrell stated yesterday that the club project is not a real estate proposition and that no effort will be made to sell any portion of the tract for subdivision purposes. He said that all parts of the property now are under irrigation.

Officers of the Mountain View Country Club include Charles H. Barnett, president, who is also associated with the Merchants' National Bank and the National City Bank of this city; Robert S. Odell, vice-president; Mr. Pickrell, secretary; R. H. Jacobs, treasurer, who is also associated with the National City Bank, and A. D. Burt, assistant secretary.

Another important building and real estate deal is the erection of an eight-story loft and garage at 818 South Grand avenue, to be leased by W. A. Shortsleeve, head of the Auto Cleaning Company of this city. Architects Curlett and Beelman have been commissioned to prepare plans and MacDonald & Kahn have been awarded the contract to erect the building.

For the purpose of acquiring the property, it was leased for ninety-nine years at an estimated rental of $1,000,000 for the term of the lease. The lot is sixty feet wide and 165 feet in depth. Building operations will start on March 1 and completed by September 1.

NEW FLOUR MILL PLANNED

The Sperry Flour Mill Company yesterday announced the purchase of seven acres of land on the Goodyear tract at Stanford street, west of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company's buildings, as the site for a new flour mill and grain elevator. According to Frank S. Coates, Los Angeles manager, more than $1,000,000 will be repre-

MERCHANTS RE-ELECT RICE

Zeehandelaar at First Meeting of Association's New Board Urges Greater Civic Activity

I. H. Rice yesterday was elected president of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association for the fifth succeeding term. P. J. McDonald was re-elected first vice-president; N. W. Kellaway second vice-president, and H. F. Stewart, treasurer. F. J. Zeehandelaar, the association's secretary, was re-elected for the twenty-seventh year.

It was the first meeting of the new board elected a few days ago, and at the luncheon, served in the association quarters in the Van Nuys Building, Mr. Zeehandelaar declared he believed the new board stronger than any in several years.

TO PROTECT OPEN SHOP

He urged the members to give their best efforts of a constructive nature, and said that in the ensuing year the association should not only stand for the open shop, but take a greater part in civic affairs in general. Several talks were made in praise of Mr. Rice's administration. He could not be present at the luncheon.

I. H. Rice

NIBLO REPLACED

Fred Niblo, the motion-picture producer, who had been elected to the new board, sent in his resignation because of the press of private business in the East, and his place was filled by John Pike, vice-president of the California Cyanide Company.

The association's annual dinner will be given next Monday at the Biltmore. It will be the most largely attended of any in the association's history. Nearly 700 reservations have been made.

OREGON FOLK TO FROLIC

Former residents of Oregon will join in a rally Saturday evening in the Walker Auditorium at 720 South Grand avenue. Following the entertainment there will be dancing. President Dudley W. Evans will preside.

DOUBLE-TRACK WORK ORDERED

Santa Fe Will Rush Job to Early Completion

Summit-Hicks Link is One of Few Remaining

Less Than 150 Miles Single Road to Chicago

Double-tracking of the main line of the Santa Fe Railway from Summit to Hicks, the only single-line link remaining between San Bernardino and Barstow, was authorized yesterday at the Los Angeles headquarters of the railway and actual construction work will begin immediately. An appropriation of $2,538,356 has been made for the project.

Santa Fe officials in Los Angeles announced that an effort to hurry the work to completion before the opening of next season's fruit and produce shipments would be made. Chief Engineer R. B. Ball was given instructions yesterday to rush machinery and workmen to the site and begin work at the earliest moment.

The distance to be double-tracked is 43.58 miles, but it will be necessary to rebuild nearly six miles of the roadbed to reduce grades and eliminate curves, it was said. When the work is completed there will remain less than 100 miles of single track on the entire Santa Fe line from Los Angeles to Chicago. The $21,000,000 appropriation for 1924 improvements made by the board of directors at the beginning of the year included an allowance for double-tracking the line virtually the entire distance, it was said, but it is believed that all of the work cannot be accomplished this year.

The Union Pacific has joint usage of the Santa Fe track from Hicks to Summit and because of the heavy traffic of both lines, the double tracking on that portion of the line has become absolutely necessary, Mr. Ball said.

JULIAN FORCES IN TWO FIGHTS

the upper floor of the Chase home, where he was treating a young son of Mr. and Mrs. Chase, when the blow was struck.

The child is now seriously ill with pneumonia.

Mr. Roth, when first asked about the affair, said he was in an important conference. Then he faded out of the picture and was reported to have left the office for the night. Search to locate him for a statement as to whether he was present at the Chase home in Los Angeles or was, perchance, in Oregon or Lower California, were of no avail for the next half-hour. Finally, when puzzled reporters were about to give up all hope of hearing from him, Mr. Roth called up to say that he had nothing to say.

Exactly fifty-seven minutes later Mr. Roth again changed his mind. He made a statement. It was:

"I admit I was there and hit the doctor. The reasons for the fight are purely personal to me. Dr. Tower knows the reason. There are times in a man's life when he must fight. This was one of the times."

DOCTOR GIVES FACTS

Dr. Tower, however, was more communicative. After being informed that others present at the party knew the facts and that his plans for legal action were known, Dr. Tower gave a frank statement of the case as he knows it.

"I am sorry this matter has become public because I had hoped to spare Mr. and Mrs. Chase any additional embarrassment," he said. "Now that this has become public I will say that the facts were as follows:

"I have been Mr. Julian's physician and also physician for Mr. and Mrs. Chase. On last Saturday night I was one of the invited guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chase. About seventy other persons were there. I am informed that Mr. and Mrs. Julian were invited to be there, about 8 o'clock. They did not show up at that time, however, and no one seemed to have missed them. There was dancing and bridge.

"About midnight the Julians arrived. With them was Mr. Roth—an uninvited guest—and several others—likewise uninvited. No one seems to remember who admitted the Julian party and its excess baggage. At any rate the Julians, Mr. Roth and the rest of the Julian crowd gravitated to the kitchen. They were there when I came down from the room in which the Chase boy was confined. He was ill and I had given him some medical attention. I was leaning on a cane, suffering from lumbago."

Dr. Tower says he saw Mr. Julian and Mr. Roth together. Roth was nearest to him and he stretched out his hand, saying "Hello Jack." According to the Doctor he has known Mr. Roth quite well for more than a year.

BLOW STRUCK

"I then turned to Mr. Julian," Dr. Tower continued, "and was just shaking hands with him when without any warning, Roth struck me from the side. Part of my glasses was driven into the cheek bone. The blow did not feel as if it had been dealt with a fist only. It stunned me for a minute, during which I saw automobiles, street cars, oil derricks and what not. I did not strike back. Mr. Julian tried to smooth matters out a little. Some women were present when the blow was struck.

"Immediately afterward the Julians and their uninvited retinue were asked to leave the house. This they did with considerable more excitement that was occasioned by their arrival."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Chase yesterday confirmed the versions of the one-sided battle. Mrs. Chase said she was glad Mr. Chase asked Mr. Julian's party to leave.

"I am not willing to have them as guests in my home again," she said.

About this time Mr. Julian appeared in the vicinity. He made his way to the kitchen door and had a consultation with Mr. and Mrs. Chase and Dr. Tower, who was at the Chase house attending the sick child. After Mr. Julian had gone Mrs. Chase gave no indication of any change in her attitude.

Mr. Julian, it seems, appeared at the Chase home yesterday in the capacity of a belated peace emissary. He called Dr. Tower on the phone a few minutes after a reporter sought the first statement from Mr. Roth. Learning that there were reporters in Dr. Tower's office and that the doctor was about to leave for the Chase home, Mr. Julian called his limousine and started on his mission. He left his car some distance from the Chase home.

USES VACANT LOT

Leaving by the rear door Mr. Julian cut across a vacant lot, with a photographer close behind him. Mr. Julian did not tarry.

The names of some of the prominent guests who were present at the Chase home Saturday night were learned yesterday. The party was given by Mrs. Chase and Mrs. Harry Ransom, club woman, in honor of Miss Caroline Switzer and Mrs. Hazel Abbott. A few of the guests were James Westervelt, president of the Optimists' Club, and Mrs. Westervelt; H. O. Henderson, president of the Long Beach Optimists' Club, Mrs. Henderson and their daughter; Arthur Crease, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kohler, Dr. and Mrs. Carl Rice, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Smith, Dr. and Mrs. Horace Warner and Mrs. Olcowits.

DINES WILL TESTIFY AGAIN

Wounded Broker Posts Bond for Cross-examination Wednesday; Gives no Hint of Intent

Courtland S. Dines, speedily recovering from a bullet wound said to have been inflicted by Horace A. Greer, assured the District Attorney's office late yesterday that he will submit to a second cross-examination at the reopening of Mabel Normand's chauffeur's preliminary hearing next Wednesday. This assurance was contained in the posting of a $5000 cash bond with Justice Hanby.

A second examination of Dines was demanded last Wednesday by Dist.-Atty. Keyes when the wounded broker's "I don't remember" story failed to impress the prosecutor. In earlier statements he had told in detail the incidents before and after Greer shot him, naming Greer as the assailant.

SUPPRESSION CHARGED

In his testimony to the court Dines declared he could remember nothing of the shooting on New Year's night, and on the heels of this story came the District Attorney's affidavit containing charges that Dines is suppressing the facts to save Mabel Normand and Edna Purviance from further unfavorable publicity and asking that Dines be placed under bond to assure his appearance in court at a later date.

No complaint or protest was forthcoming from Dines and his attorneys yesterday relative to Dist.-Atty. Keyes's charges. No statement was issued, no explanation for the "I don't remember" story was offered. Justice Hanby had announced that a bench warrant would be issued for Dines's arrest in the event of failure to pay the bond within twenty-four hours.

WARRANT NOT NEEDED

The bench warrant was not needed. At the twenty-fourth hour Attorney W. I. Gilbert appeared with the necessary $5000. He stated it had been telegraphed from Denver, the home of Dines.

Further action in the court investigation is halted until next week, at the resumption of Greer's hearing. Not until that time will it be known whether or not Dines's lapse of memory has been restored, in which event he will be expected to relate the details of the shooting, or whether he will repeat his "I don't remember" story.

DESTITUTE HERO GIVEN HONORS

When Miller recovered consciousness the bone in his right forearm had been almost crushed. Likewise the bone in his right leg. The man and woman were killed.

It was more than six months before Miller could leave the hospital. The railway company paid all expenses and took care of his family.

Miller tried flagging again but the cold weather of the Middle West did not agree with him, especially since the skin on his arm and leg was very tender and the wounds threatened never completely to heal. He thought of California and sunshine. The railway gave his family free transportation.

"I thought I would enter the gardening business when I got out here," Miller said. "I know something about flowers and landscaping. But the bone in my right leg is so weak that I can't use a spade. My left arm is almost useless also. It's hard to find any kind of work that I can do."

Miller's wife at present has blood poison in her left leg. The couple's three children, Josephine, 8 years of age; John, 12, and James, 11, are too young to help the family yet. As a result they do not live very comfortably.

But anyway the family is proud. The leader of the household has been made a hero, although it made of him an invalid. The little piece of bronze medal will add respect to the little home from the neighborhood but it can't rescue John Miller or his family from the destitution they are now in.

SPECIAL GUARD IN COURTROOM

during a hold-up of him and his companion, Mrs. Elizabeth Bohmer. On the previous day, Mrs. Bohmer identified Ferdinand as the man who was searching Chapman at the time of the shooting, and said he went through her companion's pockets with one hand and held a gun in the other.

Besides Evans, the only State witness yesterday was Dick Parsons, who runs an auto rental place on South Flower street. He identified Ferdinand as the man to whom he rented a car on November 26, last, the day of the murder.

PRODUCES WITNESSES

Deputy Public Defender Fluchey, representing Ferdinand, opened the defense. He introduced three witnesses in an effort to show that his client had been injured in the head, and was not responsible for his actions.

Mildred Smith, his sister-in-law, testified that on two occasions since she had known Ferdinand, he had suffered severe blows on the head. Bernard Ferdinand, the defendant's 70-year-old father, told of a serious injury to his son's head twenty-three years ago.

Dr. Paul Bowers, alienist, said that he had examined Ferdinand twice at the County Jail dispensary, and judged that he had the mentality of a 12-year-old child. He said that the defendant is sane, but that his mental condition makes it difficult for him to adjust himself to society. He said that he discovered evidence of injuries to his head, and of degeneracy. Ordinarily, he said such persons do not have a proper sense of right and wrong, and are not fully responsible for their actions.

Judge Avery decided not to hold a night session of the trial, and testimony is expected to be completed today.

Floating Rum Factory Under Federal Inquiry

The existence of a supposed floating rum factory twenty-five miles off the coast between Santa Monica and Ventura, is being investigated by Federal Prohibition Supervisor Gailing.

According to reports reaching Mr. Gailing the marine bottling plant is capable of turning out 200 cases of liquor a day. The report of its presence was said to have been made by a disgruntled bootlegger. He had quarreled with the captain of the boat and had been beaten up and put ashore.

A squad of Federal agents has been assigned by Mr. Gailing to patrol the coast and arrest men who land cargoes from the vessel. The liquor ship itself cannot be seized because it is outside of the dry zone.

CITY EMPLOYEES TO MEET

The City Employees' Benevolent and Protective Association will have an important meeting at 220 South Main street next Saturday at 8 p.m. The Southern California Telephone Company besides giving a service demonstration will put on a playlet combining music, vocal and instrumental and humor.

CHINESE HERE TO TELL WORLD

get together and talk business. But with the hatchet of its last tong war now buried for two years and only an occasional fight amongst street urchins to mar the quietude, there was quite a gathering last night when the meeting was called to order. There is only one white man in Chinatown, a naturalized Englishman, and he runs a curio shop, lives among the Chinese and speaks their language. His name is Tom Gubbins and what Col. E. M. House was to the Wilson administration, Tom Gubbins is to the yellow-skinned merchants in their dealings with things American.

With the help of Mr. Gubbins, the meeting of Chinese last night adopted a set of resolutions a la American. It is the first move made by Chinatown to boost itself. The resolutions follow:

"Whereas, Chinatown has been made to suffer in the past because of the bad name generally applied to the district, the same being no fault of the Chinese residents; be it resolved:

"First, that we, the merchants of Chinatown, use every opportunity to induce white people of the city and tourists to visit Chinatown; that we extend to visitors every courtesy on visiting our shops and places of interest.

"Second, that we use every opportunity to spread the word that Chinatown is a safe place for women to come to, whether escorted or alone.

"Third, that we use every effort to suppress rowdyism among the lower class of white people visiting Chinatown; that the chop suey houses will see that any rudeness on the part of their guests be stopped and that order be kept, if the same is not already being done.

"Fourth, that we extend to the city of Los Angeles an invitation to visit Chinatown on the celebration of the New Year and see for themselves the conditions that prevail here."

And so Chinatown, with a wide-awake and aggressive civic organization, is going to start on its New Year determined to rid itself of an unearned and unwelcomed black eye. In addition to Lew Sung Kai as president, the organization is represented by Lew Yeon, vice-president, and Wong Sun Ying secretary. Among a few of the prominent backers of the new body are Wong Sing Lee Tuck Quan Hay and Chew Ho.

TO DISCUSS BOK PLAN

Dr. E. F. Magnin, rabbi of Temple B'nai B'rith, will discuss "The Edward W. Bok Peace Award" at services to be conducted at the temple this evening. Dr. Magnin also will be in charge of the service tomorrow morning.

MAN TAKES DEATH LEAP FROM SHIP

Brooding Over Worries Thought to be Cause of Steamer Tragedy

Continued brooding over imaginary worries is believed to have been the cause which impelled George A. Johnson, 47 years of age, of Santa Monica, to end his life late Wednesday night by leaping overboard from the steamer Harvard. The tragedy was disclosed when the steamer docked at San Francisco yesterday.

Johnson disappeared from his home at 1314 Third street, Santa Monica, Wednesday afternoon, his wife stated. About three months ago he attempted to end his life by slashing his throat with a piece of glass, she said, but since that time he had conducted himself normally.

A note, addressed to Mrs. Johnson, was found on the ship. It read:

"My Dear Loving Faithful Wife: Forgive me for what I have done. May God help you in the trying times before you. My beloved children, forgive your father. He is not worthy of your love. Be brave and honorable and you need never fear. God bless you and help you all. Good-by dear ones. Your Faithless Father."

Johnson, his wife and three children came to Santa Monica from Council Bluffs, Iowa, about five months ago. For a time he operated a grocery store here.

FORD MEETS LINCOLN; DAMAGE SUIT IS ON

The story of how a little Ford got the best of its big brother, a Lincoln, was told in Judge Burnell's court yesterday, where the suit for $12,500 damages brought by Frank S. Lycan against G. A. Kiffe is on trial. According to Lycan, he was driving down Country Club Boulevard on February 22, 1923, in his Lincoln, when Kiffe, piloting his Ford, entered the road from Wilton Place. The plaintiff declared Kiffe's machine bowled into its big brother, completely overturning the Lincoln and damaging the car to the extent of $2000.

Lycan further asserted that he suffered personal injuries worth $10,000. He also asks $500 for physician's fees and medical treatment. Kiffe was in court, prepared to tell his side of the story. A jury is expected to reach a decision today.

Louise Fazenda

A quarter of a century of happiness is what Louise Fazenda, film player, said she had enjoyed when she announced that today is her twenty-fifth birthday anniversary.

Miss Fazenda has spent almost all of her life to date on the stage and screen, and is to see her first dramatic debut on the Clune Broadway screen next week, where Manager L. E. Bund has booked her latest film.

For several years Miss Fazenda was a comedienne and she is now about to desert the laugh-provoking field for dramatic work.

She was born in Lafayette, Ind., January 25, 1899, and proudly boasts of being a native of the Hoosier State.

SCHOOL OF SAFETY TO OPEN SOON

Instruction Primarily for Factory Heads and Course is Free

The annual school of industrial safety to be conducted by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce for factory superintendents and foremen will begin on February 6 and continue each week thereafter until March 26. Sessions will begin at 7:45 p.m. each evening and the course is free to all.

The course will be inaugurated with an address by John W. Carrigan of the State Industrial Accident Commission and a speech on "Industrial Safety" by Will J. French of San Francisco. Other speakers will include Dr. G. F. Boeheme, Arthur I. Spring, W. A. Ferguson, T. W. Osgood, George E. Prussing, F. A. Short, R. E. Donovan, John A. McGilvray, E. G. Sheibley, W. D. Edwards and W. B. Edson.

Commenting on the course, Frank Wiggins, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said: "It is the continued purpose of the chamber to bring relief to employers and employees through reducing industrial injuries by education. Eighty per cent of such injuries are preventable. In accomplishing this possible result think of the saving in pain, sorrow and loss in earnings to employees, and the increase in production and saving in substantial dollars to employers."

One Long Beach Officer Is Freed of Girl Charges

George T. Brown, one of seven Long Beach policemen accused of a misdemeanor in connection with joyrides the officers were asserted to have participated in with two minor girls of the beach city, was freed of the charge by Judge Archbald of the Juvenile Court yesterday, when the complaint against him was dismissed on motion of the District Attorney.

The dismissal was requested on the ground of insufficient evidence. At the same time the court ordered stricken from the calendar the case of Charles E. Gurthro, another of the accused policemen, to permit the District Attorney's office to make a further investigation of the case.

ALIMONY GRANTED

Domestic woes of Alvin D. Fusch and Zella Fusch were aired yesterday before Judge Summerfield, where the husband was ordered to pay $15 a week alimony. Both stated that the other made threats of arson, murder and physical violence. He protested that the alimony order was larger than he could pay, but the judge refused to lower it.

THE WRECKER

The surgeons' post mortem indicated that Lenin's brain was badly involved. That was the malady of his whole career.

THEN AND NOW

Ten years ago if a stranger in Berlin had said that the day would come when it would take more than a carload of ten-mark notes to buy a breakfast he would have been picked up by the police as a ninny. But buy a breakfast today and see what happens.

USES OF PUBLICITY

Henry Ford is said to be spending $7,000,000 on this year's advertising campaign, although he needs it less than any man on earth. At that, he prefers to put it into business rather than into politics. For a man who put the horse out of the running he still indicates a lot of horse sense.

SAFETY FIRST

American safety razors are sold in Denmark for 25 kroner, while an attractive German product in that line is offered for 4 kroner. The American article is greatly preferred—even at the much higher price. The Great Danes seem to be impressed with the logic of "safety first" and put their confidence in Uncle Sam.

THE DIVORCE DOCKET

Out of 10,000 marriages in St. Louis it is said that 4400 divorce cases were docketed. Of course, this roster of separationists did not spring from the 10,000 weddings last year, but there were over 4000 divorce cases begun as an offset to 10,000 marriage licenses. Yet St. Louis is a city of some reputation for marital constancy and domestic felicity. More than 2800 divorce decrees were actually granted and the hearings go patiently on. Some day St. Louis may be able to give even Los Angeles a run for its money as a divorce mart.

IT'S A LONG LANE

A Chicago policeman has a remarkable domestic record. He has had two wives for seventeen years and during all that time he has maintained two homes hardly a mile apart, with neither woman knowing of the existence of the other. Likewise he has raised two fine families with five children in each within that time. In a careless moment the cop quarreled with one of his wives and then confessed to his captain some of the details of his double life. Now the story is made public and the policeman is in jail.

REPORTED MISSING

Not a day goes by without the disappearance of some girl being reported to the police by tearful relatives. Usually she is around the adventuresome age of sweet 16. In most cases she turns up unharmed within a day or so, but sometimes the waves of time close over her completely. At the first shock the parents are apt to be found distracted and virtually helpless. They can furnish no coherent information to the police. This is largely because the modern mother is not in the confidence of her daughter, and parents are not in step and tune with their young. Young girls assume an independence for which they may not be equipped and they seek excitement and adventure in aisles which they should rightly avoid. To motor with strangers is not considered a social crime. It is merely a delicious hazard. When a young girl's brain is studded with jazz no one may tell where her feet will take her.

THE CAVIAR FAMINE

Russia has still 3000 poods of finest caviar stored away against the time when it can be exported to America. A pood is a Russian unit of measure, approximating slightly less than forty pounds, so that it can be seen that a feast is in store some day for those who crave exotic foodstuffs.

In the good old days prior to 1907 caviar on toast was as essential to Mrs. Nouveau Riche's soirees as her diamonds were to complete her costume. It was a sad blow to one's social prestige to admit that the taste was abhorrent to one. But the Russian revolution stopped the importation of the Slavic delicacy and the home-grown article was not of an elegance sufficient to intrigue the popular taste.

The American fondness for caviar and willingness to pay high prices for it were probably because it came from so far away. If it were obtained around Catalina it would not be so exclusive, but the Russian variety came from the Caspian Sea sturgeon and two cities of romantic name were the chief centers of export. These were Astrakhan and Petrovsk, on the boundary line of the Tatar state of Daghestan. How much more thrilling to eat caviar from Astrakhan than tuna from Catalina.

The Russian had a highly developed taste for it and the best variety there obtained a price of $4 a pound. But, since the economic upheaval, it has not been healthy to admit to such cultivated tastes in foods, and those who once thought life without caviar quite empty have transferred their affections to herring. The American palate and pocketbook are looked to as the white hope for the sturgeon fisheries of the Caspian Sea.

PASADENA'S BIRTHDAY

Pasadena, the city of they came, they saw and then they came back and stayed, celebrates its golden jubilee, the fiftieth anniversary of its existence, on January 27.

Like Los Angeles, Pasadena is one of the few cities of wide fame that has a definite birthday that can be fixed almost to the hour. The famous Indiana colony, the first settlers of Pasadena, met at an open-air picnic on January 27, 1874, divided up into individual holdings their joint purchase of 4000 acres of land and set out to establish ranches, build homes and church and schoolhouse, stores, a hotel, a bank and all the old familiar features of their home towns "Back East."

This was in effect the second birth of Pasadena. Its discovery and first christening was on Easter morning six years before the signing of the Declaration of Independence. The Spanish were exploring California and had gathered on the east bank of the Arroyo Seco under the great oak. There were Don Gaspar de Portola and his group of soldiers and monks, kneeling in prayer before a rude cross carved in the bark of the tree. Father Crespi was saying the first mass in the valley of San Gabriel. The devoted band was journeying north on its second expedition to discover Monterey Bay. The whole countryside was ablaze with poppies and the flowers of the wild mustard. The poetic Latins, struck with the beauty of the land, named it "La Sabinalla de San Pasqual," the grand altar cloth of Holy Easter.

Later the grant of the Rancho de San Pasqual was to have a romantic history before the coming of the Indiana colony, which, on the recommendation of Dr. T. B. Elliott, purchased 4000 acres of land on the spot he had selected. It was at his suggestion that the colonists adopted the name of Pa-Sa-de-Na from the Indian tongue, meaning the "Crown" or "Key" of the Valley, which has brought about the familiar designation of the Pasadena of today as the Crown City.

The pioneer colonists planted their land to orange groves and vineyards and life in the colony was primitive. Bear and deer were continually raiding the vineyards. Coyotes loafed around the store and postoffice. Dogs chased wild cats down Colorado street. Tiburcio Vasquez, the bandit, made occasional raids. An "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company got caught in a storm and was stranded for a week. Hancock Banning played in the brass band—that was later, in 1883—but it was all less than the span of fifty years ago.

When the fame of Southern California began to spread and tourists became more numerous Walter Raymond established the first great tourist hotel—the one that now bears his name—in Pasadena. That was the real start of the city as it is today.

Those who came went back to tell of the beauty of climate and land and the hospitality of the people, and more came each year. Other big hotels rose in Pasadena—the old Green, the Maryland and the Huntington. B. M. Linnard established himself as the genius of the great guest houses and their social life. Scores of visitors who came for a season decided to make their home in Pasadena, and Orange Grove avenue, with its handsome residences, became known as "Millionaire Row" of the aristocrat of cities and an object of interest to sightseers. The Tournament of Roses on New Year's Day advertised Pasadena to the world.

Pasadena continued to grow as a city of homes, a city of churches, a city of schools and good government and good civic models. The hotels brought them and, charmed with hospitality and climate, they came back to stay. It is now a city of 60,000 and enjoying amazing growth in population and advance in civic improvement. It is a city like none other in the social life that centers about the hotels, where several thousand winter guests are entertained and which are rapidly becoming all-season resorts and open throughout the year. It is a city of smart and beautiful shops, with Colorado street making wonderful strides in the direction of an American Rue de la Paix. It is a city of outdoor life and sports, clean-living and healthy, and is one of the famed spots of Southern California and a real pride as a lovely and friendly neighbor of Los Angeles.

WEATHER SIGNALS

It isn't true, of course, that in dry seasons all signs fail. Weather statistics can be computed from a table of averages as accurately as life-insurance figures; and the insurance companies don't often miss their guess. Their financial stability is the best evidence that the law of averages is a good one.

So the fearful ones who are gloomily forecasting a dry season for 1923-1924 in Southern California are not displaying the optimism so generally associated with life in the land of sunshine. Yet before the really wet months have been reached farmers and orchardists are scanning the blue skies with melancholy faces and even some irrigation engineers are repeating down-heartedly reports of mountains almost bare of snow and water ditches only being supplied with one-fifteenth of their normal capacity.

This season may turn out to be the exception that proves the rule, but up to the present time there is no particular reason for jumping to that conclusion. Dr. Ford Carpenter, who knows as much about Southern California weather as the oldest resident of the Southland, deduces prospects for plenty of rain before next June from a study of the way our weather has acted in previous years.

The Los Angeles rainfall to date has been 1.43 inches, which, while below the average, is far above the minimum. For the same period in the season of 1917-1918 (just five short years ago) the figure was only 0.47 of an inch and yet the total moisture for the season was 13.43 inches, very nearly the normal average. Indeed, since 1899 five years have registered drier times to date than the present and only one of them was a distressingly dry year, the spring of '99, when only 4.75 inches of rain fell.

Therefore, there is no reason to foresee in the month of January, which is, anyhow, the driest of our wet months, an ominous sign of an unusual drought. Next May the total rainfall may tell a different tale. By the law of averages we should expect a normal wet season before the really dry period sets in.

TOO MUCH LICENSE

According to the official computations of the American Roadbuilders' Association, as divulged at their convention in Chicago, every twenty-eight minutes during 1923 a person was killed somewhere in the United States on the public highways and every time the clock ticked off 2.5 minutes somebody was maimed, bruised or otherwise injured.

The crying need of the present era is some sort of regulations for automobile drivers that will insure licenses being issued only to those who know how to handle a car. Under the present system anyone who can gather together the strength to fill out an application card is assured of a license.

The convention, moreover, stressed the fact that it is seldom the pedestrian's fault when he is mangled by some driver, but usually due to the latter's disregard of the law or lack of control of his car.

OBREGON'S "INACTION"

To many readers it may appear that government forces in Mexico are dilatory about taking decisive action. But conditions are such in that country that prompter action has been impossible.

It must be remembered that President Obregon took office after nearly a decade of revolutions, in which the national railways of Mexico greatly suffered. The fact that only 15,000,000 people live in that great country and that much of its territory is undeveloped — mountains, wilderness and desert—makes it unavoidable that thousands of miles of railway shall be virtually unguarded, and often it is possible for an unimportant band of rebels or outlaws to destroy railway and telegraph communications, temporarily.

Under normal traveling conditions in Mexico, Tampico and Vera Cruz are almost as far from the capital as Kansas City is from Los Angeles, and Guadalajara virtually as far as Portland from here. But either is much harder for an army from Mexico City to reach. Some of the noblest mountains on this hemisphere must be crossed, one single-track railway is the only road of any kind and that is not equipped with sufficient rolling stock to efficiently serve the country in normal times. The best an army can do is to proceed by train in comparatively small divisions to an assembling point well outside the enemy territory, wait there until sufficient men and supplies have arrived and then foot it the rest of the way.

If the rebellion were gaining ground more desperate measures might be necessary, but as it is Obregon appears to have shown great wisdom in waiting for the arrival of munitions and bombing planes, the latter being wholly new in Mexican warfare, and letting the moral effect of De la Huerta's diminishing chances win him both bloodless victories and innumerable recruits.

Had De la Huerta been able to blockade Tampico and collect the $3,000,000 a month of export taxes which American and English oil companies there pay he would have had the Obregonistas at a serious disadvantage, both financially and strategically. It would have been hard for Obregon to launch an attack either east or west without leaving the capital in danger and he would have been sadly handicapped for funds, as the oil export taxes are the chief reliance of the government for month-to-month operating expenses. That doubtless was why De la Huerta chose Vera Cruz for his headquarters, for most of the great Tampico oil field really lies in the State of Vera Cruz, the northern boundary of which is the Panuco River, on the opposite bank of which Tampico is situated.

But the refusal of the American oil companies to recognize De la Huerta's demand for the oil export taxes and the refusal of the United States to permit the blockade, together with this country's plain indication of its intention to take whatever steps might be necessary to protect its citizens, are likely to make both De la Huerta's golden dreams and his army dwindle rapidly. It would not be at all surprising to see him suddenly abandon both and flee to Cuba or Guatemala—another possibility he doubtless had in mind in choosing the foremost seaport of Mexico as his headquarters—before the Mexican gunboat now outfitting in New Orleans arrives to cut off his escape.

The prompt action of the American government in giving moral support and selling munitions to Mexico and its insistence that the legitimate operations of American companies in Mexico shall not be interfered with will not only speed the ending of this revolution, but will be a powerful deterrent to future would-be revolutionists. It is not only an important move for the rightful protection of American interests, but for the future tranquillity and welfare of the Mexican republic.

TWO MINUTES OF OPTIMISM

BY HERMAN J. STICH

A Sublime Sentiment

Several years ago Franklin K. Lane visited a little fishing village in Canada, peopled by Scotch folk who had come over in the early part of the past century.

It was at a place called Ingonish in Cape Breton, a raw, rocky, exposed point that jutted into the Atlantic at one of its crudest spots.

One day he happened into a talk with a fisherman, a perfect specimen of a tawny-haired Viking, who told him that from his fishing and farming he was able to earn some $300 a year.

"Why don't you come over into my country?" asked the then Secretary Lane, "where you can make that in a month?"

The fisherman's face flushed with apparent embarrassment.

"No, I could not," he replied.

"Why not?" persisted the Secretary.

"Because," answered the fisherman, "I can neither read nor write."

"And why?" urged Secretary Lane. "You have schools here. Why haven't you learned?"

The fisherman hesitated for a few moments.

"Yes," he said, finally, falteringly, "we have schools. But—my father—could not read or write—and I would have felt I was putting a shame upon the old man if I had learned to do something he could not do."

A sublime sentiment! But a sentiment perverted, damning, sentence to a living death!

It made the man a tortoise, shackled to his shell. It chained him with the bonds of puerile, sterile outlook. It consigned him hopelessly and helplessly to the thralldom of what had been.

Slowly and surely this worship of fetish and past has been pushed out of vogue. Precedent is no longer holy because it is precedent. Tradition is not permitted to fetter. Today we expect and respect only the fuller, richer life, life surcharged with the spirit of freedom and power and opportunity. And the glorious future unfolds and stretches before each one of us into the immeasureable distance of promise.

RIPPLING RHYMES

THE RECORD WINTER

The winter's been a wonder and is a wonder still; the gent has made a blunder who runs the weather mill; we cannot help believing he nodded at the switch, but none of us is grieving—the weather is too rich. The bards seek fitting stanzas and search around in vain; it's summerlike in Kansas, it's summerlike in Maine; the roses in Nebraska in gorgeous colors glow, and even in Alaska they're short of ice and snow. The winter is a dinger—enjoy it while ye may; next week may be the bringer of tempests stark and gray. Enjoy the fragrant zephyrs, enjoy the golden day, like lambs and colts and heifers that in the pasture play. Then when the moisture drizzles from bargain counter cloud and when the horther sizzles and blizzard shrieks aloud, when sunshine doesn't function the mem'ry of these days should be a soothing unction to all despondent jays. "Ah, well," we'll say together, like dead game sports in line, "we had a streak of weather that was extremely fine. The weather man may drive us indignant with his snows, but he cannot deprive us of memories like those!" These days are grand and gaudy, enjoy them while ye may; for weather punk and shoddy, perchance, is on the way.

PROGRESS IN MEXICO

We are certainly on the threshold of a new era in Mexican warfare when one belligerent recognizes the private property of another. President Obregon's act in restoring the rebel leader's funds to his wife goes a long way toward demonstrating that a real change has taken place in the spirit of our southern neighbors.—[Portland Oregonian.

PEN POINTS

No doubt the Germans feel deeply touched by Raymond Poincare.

Did the Baldwin ministry fall or was it pushed? Both, we should say.

The man who finally pays the tax is the fellow who cannot pass the buck.

A memory cure ought to do a good business in certain circles of the moving-picture flappers.

With the tax bill in Congress and the tax bill in the hands of the people everybody is getting all "het up."

The new government in England is of the Labor party, which we imagine means that the body will labor. And that is just what the tight little island wants.

Dancing lessons by radio are the latest. But they will never be popular with the flapper, who wants her partner somewhere where she can put her hands on him.

National prohibition is four years old. It is not as big as it might be, but it is bigger than some of its enemies ever imagined it would be. And it is growing every minute.

A college professor says that in thirty years women will do no housework at all. The professor might have also said that at the present time it is fast becoming a lost art.

The new microphone, able to detect the smallest possible sound, has been tested and found to be a success. The noise caused by Harry Lauder loosening up could be heard distinctly.

The Volstead Act may be amended in the future, but it will be amended by those who seek to improve prohibition enforcement, not by those who seek for selfish reasons to do it injury.

The American people are willing to concede a certain amount of time and debate to partisan gesture. But they will fix the blame on the party or faction responsible for defeating the entire tax-reduction program proposed by Secretary Mellon. In a Presidential year it seems impossible to eliminate politics from the proceedings in Congress. But the taxpayers have their eyes on the present situation and they will not be fooled.

Dr. Alexander Meikeljohn proposes a dream college, where the lecture system will be abolished and the students will be taught by reading the works of the great minds of the world. It is good talk, but it is foolishness. If the average student were left to himself with a room full of the works of the "great minds" he might in a short time succeed in getting himself so hopelessly befogged that his brain would remain misty for the rest of his life.

THIS IS THE DAY

The United States arsenal at Springfield, Mass., was attacked by the "rebels" in Shay's Rebellion in the year 1787. The insurrection was an effort to prevent the collection of taxes and the issuance of indictments against its leaders.

Senator Robert Y. Hayne of South Carolina delivered a famous speech on "States' Rights," taking up the defense side of the question, in the year 1830.

FASCISM AND LATINS

BY TIMOTHY G. TURNER

The Fascist movement in Europe is bound to have its effect in Latin America. I do not mean merely in the organization of Fascisti in Mexico, Venezuela and the Argentine, to get out in black shirts and fight Communists, adding to the already-bad-enough political hurly-burly. I mean in a much more important way.

The Fascist movement in general is a reaction from the democratic theories of government as spread after the French Revolution, toward aristocracy or monarchy in their various forms. That may be a wild definition, but it will serve for the present purpose. It is natural that this is now coming in the Latin countries, as will be seen; it contrariwise would be unnatural for it to come in the Anglo-Saxon countries.

This spirit has resulted in the recent Italian and Spanish revolutions, but it is not confined to the Latin states, being strong in Germany and other countries. But it properly is an affair of the Latins, and its spread to the Americas would be a most natural outcome.

It should be remembered that the governments of the Latin-American nations were set up after the separation from Spanish rule, at a time when democracy was in fashion.

Then the governments of the European Latin nations were modified to fit the democratic tendency, with parliamentary institutions modeled after the British as a sop to the liberals. The success of the democratic institutions in the United States and the missionary work of the French revolutionary adherents brought it in vogue in Latin America. But here, having cast off monarchy, the form was more correctly an imitation of the United States and of the French republics.

Then democracy was in fashion and Latin America took it up.

Now the Italian and French revolutions have set a fashion of reaction to democracy.

Latin America has always been slavishly imitative.

The American nations to the south had no democratic background, as this country had in its British antecedents. They took the republican form, but took it much as a man would but on a new cloak. The Anglo-Saxon institutions that worked so well with Anglo-Saxon peoples, like popular suffrage and the jury system, were taken over in their entirety.

One of the most popular decrees of the new Spanish dictator was abolition of the jury system. What to an Anglo-Saxon is the essence of his liberties to a Latin had become an intolerable tyranny because with him it did not work.

When the North American colonies obtained their independence they set up a republican government, but its functionings and the incidental political institutions were based very largely on those of the mother country, England. Even so, it was a test that made even Washington fearful of the outcome. But where Washington warned, Boliver cried out failure. The things that Washington feared were solved. The American experiment was nothing so revolutionary as the Latin's imitation of it.

For example, Mexico had no thirteen colonies. But she took over the theory of State's rights, with all its inconveniences and none of its merits, because there was no excuse for it. The Argentine, it is true, blended Anglo-Saxon democratic institutions with a Spanish aristocratic government and retained a state church, the Roman Catholic. But farther to the north, in Central America and Mexico, where the influence of the United States was greater, the most extremely democratic forms were taken over. The result has been that these countries have alternated between dictatorship and a republican government that too often has resulted in anarchy, with a prompt and violent reaction to dictatorship.

The Latin-American intellectual, unless he is in politics, for a long time has been frankly skeptical of Anglo-Saxon democracy, although a frank admirer of it. When Mr. Wilson decreed his Latin-American policy and opposed the Mexican dictator, Huerta, and the Guatemalan dictator, Estrada Cabrera, there was an uproar against him from Latin America itself. The Mexican political economist, Francisco Bulnes, even declared his own race a politically inferior race, which should not be demoralized with democracy. With cutting logic he asked, "Is it not self-determination that the Mexican has a right to be downtrodden if he so chooses?"

Now the Latin-American world is talking about the recent turn of affairs in Spain and Italy. There has been much talk lately about a Latin alliance between Italy and Spain and between them and Latin America; this to combat Anglo-Saxon aggressions, commercially and, in the Latin-American political theory, territorially. For, whether justified or not, it is a fact that the expansion of the United States to the south, actually and in trade domination, has caused a strong political irritation in Latin America. But it is something of a paradox that this political dislike of the United States exists along with a strong personal liking for Americans, particularly in Mexico, and no reluctance to go into business or financial partnership with Americans.

If this suspicion is correct, that the Latin nations are driving toward a league against the Anglo-Saxon nations, here and in Europe, the first manifestation of it is this throwing off of the democratic cloak. But it is the opinion of the writer that the cloak is now being cast aside, not so much because it is an Anglo-Saxon cloak as because it has proven to these people an ill-fitting cloak. For now the Latins are seeing that these institutions to the Anglo-Saxon were a part of their very natures; to the Latins they meant [illegible] the Latins had no background for [illegible] glo-Saxon has for an oriental potentate.

Los Angeles." Anna Hiner, soloist with the band, sang in her accomplished manner a very difficult selection, "Inflammatus from Stabat Mater," by Rossini, the notes of her clear voice rising above the band.

VARIED PROGRAM

The night program was one of varied entertainment. Yosie Fujiwara, Japanese lyric tenor, was on the air again. Mr. Fujiwara is a recent arrival in this country from Japan where he was a victim of the earthquake. His experiences have not harmed the quality of his clear voice, however, and his carefully chosen selections were greatly enjoyed by his hearers. An aria from "Tosca," by Puccini, breathed forth the personality of the man, fired by the influence of the highlands of Northern Scotland, coupled with the impenetrable poise of the Orient.

Mr. Fujiwara is leaving for Paris next month to sing in L'Opera Comique and as a farewell to his American friends will appear in recital at Blanchard Hall Wednesday, January 30.

Several piano solos were well rendered by Florencio Esguerra. The Filipino String Orchestra, playing through the courtesy of New Oriental Cafe, well known to Radioland for its interpretations of orchestral numbers usually attempted only by larger orchestras, gave several fine numbers. Henry S. McKee, speaking at the Community Development Association Banquet given at the Biltmore Hotel for the board of regents of the University of California, Southern Branch, was given a huge audience, listening, although unseen, when his speech was broadcast through KHJ by line telephony from the Los Angeles Biltmore Hotel.

TALKS ON HASH

G. Allison Phelps, appearing through the courtesy of the Suburban Estates Company, gave an interesting talk on "Hash." These little philosophical talks of everyday life—some of them were "The Neck of the Turkey" and "Appreciation,"—are very much enjoyed by his Radio auditors.

"Finicull, Finicula" was the title of the one-act play given last night through the courtesy of the Community Broadcasters of Pasadena. The cast was composed of Ruth Braislin, Frederick N. Cole and Edward Murphey. During the play Louis F. Klein gave an excellent imitation of an accordion with his harmonica. The Community Broadcasters have been giving a series of plays and have received only favorable comments from their invisible audience.

The noon program was presented by Mrs. Elmer J. Warner, soprano and Helene Peabody, pianist. Mrs. Warner will be remembered as the soprano soloist with the "Wayfarers." Her voice was heard to good advantage in "The Rose's Cup," by Ward Stephens, and "My Laddie," by William Armour Thayer. Miss Peabody, who accompanied Mrs. Warner, gave a piano solo, "The Birdling," by Grieg, which demonstrated her ability as a pianist. Mr. Ferris R. Miller, manager of the Better Business Bureau, gave a brief talk on "Truth in Advertising." It was so interesting and well delivered that we wish he could have spoken longer.

PROGRAM ARRANGED

Miss Maybelle Strock, dramatic soprano, arranged a delightful matinee program which included Isabel Nave and Alice Crawford, able accompanist for Miss Strock. Miss Nave is a young Russian pianist who is preparing herself for concert work under the splendid instruction of Miss Grace Adele Freebey, composer-pianist. Among the best of her numbers was Rachmaninoff's Prelude in G Minor, which was played in a style demonstrating great promise as a concert pianist. The purity of Miss Strock's soprano voice was well demonstrated in "Star-eyes," by Oley Speaks, and her interpretation of Mendelssohn's "On Wings of Song" was most pleasing. Alice Crawford's skilled accompaniments were well suited to Miss Strock's vocal powers.

The children's hour was really an hour of little ones last evening, for the program was given entirely by the three Payne children. Eleven-year-old Ardis gave piano selections while Josephine, aged 7, offered a group of pianologues, by Phyllis Fergus. The youngest of this trio of talented children, 4-year-old Clarice, proved herself quite as gifted as her sisters in two pianologues and a reading "Glow-worm," by Manna Zucca. Uncle John made the little entertainers happy with a bedtime story.

Two New York newspapers, on Friday and Saturday mornings, this week, carry a full page about Los Angeles.

These pages are run and paid for by the Los Angeles agency of the N. C. R. as a compliment to our city and to the merchants and business men who have enabled this agency to stand out as a world leader.

These pages will have far-reaching benefit for our city. It is one of the things we have chosen to give back to our city some of the prosperity it has given us.

Plan to appear the day before the N. C. R. convention ship sails for Bermuda. It will make a strong impression on New York and the East.

JUDGMENT AFFIRMED IN COLLISION CASE

PIPE LINE AND MOTOR TRANSIT COMPANIES LOSE APPEAL OF SUIT

Affirmation of a judgment for $12,500 each against the Motor Transit Company and the General Pipe Line Company for injuries suffered by George Shuster in September, 1920, in a collision on San Fernando Boulevard, has been handed down by the Second District Court of Appeal. The respondent to the appeal was H. L. Carnahan, administrator for the estate of George Shuster, who has since died.

The collision was attributed partly to the slippery condition of the road, which was covered with oil from a leaking pipe, and partly to the carelessness of the driver in not taking proper precautions when driving over it. The stage in which Shuster was riding crashed into one belonging to the Original Stage Line. The decision was written by Justice Curtis with Justices Conrey and Houser concurring.

Love on Stage Became Real, Wife's Appeal

A stage lover who at last took his footlight romances seriously was divorced yesterday when Judge Summerfield granted Mrs. Kate Wolfe a decree from Louis Wolfe, known under the name of L. Wolfe Gilbert on the vaudeville stage.

"Our life was happy," said Mrs. Wolfe, in answer to questions of her attorney, Samuel Miller, "until he fell in love with his partner, Fay Latham. He made love to her on the stage, and then off the stage, also. Then he left me."

RANGERS HONORED

Boys to See Show as Guests of Manager of Theater

Saturday morning, at 10 o'clock, the boys of the Western Rangers' organization will be the guests of H. B. Wright, managing director of the Criterion Theater, at a special showing of Scaramouche.

Mr. Wright, who has already entertained the Western Rangers when another picture was showing at the theater, has decided to charge every boy admission. But the fee is unique. In fact, it is another boy. Every Ranger must play host to one other boy in Los Angeles who is not connected with any boys' organization.

Besides the regular program, special features will be added. One of these is a film of camp life made by the boys. Another will be the presence of Hugo Kirchhofer, well known in the city for his leadership in community singing.

SUIT OVER GUARDIAN IS ORDERED RETRIED

WATER-RIGHT ACQUISITION INVOLVED IN LEGAL BATTLE

Suit won in Superior Court by Attorney L. P. Boardman against Mrs. Estelle C. Christin and appealed by the defendant has been remanded to the lower court for retrial under an amended complaint.

Boardman, from 1912 to 1916, was guardian to Mrs. Christian's minor brother, Benjamin F. Porter, and acted as attorney for both brother and sister in negotiations with the Southern Pacific Company concerning acquisition of water rights in Rancho ex-Mission de San Fernando. Before these negotiations were completed the boy attained his majority and, at his instance, other legal representatives were engaged.

Suit before Superior Court Judge Valentine resulted in judgment for $1000, the full amount contracted for in expectation that negotiations would be completed during Porter's minority. The decision of the Appellate Court allows Boardman to sue for the value of services actually rendered. It was written by Justice Finlayson, with Justices Works and Craig concurring.

STOREKEEPER CHARGED

Sam Sabbath, owner of a store on East First street, was charged with receiving stolen property in a complaint issued yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. MacKay. The complaint was issued on information given by A. Mallett, recently convicted of grand larceny, who told the authorities that he had sold his plunder to the storekeeper.

Eshleman Bond in Embezzlement Case Is Lowered

The bond of Hugh B. Eshleman, former broker of this city, under indictment on a charge of embezzlement, was yesterday reduced by Judge Crail from $25,000 to $21,500. Eshleman is accused of embezzling $17,000 from Edward Gallagher. Ray Nimmo, attorney for the accused man, stated that Eshleman was attempting to get his financial affairs in shape so that something would be paid to all creditors. Hearing of the case was recently continued to March 1 at Nimmo's request for time to make restitution.

Eshleman also gave bond yesterday on another embezzlement charge wherein he is accused of obtaining $3295 from Mrs. Mary M. Pickler. This bond was $3500. Although the transaction whereby Mrs. Pickler lost her money was handled by Eshleman's office, the former broker declares that he never met Mrs. Pickler and personally knew nothing of the deal.

INDUSTRIAL AWARDS

Three Cases Are Disposed of by Accident Board

Three awards were made Wednesday by the State Industrial Accident Commission.

In the case of Lloyd Leon De Witt, who died as the result of injuries received while employed by the Julian Petroleum Corporation at Santa Fe Springs, $540 is awarded to the mother, Leila Ada Burns, and the same amount to the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Leibee, payable in both cases at the rate of $20.83 a week. United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company is the carrier.

Ione West, widow of Jack Martin West, who was killed by being caught in an engine while employed at Signal Hill by the California Well Drilling Company, was allowed $5000. The carrier is the London Guaranty and Accident Company.

John Rufino was disabled from January to September, 1923, as a result of injuries suffered when struck by a falling beam while employed at Pomona by the Shell Company. His award, payable by the State Compensation Insurance Fund, is $636.50, in weekly installments of $20.83.

SAVAGES TO BE EBELL VISITORS

Explorer's Films Show Life on Dark Continent

Friday Morning Club Fills Gaps in Programs

Republican Study Body Will Elect Officers

BY MYRA NYE

Wild men of Africa will be brought right down into the conservative and gracious circle of the Los Angeles Ebell Monday afternoon.

But the members need not be deterred by fear from coming, for they will be accompanied by a tamer of experience and will appear only on the screen. The tamer is Dr. Leonard J. Vandenbergh, missionary and explorer.

Dr. Vandenbergh was the first man ever to visit the pigmies of Africa in their own village. He saw not only the smallest of African wild men, but the tallest, who average over seven feet in height. They are the shillucks, who dwell at the end of a trail 2500 miles from the pigmies.

The pigmies do not harvest their food. Dr. Vandenbergh observed, but hunt and kill game with tiny bows and arrows and small guns. They are, however, fast disappearing. The women of the pigmies are on a strike for more air and better light. They wish to leave the jungle for the open spaces on the shores of Lake Albert and they are conducting a campaign urging their husbands and fathers to vote aye for the migration.

If the picture fan and his antithesis, the reformer, believe that cheek dancing is unknown anywhere except in this country "he has another guess coming," says the doctor, for this dance is well known among the members of the savage Wakumbu tribe, 900 miles from where Col. Roosevelt began his exploration trip years ago.

Dentistry is not neglected among the wild men, for there are those who grow rich, even as here, by filing away teeth. But in Africa they file away the sound teeth to make a row of the most pointed dentals imaginable.

That there should be anything in common between the Mambetu tribe of savages in the Congo and the Flathead Indians of North America is a surprise to anthropologists, but the Africans do shape the heads of the children by binding cords about the skull immediately after birth, as do some Indians.

All these and many other interesting details will be told in his lecture, "Wild Men of Africa," illustrated with an eight-reel picture.

Friday Morning Club Programs

The temperament of Ludwig Lewisohn and the illness of Rebecca West have left decided gaps in club programs in the city, but the last of these was filled when the Friday Morning Club was fortunate enough to obtain Capt. Paul Perigord for the morning of February 1. He is to speak on "The Franco-German Situation."

All-important to club members is the business meeting which is to take place on February 4, with clubhouse matters in the foreground and a discussion of the amendment for the raising of club dues. On February 14 Charles K. Edmunds will lecture on the subject, "Thirty Thousand Miles in China." "American and British Women, Comparisons and Contrasts," is the interesting and intriguing title of a talk on February 22 by Helen Fraser, and on the fifth Friday of the month the Philharmonic Orchestra will give the program.

Interesting Month at Ebell

If the members of the Ebell Club are craving a variety of knowledge in a small space of time, their wish will be gratified on February 20, when the books and current literature section meets at 10:30. It starts off with a talk on poetry by Miss Dorothy Sherrard, followed immediately by "Patriotism and Citizenship," by Mrs. Sloan-Orcutt, creating two distinct layers of information. But this is not all, for there is to be a talk by Mrs. O. P. Clark on "Men Who Have Made and Men Who Are Making the American History," which promises to contain many interesting facts told in Mrs. Clark's bright way.

Edward Elwell Whiting will also appear, giving remarks founded upon "Diplomatic Portraits," W. P. Cresson and President Coolidge, and as a fitting close Mrs. Florence Collins Porter will give a book review of "Grover Cleveland" and "The Man and the Statesman, Robert McElroy."

The Monday afternoon programs of the club contain interesting possibilities, and a wealth of information and charm. On February 4 William McFee, author and mariner, is to give his lecture on "My Mediterranean," while on February 11 Katherine Oliver McCoy has announced as her lecture title, "A Visit with Sir James Barrie and His Dream Children." To lovers of Barrie this will mean an afternoon with old friends.

A bit of music to balance the many lectures is the song recital which Dona Ghrey is to give on February 18, while the last Monday to the month Charles H. Thompson is to talk on "Egypt and the Nile Monuments."

Another of the very interesting sectional meetings of the month is the social science department program for February 6, when Mrs. Sumner P. Hunt will talk on "A Machine-made World," and Mrs. Chester C. Ashley will discuss "Community Welfare Federation of Los Angeles," with current events by Mrs. Sidney J. Parsons. This meeting will be followed by the usual guest luncheon.

Ebell's annual book shower is to take place from Monday, February 11, to Friday, February 15, and the club will appreciate any gifts of books or money.

For the junior auxiliary of the Club, February 13, is the high light of the month when they will have their meeting. Robert Moore is to speak on "The Romance of the Silver Black Fox," and there will be a tabloid opera, presented by Gale Mills Dimit, Electo Salt Berry, Charlotte Meeland and Grace Inman. On the first of the month the juniors will have an informal bridge tea.

Republican Women to Elect Officers

At the annual meeting of the Republican Study Club at 2:30 p.m. today at the Clark the election of officers will be conducted and the annual reports of officers and chairmen of committees will be heard. The report on State legislation will be given by Mrs. Cora D. Lewis; on Federal legislation by Mrs. W. W. Nash, and on education by Mrs. Helen M. Laughlin. Annual dues are now payable.

Wellesley Club to Congregate

At the home of Mrs. R. W. Reynolds, 327 South Hill avenue, Pasadena, the Wellesley Club of Southern California will give its first luncheon of the new year tomorrow noon. All alumnae and former students of the college are invited.

TO ADDRESS ROTARIANS

Dr. Theodore Kemp of New York City, member of the American Academy of Political Science and fellow of the Royal Society of London, will be the speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon today at the Biltmore. Dr. Kemp, who is associate secretary of the Commission for International Justice and Good Will of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, will speak on "International Rotary Friendships."

VEGETABLE CHOWDER

Place in a stew pot one and a half cups of peeled and sliced potatoes, half of a sliced peeled onion, and one and a half cups of water; cook until the potatoes are tender; season with salt and paprika and add one cup of cooked tomatoes and one cup of canned corn; bring to a boil and stir in one and a half cups of boiling milk and half a cup of hot cream. Lay two broken crackers in the bottom of each soup dish and pour over the hot chowder.

VANILLA COOKIES

Beat to a cream half a cup of butter and half a cup of sugar, when light and smooth beat in three eggs, one at a time, and beat well after the addition of each egg. Work to a smooth dough with one and a quarter cups of sifted flour and one teaspoon of vanilla extract. Drop by tablespoonfuls onto a polished baking sheet and bake in a quick oven.

COULD anyone fool you with a boiled potato, by pretending it was baked? You could tell with your eyes shut. Just as easily can you tell Heinz Baked Beans. With your eyes open, you can see the word "Baked" on the label. With your eyes shut, you can tell by the taste. No boiled beans taste like that.

YOU CAN GAIN

Yesterday I told you that if you are underweight, ninety-nine cases out of 100, you have not been eating enough for your activities. I know how someone you know eats less (?) than you do and gets fat on it, but in this matter of the amount we eat, each one of us is a law unto himself. We cannot compare ourselves to anyone else. We may have more physical work, or we may be older or younger, and there may be other factors that have to do with our nutrition.

You who are thin are undoubtedly eating too little. If you will count the caloric value of your intake, you will find it comes far short of your needs. And if you are going to gain, you must have more than you need in order to store up a balance in the form of fat.

You will have to learn to count your calories, the same as the F. F. F.s (our friendly fat fraternity.) It is a necessary part of your training. There are so many ordinary helpings of food that are 100 C. per portion that it is not at all difficult. I know you cannot memorize a lot of figures. Most everybody hates 'em. But you won't have to do that. And you won't have to know the caloric values accurately. You could not, even if you needed to, unless you were having your food accurately weighed and knew the exact ingredients of them.

But knowing approximately will do the work just as well as it does with the overweighter. We have a list of 100 C. portions of food at the office, and if you will send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me, through the paper, we will send it to you. I'll give you a short list to start on:

An ordinary slice of bread, one-half inch thick, five ounces of milk, a pat of butter, a very large egg, a large orange or apple or pear, two ounces of lean meat, three ounces of lean fish, all are 100 C. each. And the watery vegetables, lettuce tomatoes, cabbage, celery, etc., are over a pound to the 100 C.

When you eat a lot of these greens, you see, you are getting very little caloric value. While they are necessary for vitamins and salts and roughage, they are

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Bread as a Cleanser
After using the meat chopper, run a piece of bread through it to clean it out. It will be much easier to wash.

When Cutting Butter
Wrap a piece of oiled paper around the blade of the knife before cutting butter and you will be able to cut it evenly and smoothly

Macaroni
Macaroni should be broken and put into plenty of salted fast-boiling water. Keep boiling steadily until the macaroni is tender. This is the best and quickest manner of boiling this article.

Covered Buttons
If you are having a number of buttons covered for a suit or dress, have a few extra ones made and drop them in your mending basket. They may come in very handy later on.

The Cause of Many Headaches
Never work in a kitchen where the gas oven burners and several other burners are going full-tilt without having ventilation in the rooms. The air need not be directed on the stove, thus preventing good oven work, but air there should be. One lighted burner is said to consume as much air as four adults.

Tarnished Lace
If the tinsel lace or gold braid is badly tarnished, sprinkle with fuller's earth and then rub with a stiff nail brush.

A Good Winter Food
Oatmeal contains more fat than any other cereal and should therefore be included in the breakfast menu of the hard worker on these wintry mornings.

Just a Suspicion of Onion
A bottle of onion salt is a splendid article to have on hand when just a slight flavor of onion is desired. A few sturdy shakes and you have the required seasoning, both of onion and salt.

Safety First
Try the stain remover on an underneath section of the hem of the frock before taking a chance on the stain itself. Then you will know definitely whether the color will come out along with the spots.

Winter Cleaning
Wood alcohol is an efficient agent for window cleaning during cold weather. It will not freeze on the window as water does. Dampen a cloth with alcohol and apply it to the window. Shine with a dry cloth.

Just a Little Water
Should one or two sections in the muffin or gem pans be empty, half fill with water before putting the cakes in the oven. It will keep the cakes from getting too brown and make them more moist.

Caveman Plans Failed to Make Hit, Wife Avers

Verne H. Nichols, an automobile mechanic, evidently believed the old caveman adage of "treat 'em rough" was the proper thing in marital relationships, according to allegations in a suit for divorce brought against him yesterday by Edna M. Nichols.

The day after their wedding and while they were honeymooning at Catalina Island, Nichols was asserted to have become enraged at his wife and to have knocked her down, choked her and beat her head against a wall until she became dazed.

Mrs. Nichols said that on another occasion while she was ill with influenza her husband caught up a glass, crushed it in his hand and made the remark he wished it "was her neck."

He also compelled her to work and then would take whatever wages she earned, according to the complaint, which further asserted that whenever the mood struck him Nichols would either kick or force his wife to get out of bed and sleep on the floor.

While the couple were living in Sacramento, Mrs. Nichols said, her husband threw a plate of fish at her and then made her go out with him in her soiled clothes.

Nichols also requested his mate to don a silk shirt, silk stockings and fancy garters upon retiring for the night, according to the wife, who added that when she refused to do so he would beat her up.

VOGUE

SPRING'S coming. And spring clothes... Are you going to be mannish and tailored, in covert of simplest line? Or boyish and trim in navy blue with a touch of white? Or are you invincibly feminine, with a smart complex in favour of black, which is best of all? Even at that, what length is your coat—and of what material? So much depends on the fabric in these days, for trimming hardly exists.

Vogue answers all such questions, and many others about line and colour in Paris and New York—takes you to the great French fabric creators—gives you a dictionary of American fabrics—and pages of sketches showing the dictionary come to life, on the Avenue and at the smart resorts.

As for Vogue's own original designs—sixty of them—they were never as clever, as easy to use. The new white coat the summer calls for—the tailored suit of mannish lines—the three-piece suit—the tailored dress in many variations, with the new scarf, the Eton collar, the tunic, the pleatings—afternoon frocks of printed and plain fabrics—evening dresses of chiffon and tulle and lace—frocks and suits for the younger girl—dozens of designs for those simple little country dresses of which we want so many.....

.....Do you need this number of Vogue? Of course you do. And even if you didn't—you'd want it!

LONDON-PACIFIC LINE IS STARTED

Arrival of Ship Puts New Service in Swing

Fast Express and Freight to be Handled

Six Vessels Also to Carry Passengers

A new express passenger and freight service that brings the ports of the Pacific Coast five days closer to the markets of the United Kingdom and North Europe was put into full swing here yesterday with the arrival from England of the British liner London Importer, twenty-eight days from Swansea on her maiden voyage.

She is the first of six fast turbine steamers, sister ships, built especially by the Furness-Prince Line for requirements of European-Pacific trade.

FEATURES OF SHIPS

Passenger accommodations that would do credit to a Cunarder and refrigerator which holds sufficient to carry 7000 tons of Pacific Northwest apples or California citrus fruits are notable features of the London Importer's construction—likewise embodied in her five sister ships, the London Shopper, also en route here from London; the London Exchange, London Commerce, London Mariner and London Merchant.

The new ships are powered with engines of warcraft type, Curtiss high-pressure, single reduction geared turbines, designed to give them a loaded cruising speed in excess of fifteen knots. Time is an important factor in the passenger and refrigered-freight business and the Furness-Prince Line has built the new fleet to meet that requirement.

The London Importer, arriving yesterday with sixteen passengers and a large consignment of general cargo, is in command of Capt. J. M. Williamson, a veteran Furness-Prince skipper, who lays claim to being one of the largest sea captains afloat. Capt. Williamson is several inches over the six-foot mark and big accordingly in draft and beam.

REGULAR SCHEDULE

A schedule of fortnightly sailings, outbound and homeward-bound, will be maintained by the new service, it was announced yesterday by Swayne & Hoyt, appointed Pacific Coast agents. All important Pacific ports will be regular ports of call.

The express service will be maintained, it was announced, in addition to the regular European-Pacific freight service of the Furness-Prince and Furness-Withy interests.

DEPUTY SHERIFFS ACCUSED

Attorney Demands Investigation of Charges That Prisoner Was Beaten and Died of Hurts

Investigation of charges that Jesus Velasquez was so severely beaten by deputy sheriffs in the County Jail that he died in the General Hospital, was demanded yesterday in open court by Attorney H. L. Bradford, when the case of Velasquez, Rito Rico and Fred Avelo was called for hearing before Justice Blake.

Mr. Bradford said he had been informed by Velasquez's mother that her son had been beaten in an effort to make him confess. The three were charged with the burglary of the home of Bert Werdhert at Watts, and the theft of an automobile from J. W. Van Dam of 211 West Sixteenth street.

Justice Blake asked Undersheriff Biscailuz for a report on Velasquez's death and the latter got a certificate from Dr. S. Fagan, an interne at the General Hospital, that Velasquez had died from tonsilitis and septic poisoning. Dr. Fagan declared the man had no signs of a beating when he appeared at the hospital. Jailer Crouchorn told the Undersheriff Velasquez had been transferred to the hospital a week before he died, Mr. Biscailuz reported. He died Tuesday.

Mr. Bradford did not indicate whether a further investigation would be sought. Justice Blake held Avelo to answer the two charges and transferred Rico to the Juvenile Court.

RECOMMIT LAD IN CASE OF SLAYING

Age of Pasadena Boy is Bar to His Admission to Preston School

William Forrester, 14-year-old Pasadena school boy who confessed complicity in the homicide of Arthur Martinez, 5, in a deserted factory building last December, yesterday was recommitted to the State School at Whittier by Judge Archbald of the Juvenile Court.

Forrester and Paul Daedler, also 14, his alleged accomplice in the slaying, had both been sentenced to the Preston State School at Ione for the period of their minority, but were returned to the court on the ground they were not yet 15 years of age, the minimum limit at the Preston institution. Recommitment of Daedler was continued indefinitely as it was reported the boy is ill at Juvenile Hall.

According to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Joos, the lads will be held at Whittier until they reach the age of 15 years, at which time they will again be sent to Ione, there to remain until they attain their majority when they will be returned to the Juvenile Court for further disposition of the case.

Chamber Issues Call to Organize for New Charter

Invitations were mailed yesterday to various organizations and individuals to be represented at a meeting at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday, February 5, at 3 p.m., for the purpose of organizing a committee that will conduct a campaign for adoption of the new City Charter at the election on May 6.

The letter which was signed by Frank Wiggins, the chamber's secretary, says in part as follows:

"The Chamber of Commerce believes that the present Charter, with its more than 100 amendments, many of them conflicting, adopted thirty-five years ago when the city had only 45,000 population, is not adapted to the needs of our rapidly expanding city of 1,000,000 people.

"No new charter can ever be written, every provision of which will suit everybody. The proposed new charter as a whole appeals to us as a distinct improvement over the present charter."

Court Acts as Peacemaker in Father's Suit

Judge Elliott Craig yesterday continued the suit of Hiram Phelps, 92 years of age and feeble, against his gray-haired daughter, Eugenia Ada Couts, until February 12, and advised them to go home and seek to settle their differences out of court.

The aged father sued his daughter for the recovery of property at Lankershim, valued at $10,000, which he asserted he deeded to her with the understanding that she henceforth would take care of him. This agreement, he protested, she refused to carry out.

Judge Craig told them that it was pitiful that they could not compose their difficulties, and recommended that they become reconciled before they appear again in court for his decision.

VETERAN POLICEMAN TO HUNT GAME IN AFRICA

Capt. David L. Adams, veteran police officer and head of the University Division, will leave about March 1 with a group of Los Angeles men for a hunting trip in Africa. The party intends to follow the route taken by the late President Roosevelt through South, East and Central Africa. Capt. Adams forwarded his resignation to Chief Vollmer some time ago with the request that he be retired on a pension. Chief Vollmer approved the request, which he turned over to the Crime Commission. The latter body in turn recommended to the pension board that the officer be placed on a pension. Capt. Adams will be succeeded at the University Division by Capt. W. A. Murray.

ANNUAL ASSOCIATION NIGHT AT Y.W.C.A.

Harriet Bromley, regional secretary of the Y.W.C.A., will be the principal speaker at the annual association night at headquarters, 621 South Spring street, at 6 p.m. today. There will be 250 guests from Southern California cities. Entertainment will be provided by Norma Beauchamp, the Blue Triangle Club Quartet and Girl Reserve Motion Pictures will be screened. Mrs. Chester C. Ashley and Charlotte H. Davis will make annual reports.

TO ORGANIZE PARTYLESS McADOO MEN

Nonpartisan Club Will Open Headquarters Here; to Invade Northwest

Discarding the well-worn political adage concerning the improbability of any man being greater than his party, friends and supporters of William Gibbs McAdoo, willing-to-be standard bearer for the Democratic party in the coming election, have formed a McAdoo-for-President (Nonpartisan) Club, according to announcement made yesterday.

Attention of the organization will first be turned to the nomination and later—if Mr. McAdoo successfully hurdles the two-thirds barrier—to the November election.

A. H. Swallow, local attorney, is chairman of the organization. It is planned to operate locally and throughout the Northwest for a time and later—if all goes well—to tackle all regions. John W. Brooks, secretary, left yesterday for Montana and the Dakotas to stir up sentiment for Mr. McAdoo. Amendment of the Esch-Cummins Transportation Act and passage of a soldiers' bonus will be the two measures emphasized by the Nonpartisan supporters of the California Democrat.

Headquarters will be established here in the Angelus Hotel and T. L. Foley of Redondo, and John M. Evans of Pomona, have been appointed to the executive committee, of which Mr. Swallow is ex-officio chairman.

Woman Took His Auto, Declares Driver of Taxi

Avis, who drives for hire, said he picked the woman up as a passenger about 12:30 a.m., at Fifth and Hill streets. She said she wanted air. They circled around a while and then a man, who appeared to be a theater musician, joined the woman. He drove to Forty-first street and Broadway where the man alighted, and then back to Ninth and Flower streets, where one of Avis's lights burned out. He described the woman as five feet four inches tall, weight 125 pounds, with red hair, brown eyes and black lace dress.

DENVER GIRL IS FIRST TO WED AT BILTMORE

LEAVES AFTER SHORT CEREMONY FOR HONEYMOON WITH BERKELEY MAN

The first impromptu marriage ceremony to be conducted at the Biltmore took place early yesterday morning when Miss Harryette H. Post of Denver became the bride of N. A. DeTarr of Berkeley.

The affair was interesting, also, from the fact that it required only a few minutes more than an hour for its consummation, from the time the bridegroom arrived in Los Angeles from his home in Berkeley until the couple boarded the train for New York at 9 o'clock.

The bride and her mother, Mrs. H. H. Post, have been guests at the Biltmore for several days and the wedding, which was the culmination of a romance that began about four years ago, took place in their room in the presence of only a half-dozen of the nearest relatives of the contracting parties, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Carl S. Patton. So quietly was the affair carried out that none of the hotel attendants was aware of it until after the couple had started on their honeymoon.

Quaker Relief Secretary Urges Speed in Going to Aid of Starving Children

BY MYRA NYE

During the last five years the American people have been fed to the point of satiety on European propaganda, almost all of a political nature. Industrial and social conditions are exaggerated or minimized according to the hidden purpose of the propagandists.

Our good nature, our credulity and our desire to aid have been imposed on. So many things that we believed to be true have been proved false; so many fair hopes have withered in their first bloom, that we have come to regard with polite skepticism what we would even like to believe is true.

So, to me at least, came as a welcome relief this testimony from an unimpeachable source concerning the actual condition of the women and children in the industrial districts of Germany.

FACTS FROM RUTH FRY

I have learned through long experience to cross-examine an opinion, but to accept a fact.

I received my facts from Ruth Fry, honorary secretary of the English Quakers' Relief Committee, who visited Los Angeles at the request of American Quakers. The two societies are co-operating to raise funds for the care of famished children in Germany.

The Quakers are above and beyond the reproach of being political propagandists. They do not ask the nationality of the starving children. They do not try to fix the blame. They have fed the hungry and clothed the naked in France, in Russia, in Austria and in the Near East.

This winter they are centering their aid on the Rhine district, and to a lesser degree on the large cities in other parts of Germany.

"We withdrew from France in 1923," said Miss Fry, "because the necessity for outside aid no longer existed. During the famine we fed 300,000 children in Russia. But things are improving there and we are withdrawing.

CENTERING ON GERMANY

"This winter we are centering on Germany because more children are starving there than in the remainder of Europe. The condition of children of tender years in the Rhine district is too pitiful for words to describe.

"Is it not the fault of the Germans themselves that they are reduced to this condition?" I asked.

"To the Quakers mistakes of a government are no excuse for permitting women and children to starve," she responded.

"But do you know of your own knowledge that the children are actually starving?" I persisted. "Is not the money there to feed them if the Germans would only apply it to that purpose?"

"I know they are starving from my own hospital experience there," she replied in a tone that expressed surprise that I should be so skeptical. "I only left a month ago."

"It is plain to the Quakers that the money is not there to care for the starving. Without foreign aid and very quickly, an enormous loss of life is inevitable."

"Despite our poverty in England, due to widespread unemployment, a general appeal is being made, because conditions in Germany are so much worse.

"We are feeding the German children because of the intense need for feeding; because the children are so terribly undernourished. The actual figures show an increase from 20 per cent of undernourished in 1922 to 51 per cent in 1923. Tuberculosis increased 24 per cent in a year.

"In the hospitals I found that almost constantly the children weigh less at 6 to 8 months of age, than when they are born.

"In one famous hospital of 100 beds there has not been recently a single child of normal weight. The average is two pounds."

That statement about two pounds seemed to me overdrawn. I could not conceive that life could exist in a two-pound package; and I began to cross-examine.

But she insisted that the hospital records would bear out the statement. "I did not say they continue to live," she added. "Most of them die. Most of the newborn children are dying in the Ruhr district this winter.

Miss Ruth Fry

You have no conception of what general starvation means. When I see how much is expended here on unnecessary things that might go to keeping those little human beings alive; not because you are heartless, but because you do not understand, my heart almost breaks.

DYING BY THOUSANDS

"Only think; $3 will keep one of those children alive for a month; and they are dying by the thousands because we have not enough money to care for only a small part of them.

"So far as the German people themselves are concerned, the greater part of them are making desperate sacrifices to aid the starving. But there is not enough food in the country for them all. One cannot give what one does not have.

"We find the Americans the most liberal people in the world, once they understand. Will you not help to make the people of Los Angeles understand?"

There was a break in the voice at this last appeal. I realized that I had not understood; that I had pushed my skepticism too far.

This woman was giving the best years of her life to a cause that was to her sacred. She serves without pay; is an "honorary" secretary.

I recalled the lines, "As ye have done unto the least of these;" and I offered a lame, humble apology.

PAVLOWA TALKS DANCING

Famous Russian Visits City; Sees No Reason Why Americans Should Not Excel in Art

There is no reason why Americans should not become the best dancers in the world, in the opinion of Mme. Anna Pavlowa, famous Russian danseuse, who is now appearing at the Philharmonic Auditorium here.

Mme. Pavlowa, who arrived in the city yesterday and is a guest at the Biltmore, expressed surprise at the rapid development of the art of dancing in this country since she first visited it, twelve years ago.

MANY TEACHERS UNFIT

"Only a moderate amount of interest was displayed in dancing at that time, but now I find everybody interested, and schools for teaching the art abound on every hand," she said. "Unfortunately many of the teachers are lacking in training, and for this reason the results are frequently unsatisfactory."

She stated that dancing teachers had at times confessed to her that they had never had any training in classical dancing, and that their instruction was based largely on what they had read in books, and the poses of Mme. Pavlowa they observed in pictures.

"Dancing taught under such circumstances not only fails to develop dancers, but in many cases works positive harm," she said. "Young children taking dancing lessons from an incompetent instructor are apt to suffer injuries which, while not resulting in serious physical disability, may unfit them for mastering the art of dancing, even if they possess the talent."

NOT RACIAL GIFT

In response to a question as to whether Americans as a race are temperamentally less fitted to develop dancers than some other nations, Mme. Pavlowa replied that racial temperament has little to do with it.

"Training is the principal essential," she asserted. "In the Imperial School of Dancing in Petrograd, where I took up dancing, the pupils are started at the age of 10 and continue in training for seven years. During this period they are taught not only dancing, but they also learn every detail of stage technique. They come in contact with the greatest artists of the day, not only in dancing, but also in all other lines of stage performance. They live in an atmosphere of the stage during their entire training period. If they possess any talent, this mode of preparation cannot fail to develop artists.

"If Americans who aspire to be dancers would follow a course of training as rigorous as that of the Russians, under equally competent instructors, this country would produce artists able to achieve no less renown than the Europeans."

Mme. Pavlowa was greeted by representatives of Camp Fire Girls on her arrival Thursday morning. The famous dancer does a pirouette with golden orange in hand, symbol of the sun-kissed State.

Laswell Case Is Taken From Court Docket

A possibility that charges against Beecher Laswell, who is accused of contributing to the delinquency of his 15-year-old son by permitting the boy to thrash the headmaster of Harvard Military School, will never come to trial was seen yesterday when the case was set off calendar in Superior Judge Archbald's court.

Laswell was to have gone on trial yesterday, but when the case was called it was set off calendar. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Joos's reason was that he desired to make further investigations into the charges. Laswell was acquitted of a battery charge in police court last week and this is believed to be the actual reason for yesterday's action.

SOCIETY IS AGAIN GOING HORSEBACK

New York Country Club Man Says Bridle Paths and Polo Grounds Popular

The novelty of the whizzing motor car has worn off among the society people of New York and good old Dobbin is coming back as one of the principal aids to recreation in the open, according to Charles M. Woods, vice-president and manager of the Westchester Biltmore Country Club at Rye, about twelve miles from the metropolis and said to be one of the finest country clubs in the world.

Mr. Woods, who is a guest at the Biltmore, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday for a vacation. He said it was his first visit here and he expressed surprise at the balminess of the weather, saying that when he left New York that city was shivering in the grip of a zero temperature.

"The increasing popularity of the horse in New York is evidenced by the great number of riders at the club," said Mr. Woods. "We have some 600 acres of land surrounding the buildings, traversed by bridle paths in different directions, and no part of the grounds is more populous. We also have a fine polo field where the devotees of that game, dependent on horses, congregate in great numbers, and one of the most popular adjuncts of the club is the riding school, where everybody is learning to ride."

The Westchester Biltmore Country Club represents an investment of about $8,000,000, Mr. Woods said, and its membership includes some of the wealthiest men in New York.

"A part of the grounds has been laid out into building lots, where palatial homes have been erected, many members making the club their home the year around," he said. "The main club building is a five-story structure as substantially built and as completely equipped as any hotel in the country."

BIGAMY HEARING

War Veteran Said to Have Wed Again Without Divorce

Romance for Clyde Colin Campbell, war veteran, took on a dismal aspect yesterday when he was arraigned in Judge Crail's court and pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy. Campbell is alleged to have married Nadine Allene Purdom, art instructor of this city, following a friendship that had its inception on the campus of a veterans' training school, despite the asserted fact he was already the husband of Mrs. Maggie Laird Campbell of Miami, Ariz.

Mrs. Campbell, No. 1, growing suspicious of her mate's absence from the Arizona city, came to Los Angeles and learned of his marriage with Miss Purdom, she says. She went to the District Attorney's office and swore to a complaint charging Campbell with bigamy. In the meantime Mrs. Campbell, No. 2, consulted her attorney, S. W. Thompson, and instituted an action for annulment. Campbell made oral application for probation after entering his plea yesterday and Judge Crail continued the matter to February 7.

INVESTIGATES DEATH

Coroner to Conduct Inquest Today on Mystery Shooting

The inquest into the death of Mrs. Harry Haines, whose lifeless body was found in her burning home Tuesday night, will be conducted at 9:30 a.m., today in the Noble mortuary at San Fernando. Mrs. Haines was the wife of former Patrolman Harry Haines of San Fernando. She is believed to have ended her own life by sending a bullet through her breast after being thrown into hysteria by the discovery of the fire in the home.

Assistant Captain of Detectives Cline declared yesterday that the suicide theory remains unshaken, nothing having developed in the investigation during the past twenty-four hours to discredit it. He believes that the woman killed herself in a fit of madness. The fire, he said, originated from the defective fireplace in the house.

CHAIRS NOT CHILDREN

Loan Requested of Board of Education Granted

Secretary Sheldon of the Board of Education yesterday, as is his custom after the regular business had been disposed of, commenced the reading of communications.

"Will you kindly permit me?" he read from one sent in by a school principal, "to lend sixty school children to the wife of one of our former boys for a card party on Saturday next?"

"Sixty what?" asked several of the board.

Mr. Sheldon adjusted his spectacles, cleared his throat and began again.

"Oh, I see," he said. "It should have been chairs instead of children. My mistake."

It was several minutes before order was restored. The request, as amended, was granted.

NONSUIT IS GRANTED IN DAMAGE ACTION

Judge J. Perry Wood yesterday granted a motion of the defendant for a nonsuit in the case of Emma Maliski against Sam Oskey for $25,000 damages on the ground that Mrs. Maliski had no legal cause for action. Mrs. Maliski alleged in her complaint that Oskey had deceived her into living with him as his wife by representing to her that only a license was necessary to make the marriage contract legal. The testimony showed that Mrs. Maliski had not obtained final papers of divorce from a former husband at the time Oskey was declared to have asked her to marry him.

DOG CAUSE OF SUIT

Clarice L. Purkapile, 9 years of age, yesterday sought damages of $25,038 from E. L. Harper and Lena Harper, as the result of an attack from a dog, asserted to have been owned by the defendants. The little girl took the stand in Judge Moncur's court and described how the dog seized her foot and leg.

The New Spring Coats for Girls of School Age

COATS for girls of six to sixteen have precisely the charm and the newness of spring. And in the unbelted, loosely swinging top coat effects is the simplicity of youthfulness at its best.

The softness of the materials is a source of pleasant warmth and light comfort! Camel's hair mafalda cloth, biscuit cloth or downy wool.

Overplaids and stripes on tans and greys are unusually delightful; and the plain shades of beach tan, Arab, Rembrandt green and other new tans are exceedingly desirable.

And their prices begin at $17.50.

FOURTH FLOOR

Sports Suits

CARRYING across the idea of the strictly tailored suit for spring, is what these suits emphatically do. The suits themselves being irresistible, even without the supporting Idea.

But the fact that everyone is wearing suits, and wearing exactly this type, makes their low prices seem more than ever remarkable.

The prices beginning at $37.50

THIRD FLOOR

Spring Coats

And all of them succeed in maintaining tailored trimness of effect.

At the beginning price of $47.50.

THIRD FLOOR

Neckwear

THE Brittany embroidery in its clear, fine designs is done in white on the soft shades of amber-tone net that is just enough different to stamp it as new.

Prices begnining at $7.50.

FIRST FLOOR

New Frocks For All Occasions at $47.50

FROCKS, on Saturday, announce themselves as ready for whatever one's social schedule brings. For evenings, afternoons or mornings in town, or for the same hours anywhere.

And certainly at an intriguing price. For seldom does one find Wool Frocks, Satin Frocks, Chiffon Frocks—so distinctly and consistently low in their pricing.

From a group of velours Sports Frocks one turns to the light Dance Frocks, with the assurance that the choice of the next will be as delightful as the last.

There are all sizes from 14 to 44, excepting those of velours which are in misses' sizes.

And priced, one and all, at $47.50.

THIRD FLOOR

2000 Splendid Books at Clearance Prices On Saturday

AN extraordinary effect of the January Clearance is the low pricing these 2000 Books assume—Books that are among the choice in the world's literature at prices which can only be described as remarkable.

Whether Poetry is one's interest, or History or Biography, or Essays, or the Drama, the selection on Saturday presents all of these and more, for the satisfaction of every taste.

The few titles quoted illustrate the wide diversity of types:

THE WAVERLY NOVELS, by Scott, in 48 volumes.
ROBERT W. SERVICE, Ballads of Bohemia.
WITTER BYNNER'S Grenstone Poems.
The original edition of Hermann Hagedorn's Roosevelt in the Bad Lands
THE REPERTORY series of Individual plays.
THOMAS BURKE, The Song Book of Quong Lee from Limehouse.

Their new and greatly lowered Saturday pricings will begin at 50c—which will secure, among others, single volumes of Bohn's "Popular Library"—and single volumes of the "Little Masterpieces" series.

FIRST FLOOR

Blouses of Imported Pongee at $5.75

SPORTS BLOUSES that are very practical, being of a natural color and an uncrushable texture—that of pongee.

With several different types of collars, to suit different tastes! Peter Pan, V-neck and two-in-one styles. And link or button cuffs. The narrowly pleated ruffles sometimes do, sometimes do not appear on those of Peter Pan persuasion. $5.75.

An assortment of Sport Blouses of English Broadcloth in a number of tailored styles, are at $3.50.

Get Back Your Old-Time Vigor Here Is the Way--Says Science

Proved in Thousands of Cases

Mr. W. L. Lawler, a well known citizen of Northern Alabama, reports an experience which will interest everyone who is in an ailing, weak or generally run-down condition. Mr. Lawler writes:

"After using the wonderful tonic, Lyko, I have received more benefit from it than any other remedy I ever used. I say that this is one of the greatest tonics for vitality, digestion and the liver; a general rebuilder for run-down persons. It has made me an entirely new man at the age of 51. I feel like 25 today."

The power of Lyko to keep a man well is also well proved by the experience of Mr. H. Jenkins, of Quitman, who says: "My business keeps me closely confined to the office and at a desk all day long. As a result, my system became all clogged up. I was always tired, rested poorly at night and grew nervous and irritable. I began using Lyko and now I am in fine shape again, feel cheerful, and am able to do more in a given week without fatigue or nervous strain."

An Oklahoma man, Mr. Gullins, also tells about the help Lyko gave his wife after other remedies had failed. His letter says: "The wonderful relief Lyko has given my wife, who had suffered all kinds of misery, is due, which did respond. I saw Lyko advertised and got it and it is doing her lots of good."

Mrs. Beagle, of Mississippi, writes: "I have been taking Lyko and have found it the best medicine in the world for indigestion."

Lyko gives its beneficial effects through the action of its pure medicinal ingredients, which are selected and compounded to make it an unrivalled general tonic and reconstructive agent.

Lyko has a gentle but sure laxative effect. It also puts zest into the appetite and gives activity to the digestive functions so that food is readily absorbed, thus providing strength and vitality to the body and making it capable of resisting the attacks of disease. And when stomach and bowels are put in good condition many ailments quickly disappear.

When the liver is sluggish and the kidneys disordered, when the nerves are "all unstrung," when one feels exhausted and incapable of effort, and looks old and haggard, these are Nature's warnings that the body needs the help that Lyko will give.

The fact that thousands use it regularly and recommend it shows the good this great general tonic is doing. Lyko is sold by all reliable druggists. Ask for it today.

FEAR FOR GRAIN IN SAN JOAQUIN

Heavy Rains Are Needed to Save Crop

Espee Deal for Chowchilla Road is Verified

H. B. McClure Elected Head of Tulare Bar

TULARE, Jan. 24.—Scarcity of rain in Tulare, Kings and Kern counties is declared responsible for an unusual condition in the grain belt. In many localities the grain is said to have sprouted and the seed declared to be good and will grow, even though so late in the season, if a good rain should come.

In many sections where a good sowing was made grain men have given up hope. Some of the grain came up and grew well for a time, while considerable was moistened just enough to ruin the seed. In other places in all three counties the seed is declared to still be in good condition and it is therefore possible for a grain crop to be harvested if a good rain should come. Such a crop would not be heavy and heading would be late in the summer, when usually there is no rain to help it along, and only unusual conditions would save it, say the grain men.

The crop along the Tulare Lake bottom will be fairly good, according to report, and a few sections of irrigaed land give promise of a good crop, but the big stand usually seen in this section will be missing this year.

RAILROAD DEAL VERIFIED

VISALIA, Jan. 24.—Verification of the Washington announcement that the Visalia Electric Railroad had asked permission of the Interstate Commerce Commission to take over the Chowchilla Pacific Railroad has been made here. The Chowchilla Pacific Line runs for eleven miles northwest from Chowchilla to Dairyland, a farming center.

The Southern Pacific parent company would use this latter line, which is already built, as a new feeder like the Visalia Electric Line, but finds its advisable to include it in the financing program with the local line.

The Chowchilla Line is to be held as a unit of a possible new road to the coast.

BAR ASSOCIATION ELECTS

H. B. McClure of Visalia was elected president of the Tulare County Bar Association at the annual meeting.

Other officers are: E. I. Feemster, vice-president; W. R. Bailey, secretary, and J. A. Chase, treasurer. Trustees include Leroy McCormick, Visalia; A. J. Howe, Lindsay, and Fred J. Held, Tulare. The meeting was held at Hotel Johnson during the luncheon hour, it being the regular monthly session of the association.

ADVERTISING MEETING

Preliminary Banquet Held by Fresno Club Members

FRESNO, Jan. 24.—As a preliminary to the 1924 convention of the Pacific Coast Association of Advertising Clubs to be held in Fresno from May 27 to 29, directors of the association and members of the Fresno Advertising Club gathered this evening at a banquet in the Hotel Californian. Representatives of the Rotary, Lions, Exchange and Kiwanis luncheon clubs and members of the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants' Association were present.

The program included community singing, selections by a quartet of the Exchange Club and addresses by widely known advertising men of the Pacific Coast, including Don Francisco, president of the Coast association; H. A. Nater, assistant vice-president of the Bank of Italy; A. Carman Smith, president of the Los Angeles Advertising Club; C. M. C. Raymond, secretary of the club, and Harry Watson of San Francisco, chairman of the "On to Fresno" committee.

Local Officials Will Lobby for New River Bill

Special Counsel W. B. Mathews of the Board of Public Service Commissioners will head a delegation of officials who will leave Los Angeles for Washington next Sunday to lobby for immediate action by Congress on the Swing-Johnson Colorado River development bill. It was announced yesterday at the public service department offices.

Councilman Criswell has been in Washington several weeks, at public expense, lobbying for the bill, which has been put forward by opponents of the Colorado River compact plan for securing development of the Colorado River for the benefit of the entire Southwest.

Fearful that Congress will not act on the Swing-Johnson bill at the present session, Councilman Swing has wired that a large delegation be dispatched to Washington at once to assist the Congressman and Councilman Criswell in their lobbying work.

AGED MAN'S DEATH IS DUE TO HEART DISEASE

VISALIA, Jan. 24.—"Death from heart disease" was the verdict of the inquest at Traver over the body of Wilbur C. Parker, 72 years of age, who was found dead in his bed there yesterday. Parker had resided at Traver for two years. Relatives in San Francisco were notified. Funeral arrangements await word from them.

MERRITT IS FAVORED BY RAISIN MEN

Association Directors Are Expected to Re-elect Head at Meeting Today

FRESNO, Jan. 24.—Re-election of Ralph P. Merritt as president of the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers' Association is expected to take place tomorrow afternoon, when members of the newly elected board of directors will meet.

Plans for the election were finished by directors today, and a statement was issued by Merritt expressing appreciation for the services of the retiring board.

The personnel of the directors selected Tuesday night reflected the materialization of the intention of heads of the association to draft services of bankers and business men to the board. The following is the personnel of the new board:

Three-year term, Merritt, Vaughn D. Whitmore, farmer and banker of Ceres; George T. Boyd, vice-president of the First National Bank of Yuba City, and peach, prune and raisin grower.

Two-year term, Lesley Einstein of Reedley, grower and business man; J. M. Leslie, raisin grower of Del Rey; Frank R. Hight, manager of the First National Bank of Hanford, fruit grower and dairyman.

One-year term, Frank H. Wilson, Dinuba; Clayton Chandler, fruit grower and business man of Fresno; G. M. Kaprielian, Fresno grower.

Al C. Joy Again to be Head of Raisin Festival

FRESNO, Jan. 24.—Al C. Joy, president of the California Raisin Festival Association for the last two years, was re-elected for the third term today at a meeting of the association to make preliminary plans for this year's Raisin Day in Fresno, on April 24.

A morning pageant and an afternoon of automobile racing were agreed upon as the two big features of the program. The automobile classic will be relied upon as the only source of income. The Raisin Day queen will be selected from the county having the largest vineyard acreage, and which has not yet furnished a queen.

With Joy were celcted Gerald Thomas, first vice-president; J. N. Bohay of Delano, second vice-president; J. L. Allen, secretary, and J. I. Wagy of Maricopa and R. J. Senior of Sanger, new directors. Standing committees and chairmen will be selected at another meeting two weeks hence.

Irish Children Starving, Plea Sent Out Here

An appeal for funds to help thousands of children who are said to be near starvation in Ireland was made yesterday by the Los Angeles representatives of the Irish Women's Relief Mission. Kathleen Brady and Peter Golden are in charge of collecting funds here.

They stated: "Our latest reports from Dublin are to the effect that it will require $1,000,000 to keep the needy women and children of Ireland from starvation this winter. Because of misinformation that prevails regarding conditions there, we have not been able so far to obtain a tithe of this amount. We appeal to generous-hearted Americans for help."

Checks or money orders should be made payable to Owen W. Bohan, Assistant District Attorney of New York City, and sent to the Irish Women's Relief Mission, 8 East Forty-first street, New York. Safe delivery in Ireland is guaranteed by the Irving Trust Company.

Runaway Auto Kills Man at Door of Home

Roberts was sweeping leaves from the gutter when the car, which had been parked on top of a hill, loosened its brakes and started down without warning. Roberts's body was sent to the Los Angeles undertaking establishment.

Detective Lieutenants Ballestero and Larnahan arrested R. Wilde, who, they said, owned the car, on suspicion of manslaughter. Wilde lives at 1326 Allessandro street.

Man is Injured as Dog Resents Tag for Autoist

Wilbert Crites, 63 years of age, of 838 West Ninth street, was walking peacefully and inoffensively yesterday at Second street and Broadway.

Preley jumped back, colliding with Crites. Crites fell to the sidewalk and broke his left arm. He was treated at Receiving Hospital. Then Officer Preley went back and tagged the car, in a place where the dog could not reach him.

RADIO COURSE TO OPEN

A course in radio will be given by the University of California extension division here beginning Friday at 7 in the evening in Room 817 Junior Orpheum Building. Anyone may take this course, and those interested may visit the class at one meeting if they wish, and later sign for the course. Arthur Paul Hill, radio transmission engineer of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company in Los Angeles, conducts the class.

TRAGEDY OF OLD DAYS REVEALED

Bodies Uncovered by Crew Doing Road Work

Crude Wooden Cross Placed on New Graves

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, Jan. 24.—A long forgotten tragedy of the early romantic history of California in the days when swift and heavy punishment was meted out to cattle rustlers and bandits was revealed today when three human skeletons were uncovered by a Fresno county road construction crew on the W. B. Hazelton ranch near Centerville. Under three tall cottonwood trees that have withstood the blasts of many score winters, the three bodies were turned up in one shallow grave where they were buried probably seventy-five years ago after being "strung up" in the fashion of those romantic times of the "Wild West."

The skeletons showed no signs of bullet holes but the necks of all three were broken.

It is believed the tragedy antedated the "roaring fifties" when ranchers were bothered by cattle thieves and a cattlemen's association was formed to deal out summary justice. The three were probably members of one of the famous gangs of the days of the notorious bandit Joaquin Murietta.

Another grave was dug for the trio by the road gang, which was blasting for a highway and a crude wooden cross was erected above the mound, bearing the words, "Here lie the bodies of three unknowns. Time has kindly drawn a curtain over the tale of their career. Whoever they were, may they be resting in peace."

CARLTONS HELD FOR BURGLARY

Bail for Each Fixed at $10,000; Implication in Slaying Bars Release

Edward Carlton, whose good looks saved him from hanging, and his wife, Jeanne Carlton, were held to answer yesterday by Justice Blake on two counts of burglary. Bail was fixed at $10,000 each, but on account of the murder charges neither can be released on bail. Carlton has been sentenced to life imprisonment for killing Special Officer Robert Magee and his wife faces trial on the same charge.

The homes of A. W. Coldeway, 132 South Benton Way and of J. C. Belding, 915 Irola street, were the places mentioned in the complaint. Miss Opal Mullins, sisters of Mrs. Coldeway, identified Carlton ald his wife as a pair she had seen near the house the night of the burglary, which was the night before Magee was killed, and also identified a dress and fountain pen said to have been found in the possession of the Carltons. Mrs. Helen Mullins, her mother, also saw the Carltons near by, she swore. A. W. Childers told of seeing the pair enter the Belding home.

Detective Lieutenants Stelzriede and Burgess told of arresting Carlton and his wife and identified various articles they said they found in their room.

BIBLE DISCUSSIONS

Series of Lectures to be Given At Southern University

A series of Bible discussions will be conducted at the University of Southern California Saturday and Sunday by Bruce Curry of Dr. White's Bible School in New York.

Delegates from other colleges will be sent to attend these meetings and will be the guests of the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. while here. The object of these discussions is to teach students how to conduct Bible discussion groups themselves and how to study the Bible.

PAIR IN BANK THEFT MAY PLEAD GUILTY

With the expectation that William A. Bledsoe, former teller for the National Bank of Huntington Park, and James D. Ramsey, automobile mechanic, would plead guilty to a charge of grand larceny of $15,000 from the bank, the case was continued until February 1 yesterday by Judge Hahn. The two young men are accused of embezzlement and grand larceny. It is charged that Bledsoe, while acting as messenger for the bank, obtained $15,000 from the First National Bank of this city and, instead of taking it to the other institution, went with Ramsey to a bridge over Rio Hondo, near Telegraph Road and hid the money. They were arrested by deputy sheriffs the same day and are said to have admitted the charge.

MURDER CHARGE DENIED

Joe Quinlan, 23 years of age, a negro, charged with the murder of Allen F. Ainsworth, also a negro, entered a plea of not guilty when he was arraigned yesterday before Superior Court Judge Shenk. Quinlan is alleged to have shot Ainsworth December 23, 1923 during a quarrel between the latter and his wife, from whom Ainsworth was said to have been separated.

THRILLS WITH MAGICAL ART

Pavlowa Enchants Throngs at Opening

Reaches Height in Grace and Technique

Productions Are Beautiful in Ensemble

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Once again is the pleasure of the lovers of the arts and the devotees of the dance complete. For Anna Pavlowa, still the incomparable, has spread the wings of her presence before an enchanted public. She will hover in our midst for the better part of a week, and, as always, she promises to triumph by the magic of her inspired interpretations that have a lightness as of the air itself, a grace that, at its height, is like a white flame of ecstasy, and a transparency of beauty that is fully and resplendently of the spirit.

It is the first visit of Mme. Pavlowa in two seasons, and it seems when one sees her once again that the period of waiting has been long. Certainly, it has served to stimulate the desire for what she alone of all dancers can bring. As testimony of this there was a breathless reception for her at the matinee, and a brilliant assemblage came to bid her welcome in the evening at Philharmonic Auditorium.

On the wings of music was she borne before the throngs of gazers. On the wings of music did she finally float away, and for all those who saw her she is yet the unforgettable, and veritably the supreme, whom to know once is to recall always with a sovereign delight.

Much there is to be sure of new witchcraft in the Pavlowa productions and the Pavlowa settings and ensemble. She has, if anything, expanded and amplified the beauty and the variety of what she has to give, and has even ventured into some new and alien terrain. The essence, though, of her art—that which you can feel penetrating all through it—and finding its way literally into your own sensations, remains curiously and almost, you might say, inevitably the same.

Some of the dance numbers that were presented were full of folk lore inspiration; others were mystic in their atmosphere, partaking of a strangely haunting spell of the night; still others were naive and glamorous with an almost childlike impulse. In all of these creations, and through them, the spirit of Pavlowa that burns ever brightly seems to live and breathe, and brings to those who look on a captivating illusion that is superlatively imaginative, as well as real.

The evening program was the most noteworthy, in what it brought of novelty. The main presentation was the series of oriental impressions, that, I understand, are the result of Pavlowa's recent trip to the Far East. And though these impressions were a distinct departure from anything that she has done heretofore, they provide a decidedly diverting influence.

To be sure, I found the Dances of Japan a trifle dull after the first episode or so, but the numbers were done in excellent taste. The Hindu Wedding was richly alluring in the costumes that glinted with hues and colors so subtle as one glimpses on the wings of a dragon fly. "Krishna and Rhada" had a rich and luxurious fragrance, that reached its height in the feeling that Pavlowa herself displayed. In setting and costume this entire ballet was a revelation of scheme and effect, even though it did not become at any time obviously spectacular but adhered rather to the simplicity of a native tradition.

The Chopiniana is, however, Pavlowa's own mist-veiled spiritualized realm. The Chopiniana opened the program, and it is familiar. The dances are all set to music orchestrated by Glazounow from the works of Chopin. There are the polonaises, waltzes, many preludes and mazurkas. There is something that is absolutely rapturous in beauty about the figures glowing in white against the sea-blue background of the night.

Divertisements there were many at the end of the program, with the Gavotte Pavlowa exciting especial applause, as danced by Mme. Pavlowa and M. Vaginski, and the "Autumn Bacchanle," a revel that is full of abandon, in which the virility of Laurent Novikoff glowed in contrast to the feminine verve of Pavlowa.

Excellent indeed and to be enthusiastically praised is Pavlowa's premier dancer. He is remarkably proficient in technique, and has a thrilling power of feeling. The applause betokened how great was the impression that he made.

Others that were particularly in the foreground included Miles. Butsova and M. Pianowski, who were featured in many numbers, and who have reached a high perfection in the blending of their steps; Miles. Stuart, Coles and Friede, who took the lead moments; M. Zalewski, Algeranoff, Micolnichik, also prominent, beside Miles. Griffith, Spencer, Ward, Rogers, Bartless and Lake, and MM. Domoslavski, Winter and others. The number of names that are pronounceable indicates that there are perhaps quite a few more Americans and English among Pavlowa's dancers than heretofore.

THE MATINEE

Entirely charming was the presentation of "The Fairy Doll," that naive and sparkling ballet, the feature of the matinee. This brought shouts of delight from the children in the audience.

"The Fairy Doll" afforded the first glimpse of Pavlowa in the title role. She acts as sponsor for the sudden coming to life of the puppets in the toy shop. The costumes are the quaintest imaginable, and the sometimes mechanical antics the merriest comedy.

"A Polish Wedding," served to introduce Hilda Butsova and M. Pianowsky as principals, but here chiefly it was the glorious ensemble that captivated. This number was full of national vigor and native color. It is not new, but it is always interesting and stimulating.

Pavlowa's interpretation of the "California Poppy" is a magic golden creation that lives long in the mind. The Russian dance that she did with seven members of her company was a scintillant thing. In "The Fairy Doll" and California Poppy numbers she has used a wig tinged with sunset red that is rather surprisingly effective.

Theodore Stier assisted as conductor of the orchestra, playing an overture before each performance. The audience was inclined to grow restive over the delay in starting the afternoon performance. The reason for the wait of about half an hour was owing to a tie-up of the arriving scenery in the traffic.

Mrs. Carter Returning

Mrs. Artie Mason Carter, secretary of the Community Park and Art Association, which sponsors the concerts at the Hollywood Bowl, will return from her tour of the East tomorrow afternoon, and will make her first public appearance Tuesday evening at the concert of the Hollywood Community Chorus, when a special reception is being planned in her honor.

ESTELLE TAYLOR TO RIDE WITH CIRCUS

Estelle Taylor is to realize an ambition of her childhood and ride at the head of the grand parade when A. G. Barnes's circus opens in Los Angeles in March, as a result of a visit last week to the winter quarters of the four-ringed show. Mr. Barnes, the only present-day circus owner who travels with the big top and takes part in the show, invited her to ride on opening day with him as a compliment to her fearless friendliness with his animals friends.

"As for me, I'm just as scared to pass the corner of Seventh and Broadway, and in a lot more danger, as I am to play around with my pets," he said. "But you are the first woman, outside of the business that I ever saw who felt that way about it."

BRILLIANT OPENING FOR "ETERNAL CITY"

Plans are going forward to make the premiere of "The Eternal City" one which will stand pre-eminent amid the ranks of the various first nights for which this city is famous. An elaborate prologue is being arranged which will afford a stage presentation fitting for the magnificence of the picture. A special musical program will surround the photoplay with a musical score accompanying it, which will bring out the highlights of the feature.

HOLD "BLACK OXEN"

For the second time since West Coast Theaters, Inc., have taken over the direction of Loew's State Theater a feature picture is being held for a second week. This is "Black Oxen," the production of Gertrude Atherton's novel of that name, with Corinne Griffith and Conway Tearle in the leading roles. The move will necessitate the postponement of the Richard Barthelmess picture, "Twenty-one," until a later date.

NIBLO GOING EAST

TO DIRECT NORMA TALMADGE IN SPRING

By Grace Kingsley

Fred Niblo is preparing to go to to New York. He will leave shortly bearing with him a print of "Thy Name is Woman," which he has just completed for Louis B. Mayer, to be released through Metro. The director is waiting for the last touches to be made to his picture in the printing and cutting rooms. Enid Bennett, Niblo's wife, was to have accompanied him, but she is working in "The Sea Hawk," and cannot leave.

The director expects to be gone only about two weeks, just long enough to see the premiere of "Thy Name Is Woman," which is going to be shown first to New York audiences.

It is on the books that Niblo is to direct Norma Talmadge in a picture. The story is to be a modern one, but that is all that is settled, except that it may not be an American story, but may have a foreign locale. However, it is not to be made abroad, so far as now known.

"This direction of Miss Talmadge, however," explained Mr. Niblo "will not interefere with my arrangements with Mr. Mayer. So often Joseph Schenck and I have talked over the matter of my directing Miss Talmadge that we have finally settled that I am definitely to undertake this pleasant task as soon as I have finished one more feature."

Mr. Niblo has had experience making pictures away from all conveniences. He took the first moving-picture camera into the wilds of Africa in 1907 to take pictures to illustrate a lecture course, which he was to deliver, and went where no white man had ever been before.

The picture on which Niblo will at once start work as soon as he returns from New York will be tentatively titled "Judgment," from an original story by C. Gardner Sullivan. It has as its theme the regeneration of a couple of young married people, estranged and traveling the wrong road.

Is Aristocrat of Stage

When Channing Pollock's play, "The Fool," opens at the Mason Monday night, there will appear in an important role one of the most aristocratic and well-known players in the American theater. She is Margaret Pitt, a direct descendant of William Pitt, former Prime Minister of England.

Miss Pitt came to this country from Brixton, England, alone at the age of 5 years to join her parents. Her father, H. M. Pitt, was then starring in "The Rajah," and her mother was supporting William Gillette in "The Private Secretary." Her two brothers, Addison and Charlie, both well-known directors now, then boys in their early teens, were already here. Miss Pitt spent her school days in Boston, graduating from high school at 14. That summer she joined her mother, who was playing a summer season at the National Theater, Washington, D. C. She begged to be allowed to play maid parts, and as she was tall for her age, she was given a chance at $5 per week. An accident in the company gave her an opportunity to go on in three-hours' notice for quite a prominent part. She received a salary of $10 per week.

Miss Pitt kept on, steadily rising in her profession. At 15 she was playing a maid of honor in "The Prisoner of Zenda," and was receiving $30 per week. Then she played opposite E. H. Sothern in the same play—just one performance, because the leading lady was sick, but she made so good that her rise after that was fast.

Face Will Be Changed

Lucille Carlyle has had an operation on her nose, having reduced that member from what she considered an annoying size to more classic proportions. Miss Carlyle, formerly Larry Semon's leading lady, is expecting to return to pictures.

Portrayer of Lincoln Will Go on Stage

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—By arrangement with the Rockett Brothers, producers of "The Dramatic Life of Abraham Lincoln," which has just shown on the screen here, John L. Golden announces the engagement of George Billings for the legitimate stage.

Three days ago Mr. Billings was virtually unknown to New York, but his appearance as Abraham Lincoln in the picture at the Gaiety Theater drew forth such praise from the critics that Mr. Golden went over to the theater to have a look for himself. He was so impressed by Billings's work that he got busy immediately and made arrangements with the Rockets, for the film actor's appearance in the spoken drama, in a romantic role that Austin Strong, author of "Seventh Heaven" will write for him.

Mr. Billings's present role of Abraham Lincoln represents the first acting he has ever done. Before his debut in pictures he was a miner and cowboy in Texas.

He states his reason for applying for the part was simply because of the resemblance people said he had to the great President. Once into the role, however, he demonstrated amazing natural ability.

RACHMANINOW NUMBER FEATURE OF PROGRAM

Lovers of the works of Sergei Rachmaninow will revel in the program which Walter Henry Rothwell has chosen for rendition by the Philharmonic Orchestra at the eighth symphony concert this afternoon and again tomorrow night. The piece de resistance is the Rachmaninow Symphony No. 2 in E Minor, Opus 27. This symphony, which is being given its first hearing by the Philharmonic Orchestra at these concerts, was composed in 1906 and is typical of its composer.

REAL ESTATE WILL MAKE YOU FINANCIALLY INDEPENDENT.
Last year was a banner year for many people who dealt in well located Hollywood property—and 1924 gives promise of being even greater than 1923.
Each property listed below shows a splendid return on the money invested and has most excellent possibilities as to future enhancement.
This 4-family flat with four rooms in each apartment is a real buy for the price, and a 4-room bungalow and 3 garages on rear of lot, the property is also excellent value at $31,000.
There are six rooms up and six down in this fine duplex located in the foot of the hills in West Hollywood. Corner lot 80x135. Wonderful view. This is without competition in Hollywood. Must be sold this week as owner is departing.
Another duplex in the same neighborhood is smaller but at $14,000 is a splendid investment. Modern to the last detail. Delay may mean your losing this real bargain.
We can furnish a wide range of Hollywood income properties, one or two which will surely meet your most exacting approval. Save time and money by consulting the

FAMOUS KENILWORTH RANCHO
GREAT SACRIFICE

The soil is adapted for most anything or any purpose—grapes, cotton, alfalfa, grapefruit, figs, deciduous fruit of all kinds; will raise a bale of cotton (500 lbs.) to one bale and a half to acre, depending upon the ranching.

Fine roads on three sides of ranch which is half mile from State Highway. Climate ideal—Cool summers, warm sunshine in winter.

Irrigation water costs 25 cents per hour with two to three head of water. Gravity water classed as A-1 water right under the new diversion dam distribution of 1914-15. New windmill and Mayer pump connections and a five thousand gallon pump tank on a tower twenty feet high for domestic and stock water.

Domestic well is 70 ft. deep with an 8-in. casing; a galvanized iron pump house 16 ft. by 60 ft. enclosing one of the best domestic pumps installed. Said plant costs over $30,000 with 80 H.P. Chicago Pneumatic oil burning engine belted to a Johnson Turbine Pump weighing six tons delivering 1800 to 2000 gallons per minute.

Heavy galvanized iron storage tank for fuel oil connected with small gasoline engine to fill storage tank from truck to tank. Well is 24-inch casing No. 10 pipe perforated down to 145 feet. Galvanized iron barn 40 ft. x 80 ft. with large doors at both ends.

Five adobe house plastered inside and outside—five rooms and large screened porch 10 ft. x 50 ft. cement floor, sink in kitchen, six foot porcelain bath tub, patent toilet and lavatory all connected with septic tank sewer. Modern plumbing throughout with hot and cold water to all fixtures. House very complete in every respect.

The owner's rancher, with whom he was associated in management of ranch, died. Ranch cost owner with complete equipment $80,000, will sell for $50,000, one-third cash, remainder on ranch. Terms $10,000 cash, remainder one, two, three and four years at 7 per cent. Make liberal deferred payments. Discount for all cash. Mug be sold.

This ranch will be planted to 320 acres short staple cotton, balance alfalfa, three years old.

United States Government Engineers advise that with every four irrigations this 320 acres receives $36 per acre fertilized content from the four irrigations—hence it is impossible to wear out the soil.

Plant part of this 320 acres to Chase Seedless Grapefruit and part to fancy Malaga table grapes. Grapefruit matures to ideal perfection in this valley with a remarkable sugar content. Malaga table grapes "extra fancy" ripen from three to four weeks ahead of any grapes grown in California, producing from five to six tons per acre with eighty percent greater sugar content than the famous Molland Malaga grapes that sell in the Eastern markets for $1500 to $2000 per ton. Pack the entire crop under your own name and ship to your own markets—a fortune in this suggestion to the buyer of the ranch.

Ranch is free and clear of all incumbrances. Ranch is now leased for one year, lease expiring January 1, 1925. Cash rental. Call owner's exclusive Agents: Mr. Hammond,
MERRICK & BUDDICK, Inc.,

CITY BOOSTER WORK REVEALED

stances in which united newspaper support is of priceless value on matters which among honest and intelligent men there could not possibly be a difference of opinion; and the great advantage to the community of Los Angeles and the great benfit derived from this association lies in the fact that the association has possessed that advantage.

"Now so much for the association. It is incumbent on me, before a meeting of this character, to speak with the utmost brevity, and I will refer only to the two or three things the association has attempted and partly accomplished.

"You have seen the Coliseum at Exposition Park. I suppose it is the most splendid structure of its kind ever erected. It has been but recently completed, and there has been as yet scant opportunity for the people to realize these facts. They will make themselves evident in the coming year.

"The Coliseum was built with funds provided by the Community Development Association, borrowed by that association upon its own notes given to banks of this city which constitute the members of the Los Angeles Clearinghouse Association. The Coliseum was built under a contract between the Community Development Association, the Sixth District Agricultural Association and the county and city of Los Angeles, a contract which has been submitted in all respects as to its validity, to the highest courts of California; and under that contract the city and county will pay to the Community Development Association in annual installments, sums which at the end of ten years will have reimbursed the association, at which time it will have become the property of the city and county of Los Angeles. Its management is under the Community Development Association with practically equal privileges as to its use by the city and county of Los Angeles. Any funds derived from its use are required to be devoted only to those specific purposes of public benefit enumerated in the contract, and all funds at to be accounted for in written annual reports to those two bodies.

"So much for that. It is completed and it stands.

"There arose about a year ago in this community a very singular situation which was but little understood in its real significance. There was placed upon the ballot a proposition that there should be voted about $15,000,000 in bonds to construct a sewer, and there at once arose a controversy as to what kind of a sewer should be constructed. Two newspapers of the city supported one kind and three supported another kind, and the gravity and significance of that situation made itself apparent at once.

"To thinking people it became evident that the question before the city of Los Angeles was not what kind of a sewer we should have, but whether we should have a sewer or not. That is to say whether there should be a public controversy on the subject or not. If there were a public controversy naturally the bonds would not have carried. No bonds ever carry in the face of a controversy as evenly divided as that. The failure of the bonds would have resulted in the utter and complete failure of a sewer for this city. We were told by health authorities that the failure of the bonds and the failure to proceed immediately with the sewer would result in a situation whereby people in great areas over important portions of this city would wade knee-deep in sewage, that there would at once exist an epidemic of disease that would be a lasting injury and disgrace to this city which it might not overcome in years. The Community Development Association called upon the five publishers of the newspapers and said: 'We appoint you a committee of five to work out a solution of this matter and come to some agreement if you can.' They accepted the obligation called before them every man who had anything to say on the subject, and with the aid of that testimony and the testimony of engineers, they reached a compromise solution acceptable to all engineers and the health department, the five great journals supported it, the bonds carried, and the city of Los Angeles was saved from a disaster that would have been the most appalling thing imaginable.

BOULEVARD SYSTEM

"Perhaps the most important matter before this community is the traffic and thoroughfare situation. The answer lies in this, that there should be built in this county one thoroughfare adequate to its needs. The Community Development Association launched itself upon that after very thorough and exhaustive investigation and deliberation, fastened upon Henry O'Melveny, who has undertaken as almost the crowning achievement of a long, useful business career, one great task, the building of a thoroughfare from the city to the sea at Santa Monica, that when completed will be the finest thing of its character in the world.

"We had in mind, when building a boulevard from here to Santa Monica, a system of thoroughfares, and we thought the only way they would ever be built would be to have the people see one standing and in existence, and today that thing is complete, or so near completion that it can be seen and brings nearer to fruition the project for the building of thoroughfares throughout the county of Los Angeles that will be adequate to its future development.

CRIME COMMISSION

"One thing more. There came to the Community Development Association something like a year ago the editors of these five papers, any they said: 'There exists in this city a situation known to us by virtue of the nature of our calling, probably not known to any of you. There is no city
